From New Zealand to Alberta. Edmonton, Alta., Aug. 6—W. A. Sowman, of Blenheim, New Zealand, is a recent arrival in Edmonton from the other side of the world. He will spend the coming fall and winter in Alberta, and will take up live stock farming on a large scale as soon as he has had a good look around.

Mr. Sowman is an experienced sheep raiser and poultry fancier, and for several years has been one of the most successful prize winners in both classes at the New Zealand fairs. It is his intention to import some standard breeding stock from the other side of the world into Alberta some of the sheep raising methods that have made New Zealand a land of wool and mutton.

In considering these figures, the Province of Ontario is free of succession duty and when the Dominion of Canada is lifted, bonds free from succession duty will be particularly attractive.

These figures discount the efforts made by the opposition at the last session of the legislature to convey the impression that the present government's administration of the financial affairs of the province had injured its credit. No government now can borrow money as cheaply as before the war, but it is satisfactory to note that N. B. securities in the London market are held in higher esteem than those of any other province except Manitoba, and are practically on a par with Grand Trunk securities, guaranteed by the Dominion government.

LARGEST CO-OPERATIVE ORGANIZATION IN WORLD
Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 7.—(By Associated Press).—What is said to be the largest co-operative organization of farmers in the United States has just been formed here. It will market the grain of the 40,000 members of the Nebraska Farmers' Union and eliminate middlemen and brokers.

The organization, known as the National Co-operative Company, with a capital authorized at $2,000,000, according to C. H. Gustafson, of Lincoln, president of the state union and organizer and president of the company, has 1,200 local, 300 grain elevators, fifty general stores, three creameries and two flour mills, besides nearly a hundred shipping associations.

The union also has a live-stock commission office in the yards of Omaha, Jour City, St. Joseph and Denver, and a big wholesale exchange in Omaha that carries everything from farm implements to groceries to supply its retail stores.

The corporation, Mr. Gustafson said, expects soon to build or lease a big terminal elevator in Lincoln or Omaha and negotiations are in progress for seats on the Lincoln and the Omaha grain exchange.

A regular commission business will be conducted for local companies participating. Mr. Gustafson said, and net profits will be pro-rated on the basis of business done, after the company pays eight per cent. dividends on its stock.

The corporation also plans to find a market for all farm products, to locate and build elevators and to give technical assistance in bookkeeping and accounting methods to participating members.

SUGAR IN NEW YORK STILL DECLINING

Tuesday's New York Evening Post says:—

"One grocer on Vesey street was offering sugar today to his regular customers at $1 for a five-pound bag. This price marks a further reduction from the low price of twenty-one cents a pound reported yesterday. However, the reduction in prices of refined sugar remains a local phenomenon. The price set by the different American refiners remains at between 20 1/2 and 22 cents, so that the local grocers still charge from 22 to 26 cents.

"Those housewives who can get sugar for preserving at 20 or 21 cents a pound are still the fortunate few, but it is considered probable that the reductions will continue.

"The renewed importation of sugar from Europe may even be a possibility. It is a well known fact that prices for food in a large part of Europe are, even in exchange, distinctly lower than those in this country, and any importation from that source would mean a reduction in prices here. France, for instance, was an exporter of sugar before 1914, and the country has been reported. One grocer suggested this morning that some of the sugar from Czechoslovakia, but his rival, who was responsible for the reduction, who asked where his sugar came from, would only answer like Ponsi: 'That is what I do not tell.'"

(Moncton Transcript)
That the province of New Brunswick, at the present time commands a higher price for its securities in the London market than any other province except Manitoba, is shown by a compilation made by the Financial Post of Toronto for a reader, who desired a list of bonds that could be purchased in London with Canadian funds lying in a bank in that city. In the list the prices are not given, but the yields show that the prices of Manitoba securities are the highest, and New Brunswick a close second. The list follows:—

RECOVERS HER BEAUTY

But Parisienne Must Now Neither Laugh Nor Cry.

Paris, Aug. 6.—Within the last few days a Parisian woman, forty-nine years old, has recovered the beauty she had lost when she was twenty-five. All signs of age have disappeared, no wrinkles mar her face, her complexion is as fresh as in the heyday of her youth, and the contour of her features as round as twenty years ago.

The only disadvantage is that she must suppress her sense of humor and emotions and refrain as far as possible from smiles, frowns and crying.

The wizard who worked the miracle was a surgeon with a knife.

"I'm just crazy with joy about it all," the rejuvenated woman exclaimed to an interviewer. "But I don't smile. That would ruin the wrinkles all over again. I would never have needed an operation if I hadn't gone around laughing and crying over nothing all my life."

The operation was simple enough, it appears, and hurt only a very little. It amounts to this, that small incisions are made behind the ears and on the scalp, and the skin is stretched much in the same way as one stretches a carpet.

"It didn't hurt at all," the patient said, "and I told the doctor while he was doing it to pull harder."

The only sign of the operation are any sutures in the skin behind the ears, and hidden by the hair. The cure is expected to last eight or ten years, provided always that sufficient care is taken not to smile and cry too much. After that the patient may expect to be as young as she was when she was twenty-five.

WATERWAYS WILL REDUCE LIVING COST, SAYS WINNIPEG MAYOR
Winnipeg, Aug. 7.—Cost of food, fuel, building material and other necessities in the prairie provinces could be greatly reduced, if the waterways of the west were developed, according to Mayor Charles F. Gray. "By developing the Hudson's Bay route through Lake Winnipeg and the Nelson River to the open waters of the bay, also by developing the Saskatchewan river, an undeveloped waterway would be opened up to western Canada."

"The time has come," the mayor declared, "for the formation of a western waterways commission essentially for the development of waterways in western Canada," he concluded.

KANGAROO COLONY IN B. C.
Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 6.—Another little advertised but highly successful Vancouver industry is located in Stanley Park in the shape of the kangaroo colony there. So successful have the park authorities been in raising these animals that they are now being used for an exchange medium to augment the park zoo. Some time ago kangaroos were sent to Spokane, and that city reciprocated by sending a female ostrich, which is now sitting on the nest.

Word has been received that Mr. and Mrs. Kangaroo and their small son, sent to Toronto from here, arrived safely at the Riverside zoo. It is understood that Toronto intends to return the compliment by sending two rare pelicans for the Stanley Park collection.

HINDU BURIALS
Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 6.—Following recent action of the city council in notifying the local Hindu colony that no further open air cremations of bodies would be allowed in the plot hitherto reserved for that purpose in the Mountain View Cemetery, a petition has been presented to the civic health committee by the Khalsa Diwan Society against such action.

The aldermen were not urged not to interfere with Hindu funeral rites, for their religion requires open air cremations. They objected to using the cemetery as the aldermen suggested.

True in the 18th Century Truer in the 20th

"Next to clothes being fine, they should be well made and worn easily." Chesterfield.

So wrote the great arbiter of manly fashion two centuries ago.

Chesterfield is still an authority on what a gentleman should wear and how he should wear it.

So your trust of a concern entrusted with the task of making your clothes must lay with one that buys good materials, builds them with scrupulous care along lines conforming with YOU, and then interests itself in their appearance until the far off day when they are cast aside.
