

- 3 -

C188686

and hold our price ceilings ~~without rationing~~

It should further be noted that United States is not normally a substantial exporter of meat and its livestock industry does not depend to any appreciable extent on direct export markets. In Canada on the other hand the maintenance of our export markets both in quantity and quality is vital to the continued prosperity of our whole livestock industry.

burst

K.