THE COURIER.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 12, 1851.

The Seat of Governi In the last Toronto Examiner, there is a curious letter from William Lyon Mackenzie, on the removal of the Seat of Government to Quebec. Like most of his productions, it is a long, rambling affair, but, as is always the case, it shows that this extraordinary man has a most retentive memory, and the most minute acquaintance with the past political history of these Provinces, the United States, and England. We would give something to see Mackenzie's common place book; it must be well stored, for we never see a letter or article of his, that is not replete with extracts from newspapers of all possible countries and lieve that the removal to Quebec has been determined on, as a mere con ce of the Resolutions of the House embly, of May, 1849; he thinks that the Government and Legislature would hardly have broken the evidently mplied, though not positively expressed, pledge of those Resolutions, that the Government should remain four consecu-tive years in each place, "merely for the sake of electionsering—to keep out Peter and put in Paul." He tells us that it is privately rumored that Mr.

about, minus Moses, is an awful bolt; it is pretty clear that shrewd Mackenzie of aiding it in every possible way, as is done in all other civilized countries, the Elgin, much of a head to the body only object seems to be to obstruct it as Well, then, to shorten the matter, Mackenzie thinks the removal brought about by orders from the Imperial authorities, who are anxious to place the Canadian Government in safety beneath the impregnable ramparts of Cape Diaaspect of affairs between England and other European countries, and the United States, is getting so gloomy as to prognosticate a coming squall!

He asks the question, whether the complaint of the Cabinet of Vienna backed by Russia, of improper interference by the United States in the Hungarian insurrection is not the first sign of an European coalition? He then alludes to the attempt on Cuba, the refusal of Reciprocity, the affairs of Central America, and he might have added the illegal imprisonment of British subjects in South Carolina, contrary to solemn treaties, as grounds of disgust at St. James's, all likely to lead to unpleasant results. He then savs :-

Is the intended removal of the Seat of Government for British America to Quebec, in May next, a ronacquence of the intention of England and her allies to adopt a warlike attitude in order to compel restitation, resist the swamping of the national authority here, and contend in a new form for a retention of its high place among actions? If yea, I have, of course, not a word to offer in opposition. Perhaps it is the best means for preventing a war in the Old and New Worlds, but of this I am a very poor judge, for who can reason justly when not in possession of all the material facts of a case?

We cannot allow space for further extracts from this curious letter, but can express our own opinion that there is no more chance of war, or even of unpleasant feeling, between England and the United States, than there is of our being nominated Dalai Lama by the Thibetian hierarchs. The idea of England or France making common cause with Russia or Austria against the United States in any matter arising out of the Hungarian insurrection, is just as ridiculous as the assumption of the New York Courier & Enquirer, that England is bent on encouraging a rebellion in South Carolina against the Federation. As for the other matters, Cuba, Reciprocity, Central America, and the imprisonment of British subjects, the latter is the only one likely at all to lend of to unpleasant consequences. With respect to Cuba, the American Government has shown the greatest good faith, regard to treaties and international rights; moreover, the authorities at nost powerful maritime nations in the world will not see Spain robbed of Cuba, and the Americans are a discreet, as well as a brave, people. Now-adays, people don't fight about commercial matters with cannon and musquetry; they do it with Tariffs; therefore, there is no fear from the Reciprocity business. The Central American affair is already settled by treaty, and we have no doubt but that an amicable adjustment of the imprisonment question will soon take place, Lyon Mackenzie's crotchetty opinion to the contrary notwithstanding. We see no reason to apprehend " the interruption of a direct commerce extending in value to at least three hundred millions of dollars per annum between the British Empire and the Union; the stoppage of travel, the exchange of Christian courtesies for a

St. Androw's Church,

Ma. Epiron,-Not having had an opp of looking into the interior of St. Andrew's Church until the present moment, I was exceedingly gratified on being permitted to do so a few lays since. The order of the architectural sign is certainly preserved in its appropriate charcter, and the building reflects great credit on the eal and enterprise of the members of that Church, as well as the skill and fidelity of the Architect. In contemplating the appropriate arrangements of the interior as a whole, and the effect likely to be produced on the mind by the influences of an enlightened and rational devotion, t struck me that there still lacked a most import ant ornament to give full effect both to the appearance of the Church as Well as to the services pearance of the Church as well as to the services of the Sanctuary. The Gallery, Mr. Editor, wants what it ought to have, the Organ, that noble instrument, so rich, so fall, and so extensive in these wonderful anabilities for sacred harmony, and so appropriate to the solemnity and beauty of divine worship. A fine-toned and majestic instrument, in keeping with the such insecture of the building, constructed of our symblack walnut, with the sigh tracery and sag foliah which could be given to that material with the pipes in front richly gilt, would, I think, add greatly to the beauty of the interior. The seal of the worthy Pester and his liberal and enlightmed congregation, in a few Evening Solves, ened congregation, is a few Evening Sofra-hold in the Bisement of the Church, used by th valuable co-operation of the Indies of the congre gation, would soon accomplish as desirable an object; and I am persuried that Mr. Senned R. Warren, so invorably and or extensively knows as an Organ Builder, could produce an instrument creditable to his talents and judgment, as well as honorable to Canada and to the members and honorable to Canada and to the members and friends of St. Andrew's Church. Surely good old Dunder, or the fine harmony of ancient Ment, with many other sacred evenimiscences of the olden Kirk, would not be less agreeable to the ear of the worshipper, for being accompanied by the measured movements and devotional chords of the nolumn and despitoused dispassion of a soble Organ. -- Pert. the Grand Jury on the subject of the Seat of Go vernment removal. After some days, the Grand Jury having succeeded in showing precedents for the course they were pursuing, their Address was accepted and replied to. The reply fully sustains nuch as possible. Hamilton has been to be well received in Upper Canada, where it is considered by a large portion of the popula a breach of faith on the part of the Executive with this section of the Propince. The Municipal Council of the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham has passed Resolutions opposition to the removal. York County Council now in Session, is likely to do the same; and some of the newspapers seem inclined to go so far as to demand a repeal of the Union-a proposition that ought not to be made hastily or inconsiderately. There is a growing conviction that when the Government has ence got to Quebec, it will conspiracy to injure the character of the never return here. Some say that Lafontains intends eventually to take the Government back to Montreal; but this, I suspect, is mere guessing. Scarcely two months ago I was soundly abused by the Hastings Chronicle for daring to state, in the modest and dubious form of a rumor, that the Hon. John Ross, L. C., was to marry the youngest daughter of the Hon. Robert Baldwin. The Chronicle pointedly denied the whole statement. and added much unnecessary abuse. Time, however, has shown that I was right. The event came off on Tuesday, at the bride's father's: the marriage ceremony was to have been performed at the Church of the Holy Trinity, but the fair one being taken with erveipelas on Monday night she was unable to go to Church. The vedding party were only apprised of the change y messengers while on their way to Church. The bride is but 19 years of age; and is not particularly remarkable for beauty. Mr. Ross was widower, something under forty I should think. Much happiness to the pair. I should not be so particular, but that this sort of thing is so mightiy interesting to the ladies.
