

CHICAGO WOMEN GET FIRST CHANCE AT MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS

On Tuesday a great outpouring of women voters of Chicago City, took place. This was the first chance given the feminine voters of the city to register for the primaries elections, to take place February 24th, and fully 250,000 women, who are qualified voters, took advantage of the long-sought-for opportunity of being heard at the election. Other municipalities where women have not yet received the right to vote, are watching this city with interest. The photograph shows the interior of one of the booths of instruction, where voters are taught how to register and vote.—Photo, Underwood and Underwood.

DECLARATION OF WAR BY MACNAB

(Continued From Page 1). street car and light monopoly for the Tramways Co. Sir Hugh's Words Recorded. It is believed here that some very surprising conversations containing still more surprising admissions have been recorded on the dictograph, with Sir Hugh Graham as one of the parties to these conversations, and that Beck and Macnab are the other parties to these. It is said that Sir Hugh Graham, after he had taken part in these conversations, was actually introduced to the men in an adjoining room who had taken the conversations down and who admitted they were in the employ of the Burns Detective Agency. This somewhat staggered the knight for a time. A prominent English-speaking member of the Liberal party said here today that the one big card Graham had was that he had had dealings with nearly everybody in two political parties, with everybody of any municipal connection in Montreal, including aldermen, mayor, councillors and promoters, who all had had dealings with him, and that like Samson he could pull down every pillar in the temples at Ottawa, at Quebec and at Montreal. It is also said by some of Sir Hugh's friends that the seclusion of the hotels at Cairo and the study of the hieroglyphics of the pyramids are incessantly beckoning him to come their way as soon as he may secure passage.

It was a strenuous week. QUEBEC, Feb. 7.—(Can. Press).—The probers into the Montreal Mall graft allegations rested today after a strenuous week. While the worst is known and the legislators of both the upper and lower house are relieved that the allegations have not covered more ground a little more digging remains to be done. Next week, when the upper council committee meets, it will call before a L. P. Berard and Achille Bergevin, the two legislative councillors who have figured in The Mall charges, to whom they will decide to give evidence or to refuse on the ground that they might incriminate themselves, cannot be decided.

Welland Case is Again Postponed

BRIDGEBURG, Feb. 7.—The case of E. Coult-hurs, deputy returning officer, charged with making a false return in connection with the vote under the Scott Act in Welland County, was further adjourned today. Lawyers for the defence took exception to Magistrate House trying the case, because it was said to have expressed an opinion in favor of the act before the vote. The case will come up again next Saturday.

T. H. & B. RAILROAD BUYING REAL ESTATE

Believed to Be Part of Plan for General Enlargement of Station. (Special to The Sunday World) HAMILTON, Feb. 7.—Undeterred by the city's application to compel it to abandon its present route, the T. H. & B. Railway Company is calmly going ahead and buying more property adjacent to its station. It has just completed the purchase of the lively stable property at the northeast corner of Hughson and Hunter streets, owned by John G. Fauld, K.C., and S. D. Biggar, K.C. They purchased the property six years ago and their profits are said to be considerable. Manager Eber, while admitting the purchase of the property, says that it has been the policy of the company to acquire real estate holdings adjacent to the Hunter street line, when needs dictate or opportunities offer. He will not say to what purpose the property will be put, but it is believed to be part of a plan of general station enlargement if track depression or elevation comes in later years. The company is evidently not worried about having to join with the C.N.R. and G.T.R. in a common entrance in the north end of the city.

CALEDONIAN SOCIETY MEETING. The Caledonian Society will hold its monthly meeting in the C.O.F. Hall, 22 College street, on Thursday evening, Feb. 12. Mr. Justice Riddell will deliver an address on "Scotland."

HAMILTON WANTS HOSPITAL TO BE PRIVATE CONCERN

Agitation is Again to the Front to Remove Mountain Hospital From Civic Control. Special to The Sunday World. HAMILTON, Feb. 7.—The agitation to have the proposed new mountain hospital removed from the control of the city and placed under the control of a number of private business men has been revived, following the opposition of some of the city council members to the purchasing of the mountain top site. Some time ago, when the investigation was going on as to the manner in which the City Hospital was being run, several of the medical men of the city proposed that the City Hospital be controlled by a private concern. This idea did not altogether meet with the approval of the city fathers, although some did take kindly to it. After considerable dickering the matter was allowed to drop, but has once again arisen in connection with the proposed new mountain hospital. Dr. Glasco, representing the medical men, urges that the matter be left in abeyance until the medical men have had an opportunity of placing their proposition before the board of control. The city council on Tuesday evening will have to take definite action on the third reading of the money bill authorizing an issue of $200,000 worth of debentures to start operation on the building of the mountain hospital, and if serious negotiations between the medical men and the city authorities are contemplated, no time should be lost.

KNOCKED FROM WAGON.

Edward Loring of 98 Sherbourne st. was thrown to the pavement when a wagon of William Thorn, a Kingston road farmer, collided with his rig at King and West Market streets on Saturday afternoon. He sustained injuries to his head which rendered him unconscious, and was removed to his home in the police ambulance.

FIRST BUILDING SINCE YONGE AND CARLTON BOOM

Owners of Grenville Street Corner Say They Are Going to Erect Monster "Movie" and Stores

"We are tired of waiting for developments in the Carlton block," said Fred A. N. Powell, who, with Fred I. Burgess, own the northwest corner of Yonge and Grenville streets, "so are going to start work soon on the construction of six stores and the largest moving picture theatre in Toronto."

Since the time when the Carlton block was being bought, there has been no great change in the buildings on Yonge street between College and Bloor streets, and the putting up of the structure may start activity in this district. Many investors who bought in the vicinity of the block with the expectation of turning over their holdings quickly, still have the investments on their hands.

Substantial foundations to carry several more floors will be used in the store building, which will at present be three stories high. The stores will take up the front of the building, leaving 20 feet for an arcade in the rear. Already a lease has been given to a bank for the corner store.

Speaking about the theatre proposition, Fred A. N. Powell said: "We have not yet decided how much money we will put into the enterprise, as our plans are not yet complete. The idea we are working on is similar to the one carried out in Loew's Theatre. That is, having an arcade from Yonge street, and using the balance of the frontage for store purposes. The theatre will be on the theatre a block of 65 feet by 130 feet in the rear of the stores. We expect that the ground floor alone will have a seating capacity of 1200, and the gallery to seat 400 more. The house will be given up to moving pictures only, and no vaudeville will be shown. Tenants in the property, which is largely occupied by a very dilapidated second-hand furniture shack, have received notice to remove."

BIG FIRE RAGING IN BANFF, ALBERTA

Frozen Water Hydrants Allow Blaze to Spread to Other Buildings. BANFF, Alta., Feb. 7.—(Special).—Fire broke out shortly after nine this morning in the King Edward Hotel and spread to the adjoining structures, threatening the whole business section of Banff. For over an hour the water hydrants were frozen, when the water was finally secured, the hotel was practically demolished. Other places of business destroyed included the theatre, O.K. Electric Company's premises, J. D. Anderson's tailoring establishment. At eleven o'clock the big store of the firm of Norman Luxton, is estimated that the damage done up to this time will amount to $60,000. The fire is still burning.

PLENTY OF WORK WITHIN A MONTH

Building Trade Unions Looking for Unusual Amount of Activity

MORE JOBS THAN MEN

Outlook, Say Officials, is Extremely Bright—Many Large Structures

Unprecedented activity in all the building trades was prophesied by representatives of the various trades when questioned by The Sunday World as to the prospects for the coming season. Within a month the season will be fully opened up, and from then on no one connected with the building trades should have difficulty in securing work. In fact, the principal difficulty will be in securing men for the many big jobs which are being undertaken. The union men expect a year of extreme activity in the building line.

With the new Royal Bank, the C. P. R. extension, the Union Depot, which will be commenced as soon as the spring opens up, the St. Paul's Athletic Club, the new postoffice, the technical school, as well as many others for which the contracts will soon be let, there promises to be enough large jobs to insure a season which from a building standpoint bids fair to eclipse all precedents. All the buildings mentioned will give employment to structural and bridge steel workers, and prospects in their line appear to be very bright. One member of the trade said that the union scale was not being paid on the postoffice job to structural iron workers, and intimated that there might be some developments in the matter.

Bricklayers and carpenters can be assured that they will not have to look long before they find a demand for their services, and, indeed, everyone connected with the building trades can be guaranteed that a very busy season lies before them. It has been estimated that there will be 8000 houses built in Toronto and its suburbs during 1914, and these, with the larger buildings, will necessitate the output of every ounce of energy in order to complete them by fall.

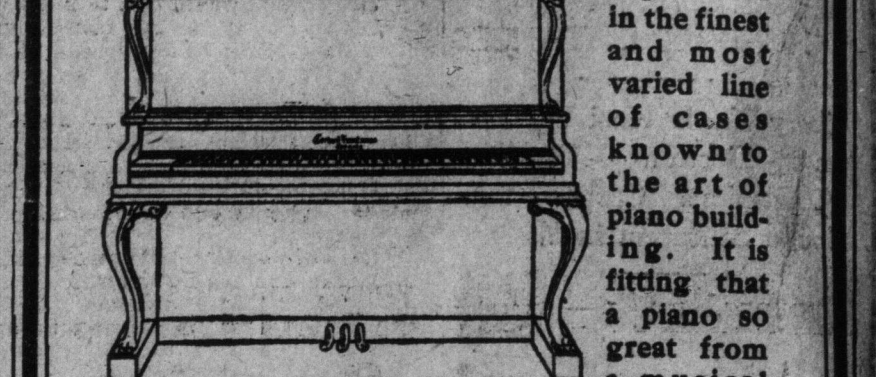

LOCKED IN COLD STORAGE ROOM

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 7.—Thomas Arnold and Arthur Webster, two young men employed in a big cold storage plant, narrowly escaped being frozen to death yesterday, their bodies being locked in one of the freezing rooms. Arnold and Webster were engaged in restocking the room when in some manner the door closed on them, and as it cannot be opened from the inside and was too thick to be heard thru, they were helpless. The accident was not noticed, there being no other employees about the time. The pair being missed two hours later, a search ended in their being located. They were in a badly chilled condition, as the temperature of the room was well below zero and they were working in their shirt sleeves when trapped. Both required the care of physicians, but are recovering.

Gerhard Heintzman Pianos

Although its value as a musical instrument must always be the first consideration, there is another feature of importance in the selection of a piano. The modern home calls for an instrument which shall harmonize in appearance with its surroundings.

Gerhard Heintzman Canada's Greatest Piano

is produced in the finest and most varied line of cases known to the art of piano building. It is fitting that a piano so great from a musical standpoint should be made available for every environment.

A beautifully illustrated book showing many of the styles and explaining the wonderful construction of the GERHARD HEINTZMAN piano will be mailed anywhere upon request.

CONSPIRACY TO PREVENT A VOTE

(Continued From Page 1). item for interest on bonds, etc., $195,806.72, would have to be eliminated, as the city would have nothing to do with that expense. The annual cost of sinking fund and interest on the purchase price, $22,000,000, would have to be put in. This would make the expenses as follows: Operating $3,123,398.55 Percentage to city $93,990.93 Pave-ments, taxes 156,100.50 Sinking fund 1,452,000.00 Total expense $5,671,389.98

Money for Extensions. To arrive at the actual surplus available for extensions, the surplus equipment it is only necessary to deduct the expenses from the gross receipts, as follows: Gross receipts $6,049,018.92 Expenses 5,671,389.98 Net surplus $377,628.94 Therefore, the purchase of the street railway means that the revenues will pay for operation, continue the percentage to the city, carry the debt charges, and leave a surplus of $377,628.94. This also provides for extensions and new equipment, for that surplus of $377,628.94 would be the sinking fund and interest on $5,721,500, and that $5,721,500 would be ample for extensions and new equipment until the natural increase in earnings would yield larger revenues. It cannot be wondered at that the conspirators should be defeated every time they make a decisive stand in their fight to break off the negotiations for a clean-up of the franchise. The Riding Habit. The conspirators have contended that to extend the tracks to the city's limits would increase the operating expenses as to materially reduce the surplus profits. Again they are wrong. Under the present system of operation there is a line run thru a certain district that will provide profitable traffic. This line is double-tracked and is looped at both ends. The cars on this line run as an endless chain and are continually picking up and dropping off passengers. Thus the coffee pots are always receiving fares, so strong is the riding habit in Toronto. Of all the several lines that are in the system each is thus laid out to be operated at a profit. In this way the percentage of operating expense is kept at a low

There is now a delay in putting thru the negotiations, and it has brought out the fact that the fact lies with last year's city council. Mayor Hocken pressed the council to instruct the corporation counsel to draw up the agreement of purchase, so that no time would be wasted. That element in the council that was manipulated by the conspirators made a determined fight against granting Mayor Hocken's urgent request, and when the memorable battle ended the council was committed to instructing the corporation counsel to draw up an agreement of purchase which would give the radicals perpetual running rights into the city. Garry Was Obstinate. Mayor Hocken then took radical action. He instructed the corporation counsel to draw up an agreement of purchase which would not give the radicals perpetual running rights into the city. The corporation counsel ignored the instructions, and drew up an agreement of purchase which would give the radicals perpetual running rights into the city. The corporation counsel refused to make any change in the agreement. Amend Instructions. Mayor Hocken will now ask the council to amend the instructions of last year's council. The agreement of purchase will not give the radicals perpetual running rights into the city. The council will likely amend the instructions, and thus foil the conspirators again. If the conspirators could get an agreement of purchase that would give the radicals perpetual running rights into the city, they would be certain that the agreement would never go thru and that the negotiations would be broken off. It is recalled by some of the officials in the city that it was the same kind of bungling in the instructions of the council that fastened upon the city the agreement that gave the Toronto Railway Company a monopoly that has shackled Toronto from that time. The bungling of last year's council, caused by the conspiracy, will have to be corrected by this year's council.
