touched with deep solemnity. Those held in Convocation Hall yesterday were more than usually impressive. The absence of 146 students who had heard the call of empire was the most impressive of all. Fifty-one have fallen. The names of the rest were included in the lists of the successful. An asterisk was added, "On active stryles."

President Falconer's parting words were imbued with the same added solemnity. As he urged the graduates to uphold the honor of their university, and still to strive after the ideals that had been held before them in that university, he added significantly that the recruiting record of Toronto-University must not be allowed to lower. "The battle of life" had taken on a keener, sharper significance.

sharper significance.
War was again the theme of the splendid painting, "C'est l'Empereur," by H. de T. Glazebrook, presented to the university by the artist's brother, Arthur Glazebrook. The picture magnificently portrays the fine action of the Emperor Napoleon, who shouldered the musket of the sleep-overpowered sentry.

King Edward School's patriotic concert at the technical school last night was a huge success. Over one hundred dollars was realized for soldiers' comforts.

dred dollars was realized for soldiers' comforts.

The program was put on by the schoclchikiren, aided by Bert Harvey and girls from the Somers' School of Physical Training. Greek movements by the girls from the Sumers' School were extremely pretty, and they received much applause.

A Highland dance was also well done and very much appreciated. An old-time minstrel show by the senior boys, under the direction and training of Fred Currie, was extremely good.

The girls' double trio rendered several songs in a very finished manner. The school has one of the best double trios in the city, and the recalls were quite deserved. Miss Rubena Knight, the music instructress, was presented with a token of appreciation for her splendid work along this line. Miss Vera McLean sang "Mother Machree" in such a splendid manner that she was the recipient of many well-deserved encores.

Major Moraht, sole Germany military writer, claims that the Germans are winning out because they retain Hill 304 despite French counter-attacks, but the major bases his claim on a fiction, for the French still hold the crest of the hill and all but its northern slope, which has been made untenable for either side by artillery fire.

The German promise to the United States to visit, search and remove passengers and crews of ships to places of safety before destroying them is proving utterly worthless, for the French coasting steamer Myra was sunk by a torpedo in the Mediterranean Sea on May 16, and none of the passengers or crew were saved, says a French report from Marseilles.

El Arish, a town on the Mediterranean, just inside of the Egyptian border, and occupied and fortified by the Turks, was shelled by a combined British sea and air operation. The fort southwest of the town was bombarded and, it is believed, demolished by warships. Seaplanes dropped bombs on a column of 1000 hostile troops and on all of the Turkish camps. Lieut.-Gen. Sir Bryan Mahone has assumed command of the western frontier of Egypt, and Lieut.-Gen. Milne is now commanding the British troops at Saloniki. This change in command may foreshadow active operations by the British forces in Egypt.

Only insignificant encounters have occurred along the whole front, mys yesterday's Russian official report on the operations in Armenia. It probable that the spring break-up in the mountains has suspended heavy movements of troops and extended manoeuvres for a week or two.

A fourth German steamer has been sunk in the Baltic, after the cre was removed, by British submarines. It is probable that the statistic shown will practically cut our intercourse between Germany and Sweden.

The money is not the problem. It is the guestion of feeding these people. The food has been taken out of the country, and will not be put back. This is the reason for the request that the blockade be lifted, which will mean a prolongation of the war, as the American said. Eleven millions is being spent monthly in a'd of the Delgians.

"It is a mistake to multiply the channels thru which charity is bestowed. The Red Cross everywhere is doing good work, but it is much better that all should come under the Canadian Army Medical, Corps, because there will remain good work for the Red Cross.

"The Medical Corps are solving the great problems of freeing the soldiers from the vermin and disease, the disposal of the sewage and the waste. So effective has been the work of the corps that the health of the men in the trenches is marvelous. The army corps has reduced the sickness about one-half what it would be had the soldiers remained in the cities.
