The morning I left there was an unusual rumor that the Bn. would stay where it was for 10 or 15 days. So I wanted to have a good time while we were in rest & there was nothing said to us about leaving camp. So I went to Antwerp. There I spent 7 days and decided to report back to the unit. When I got back the Bn. had moved off and as we knew where it had gone to: I decided to get back as best I could. I returned to Antwerp to try & find location of Bn. I asked various MPs & none of them knew. They told me to hit the road & get back. Didn't know what to do. I journeyed around Antwerp till I met a friend from the regt. He knew where it was, just past Miesse so I headed for there. I got there, found where 6 Bde was and reported in to our A Echelon.
