tement now than at last election, excepting that the sentiment against removal has grown from a position of ascendancy to almost unandmity. But it will be an issue in the Council of 1899. The unearthing of a few new statements about corrupt-looking incidents in the almost-perpetrated deal with the late lamented Union Stock Yards Company will therefore be of use to electors in cross-examining such old representatives as want to go back. The World has been told, and has the necessary authority for repeating, that a certain party, whose name is withheld, approached Mr. John Beers, proprietor of the Bull's Head Hotel, and Mr. John J. Doyle, proprietor of the Jersey Hotel, offering that if they would folinly raise $1000, he would guarantee to buy off the aldermen who were supporting the selling of the cattle market franchise at the time.

"The Mysterious Mr. Preston."
Secreted in the Mayor's sweat-box throughout the livelong day, and throughout the campaign from its inception, is a genleman whose duty it is to receive His Worship's private messages or campaign news by telephone. His name is Preston, The inference is that the "mysterious Mr. Preston" is a private employe of the Mayor's. At any rate The World, upon making enquiries as to his identity was to if to go fits way, it was none of its business, so it can't be that the city pays his wages, anyway.

Ald. Bowman is seriously indisposed. He is suffering from inflammation of the house privileges and be only deriving $125 profit from the same, a motion by Ald. Lamb to have Commissioner Contsworth operate it was accepted. William Levack will probably not get it therefore this year.

More Wants for Lennox.

From then for the next two hours or so the committee talked on Ald. Lamb's idea of moving into the new City Hall plece by piece. The general opinion was that it would be awkward to have half the departments located in one place with the other half in the other, not to mention the litigation which might ensue should contractors claim to be hampered in their work. Ald. Lamb finally had motions adopted requiring the architect to prepare plans and specifications for vault fittings for the various departments; also for counters for the City Clerk's, Treasurer's and Waterworks' Departments, the latter not to exceed $5 per foot in price; and lastly, that the architect furnish a statement as to the number of the employes paid by the city and working on the building.

The architect was also requested by motion of Ald. J. J. Graham to report as to the work still unfinished on the various contracts and especially on the Neelon contract.

Lampaign Notes.

'J. B. Banks, aldermanic candidate for Ward Five, draws a pension from Unole Bam. He also has the floor.

It looks like four S's in Ward Three-Sheppard, Saunders, Score and Steiner, E. A. and R. J.

E. A. Macdonald says he will not, if elected, try to molest Assessment Commissioner Fleming in any way, so long as he continues to do as he has done.

How the Alderman Are Divided.

In the mayoralty campaign the aldermanic Bymoathy counts a deal for the candidates. The aldermen generally put in a word for their favorite for Mayor when putting in two for themselves. An amauthorized but pretty well justified survey gives the Mayor the support of about two-thirds, and Ald. McMurrich one-third of Council.

Those supporting Mayor Shaw are pretty near as follows: Ald. Frame, Richardson, Frankland, Lamb, Davies, Bryce, Saunders, Score, Hubbard, Hanlan, Crane, Woods, Dunn, and R. H. Graham—14.

Behind Ald. McMurrich are probably: Ald. Lessie, Hailam, Sheppard, McMurrich(7), Burns, Denison, Bowman, Lynd and J. J. Graham—0.

Mr. Macdonald, not being in Council. of sourse could not expect much sympathy. It is therefore improbable that he will get any help from this quarter.

Cattle Market Privileges Let. Cattle Market Privileges Let.

The Property Committee met yesterday to let the Cattle Market privileges for the year, to make campaign material out of eleventh hour complaints about the City Hall and to say nice farewell things about Chairman Dunn. It was their last meeting for the year. Out of the fees and feed privileges the city realizes this year as the result of the tendering $75.400, or $400 more than last year. It is passing strange that Lessee W. W. Hodgson should be just a little higher than the highest bidder year by year. It seems to be the recognized thing now that he will get it. His success seems to be assured, even before the envelopes are cut. The sub-committee fixed the unset orices before the main meeting, making $15.800 that for the fee-collecting privilege: $0000 for that of selling feed and $200 for that connected with the slaughter-house. The tenders were as follows:

Fees. Feed. Slaughter-h'se.

Co., Second Vice-Assurance Com-Electric Light Slaughter-h'se. $225 205 T BUSINESS. INVESTED and 150 CERTIFICATES AGENT.

No.. 6 was accepted for the fees and feed. It was Lessee Hodrson's. Upon objection by City Commissioner Coatsworth, to the effect that the city would lose three yards, and no tie-ups by letting the slaughterand Corresing Director.

The Central Business College. Yongeand Gerrard-streets, closed its fall session last week, after having far surpassed all previous terms in the registration of new members. It can justly claim to be the leader, not only in point of attendance but in the character of its work. With splendid equipment, a staff of eight regular teachers and its convenient location, it will doubtless continue to enjoy the confidence and patronage of our citizens, as well as an increased attendance from many outside localities. The college card appears in
