"Warning."
 "Young husband—" "It does seem to me you might learn how to cook better than that; my mother—" "Young wife—" "There, that will do; I re rain from learning how to cook on principle."
 "Oh, you do; thinking of me, of course?" "No, of my son."
 "son?" "Yes; I don't intend he shall ever make any nice girl miserable bragging about my cooking."

"I HAVE never given you credit for knowing very much, madam," said a blunt old bachelor; "but——" "Sir," she interrupted, "do you wish to insult——" "But," he continued, "I have always admired your grace and beauty." "I accept your apology," said the lady.
