James J. Hill, Mr. Farrell and others strongly expressed the opinion that, even with upwards of 100 foreign built ships ready to come under the American flag, the present rates of insurance were so high that insurance was adopted, the Council endorsing the principle, and not urging any particular method. The general sentiment was that with the shipping registry bill enacted and the insurance equestion plac-ed upon a reasonable basis, the equilibrium of the exchange would soon be restored as an incident of
