Land and labour are the legitimate sources of public wealth. The first to be productive, must be cultivated; and the labour of doing this is abridged by the culture of the mind, which is to guide its operations. But labour not only procures wealth, and the comforts and elegancies of life, but it induces, when aided by an intelligent mind, sober moral habits, and begets independence of mind as well as of fortune. Idleness, not industry, is the parent of vice and of riot. This seeks to bring merit down to its own level. Industry looks for fortune in the profits of its labour; and for the enjoyment of it in the peace and quiet of society,
