Are You Human?

A little baby. A little child. Don't they appeal to you? Doesn't your heart yearn to pick them up, to cuddle them close to you, to shield them from all harm? sure it does else you're not human. Being human you love them. Their very helplessness makes you reach out in all your strength to aid them. In health there's no flower so beautiful. In illness there's no night so black.

Save them then. Use every precaution. Take no chance.

When sickness comes, as sickness will, remember it's just a baby, just a child and if the physician isn't at hand don't try some remedy that you may have around the house for your own use.

Fletcher's Castoria was made especially for babies' ills and you can use it with perfect safety as any doctor will tell you. Keep it in the house.

CASTORIA

A Word About Truth.

"Great is Truth, and mighty above all things." So says the Old Testament, yet it is equally true to-day. Truth shows no favors, fears no enemies.

From the inception of Fletcher's Castoria, Truth has been the watchword, and to the conscientious adherence to this motto in the preparation of Fletcher's Castoria as well as in its advertising is due the secret of its popular demand.

All imitations, all substitutes, all just-as-good preparations lack the element of Truth, lack the righteousness of being, lack all semblance even in the words of those who would deceive.

And you! Mothers, mothers with the fate of the World in your hands, can you be deceived? Certainly not.

Fletcher's Castoria is prepared for Infants and Children. It is distinctly a remedy for the little-ones. The BABY'S need for a medicine to take the place of Castor Oil, Paregoric and Soothing Syrup was the sole thought that led to its discovery. Never try to correct BABY'S troubles with a medicine that you would use for yourself.

WORLD FACING A

COTTON SHORTAGE.

Manchester, Eng. June 16.—Professor J. A. Todd, secretary of the Empire Cotton Growing Committee of the Board of Trade, said yesterday to the Textile Institute, a warning of the prospective world scarcity of cotton in the near future and emphasized the need for developing new sources of supply as well as experimenting with cotton substitutes.

After dealing exhaustively with the labor problem in the United States and cotton growing areas, had weather and ravages by boll-weevil as well as the acreage position, the Professor said: "It is obvious that we were not going to get 15,000,000 bales of cotton this year." At home it seemed to him the consumers had not yet felt the full weight of the high cost of the raw material. Even in America he did not see much sign of the consumer's intention of doing without cotton fabrics.

The statistics for America's domestic consumption for the first three months of this year were on a basis uncomfortably near to 7,000,000 bales a year. British consumption before the war was nearly 4,000,000 bales and the total American crop last year was only 11,000,000. What was going to happen when the rest of the world—and particularly the continental countries—woke up and began to demand more cotton?

By next year, he said, the continental mills probably would be more active than now and the demand increased and the Oriental demand would also be much higher. So long as the workers and producers of the world were making more money than they ever were before, he did not see how the demand for cotton goods was ever going to be substantially reduced. The world was not producing sufficient cotton to meet this demand and was not likely to do so unless some way was devised of making use of even the lowest grades.

It was only a question of time, he asserted, when the world would face a scarcity of cotton, and it was high time, therefore, that something was done to develop new sources of supply, for even when they were found they would not be able to afford substantial relief for five or ten years. He was not sure that the time had not come for them to look around for an efficient cotton substitute. The world was full of textile fibres which had never been exploited.

FRUIT AND FLOWERS

EQUALLY POPULAR. Flowers and fruit will be the honors, so far as the trimming of summer millinery is concerned, but, just for the moment, fruit-trimmed hats and toques are even more popular than those which are wreathed with flowers. A fascinating black satin toque has a crown entirely hidden under a mass of most realistic black cup-randa. At the back is a bow of black velvet ribbon.

For sports and for town street wear, ribbon hats are numerous. They are made of narrow ribbons and wide ribbons cut and shaped into place. A new model is made of ruffled rows of navy blue faille ribbon. It has a rounded crown and a rolling brim, and

Ludlow Street Baptist Church

Annual Meeting Was Held Last Evening — Reports Show Most Successful Year in History—Financial Condition Most Encouraging.

The annual meeting of the Ludlow Street Baptist Church, over which the pastor, Rev. W. R. Robinson, presided last evening, marked the termination of one of the most successful years in the history of that institution.

The meeting was largely attended, and the reports of the various officers showing the finances of the church, and the condition of the various departments to be in a flourishing condition, was most encouraging.

It was reported that $6,712.84 had been raised by the church during the year for various purposes, $1,500 of the amount being devoted toward the Forward Movement. The Treasurer of the Church, E. W. Christopher, reported that of the amount raised, the church contributed $2,871.49; the Choir Committee, $1,850.80; the Sunday School, $1,742.27, including $375.50 from the Sunshine Circle, a class of twelve ladies, in the Sunday School; the Young Peoples' Society, $198; the Missionary Aid, $107; the Junior B. Y. P. U., $38.13; the Relief Society, $58.48. Of the total amount raised by the church, $580.55 was for missions; $218 for the Provincial Memorial Home and nearly $400 for benevolences.

The Clerk of the Church, Roy C. McKenney, reported the membership for the year to be 329, baptised 15, received by letter 7, total 425, died 7, dismissed to other churches by letter 6, a gain of 13 members for the year. J. Anderson, chairman of the board of trustees congratulated the officers on their encouraging reports and moved that a vote of thanks be extended to the different committees of the church for the splendid work of the different departments during the year. The motion passed unanimously.

The election of officers for the ensuing year was then held with the following results: Pastor, John P. King, James Gray, Everett King. Four more deacons to be elected at a later meeting. Other officers were: Clerk, Roy C. McKenney; Treasurer, E. W. Christopher; Trustees, R. J. Anderson, George T. Ring, George Belves, James Gray, R. R. S. Natural History Society Happenings

School Children Bring Flowers and Plants They Found While Roaming the Woods and Become Students of Nature.

At this season, when the fragrance of apple and lilac fill the air, and old mother Earth is gallantly decked with the swaying bloom of myriad wild flowers, saucily displaying their brilliant colors in woodland and meadow, the work at the Natural History Society is greatly increased. For it is considered the refuge of the doubting Nature student, and in Mr. McIntosh, the curator, the society, the school children recognize a lover and student of nature, one wise in wood lore, and possessing the secrets of flowers and birds. It is to him that the youth of the city bring all their discoveries.

Whilst a representative of this paper was in the society's building the other day, a little chap came in, he had found a young fledgling and had been tending it for ten days, but it still had its eyes closed. He was very anxious to know if it would live, what was its species.

The little fellow was told what food would best suit the feathered creature, when its eyes would open, and all the other things he wished to know.

Hardly had the young foster parent been sent on his way, rejoicing when the room was filled with a bevy of young girls. Each had a plant, some of them several, which they had discovered in their excursions afield, and which they wished properly classified. The scientific and common name, and the family to which each was belonged, was cheerfully supplied. Exit the wise virgins.

Then came a little Assyrian, with large and sparkling eyes filled with that omnivorous thirst for knowledge which these children of the Southland possess to a marked degree. From a little bag emerged a dozen or so stones, and once more the curator's seemingly unlimited store of knowledge came to the rescue. The youngster's collection was found to be a varied assortment, consisting of granite, quartz, hornblende, limestone and several other minerals and the process of its formation, ranging back into those shadowy ages when airplanes were elephants, with wings, and young cave dweller souples started light house keeping with a cumbersome stone jar and a cheery outlook on life were described to the young student, and another departed content.

That the instruction of the young is worthy of praise, all will admit, and to judge by appearances, oft times the great usefulness of the child is ample recompense.

While the definite shape can be ascribed to it, nevertheless it falls in to the mould of the wearer's head with grace and adaptability. These are a mass of most realistic black cup-randa. At the back is a bow of black velvet ribbon. For sports and for town street wear, ribbon hats are numerous. They are made of narrow ribbons and wide ribbons cut and shaped into place. Two Youths Are Sent To Dorchester Yesterday Afternoon Willie Taylor and George Wilkins Were Sentenced for Stealing — Two Other Theft Heard—Other Cases Dealt With.

After having been convicted of breaking and entering the Davis Confectionery Store, St. Patrick street, and stealing a quantity of goods, Willie Taylor and George Wilkins were sentenced by the police magistrate yesterday afternoon to do time in the Maritime Penitentiary.

Although both boys are only sixteen they have previous police court records. Taylor was given two years and four months, and Wilkins three years.

Peter Ferris was before the court on the charge of not properly covering an excavation on City Road. The case was allowed to stand over for further evidence.

Hearing was begun in the morning in the case of Murray J. Chase, and James F. Rogers, charged with breaking and entering the store of Charles Magnusson and Son, and stealing goods to the value of $250 on the night of the 13th of June.

Rogers pleaded guilty but Chase denied it. Rogers said they went to the store of the store, that Chase took out a pane of glass and reached through and unfasted the window. He said Chase went in while he stayed outside for about five minutes and then went away. He said he has known Chase for about three weeks.

Charles Magnusson testified as to goods taken. The case was postponed.

Joseph London was charged with being drunk and was given in charge by Mrs. John Bryant for accosting her in the street. Mrs. Bryant said the accused accosted her in the street and she met Policeman Thomas and told him to arrest him, which was done. Later she laid the charge against him. The case was postponed.

A case against Norman Curley charged with breaking and entering the store of R. L. Adams, West Side, and stealing jewelry valued at $250, was resumed but postponed until today.

Five men charged with drunkenness pleaded guilty and were remanded to jail. A charge of using abusive language preferred by Mrs. Jennie Hawhurst against Mrs. Anita Stowell, was dismissed. Mrs. Stowell was advised the women to settle their quarrel out of court.

Charles Taylor was charged with driving on the wrong side of Charlotte street and speeding. He was fined $10 for driving on the wrong side of the street and the fine of $10 for speeding was allowed to stand.
