THIS WOMAN SAVED FROM AN OPERATION. By taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, One of Thousands of Such Cases.

Black River Falls, Wis.—"As Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved me from an operation, I cannot say enough in praise of it. I suffered from ovarian troubles and my side hurt me so I could hardly be up from my bed, and I was unable to do my housework."

It is just such experiences as that of Mrs. Hinson that has made this famous root and herb remedy a household word from ocean to ocean.

Rheumatism Can Be Cured.

THE TROUBLE IS ROOTED IN THE BLOOD AND CAN ONLY BE CURED THROUGH THE BLOOD.

On the days of our grandfathers rheumatism was thought to be the inevitable penalty of middle life.

Almost every elderly person had rheumatism, as well as the young people. Medical science has not understood the trouble—did not know that it was rooted in the blood.

It was thought that rheumatism was the effect of exposure to cold and wet, and that it was cured by hot treatments and hot applications, which sometimes gave temporary relief, but did not cure the trouble.

Now medical science understands that rheumatism is a disease of the blood and that with good, rich, red blood any man or woman at any age can defy the trouble.

Rheumatism can be cured by killing the poison in the blood which causes it. For this purpose the blood makes it. Blood enriching qualities of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is becoming every year more widely known, and it is the more general use of these pills that has robbed rheumatism of its terrors.

In proof of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to cure this trouble, Miss Jennie Stockdale, Hill's Bridge, Ont., says: "Two winters ago I was taken with a bad attack of rheumatism, and was in bed for over two months, most of which time I could not sleep or enjoy a day or night."

"The trouble also affected my nerves, which were very bad. I tried several remedies but did not get any help from them, and then, as the doctor advised, a friend, I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I soon felt that the pills were helping me, and after taking eight boxes I am glad to say I was able to go about again as usual, and am now enjoying the best of health with plenty of good, rich blood, which makes me feel like an altogether different person."

I earnestly advise those suffering from rheumatism, nervousness and kindred troubles not to delay using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as, like myself, I am sure they will find a cure through their use."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Mistakes Are Human.

Don't be discouraged if you make mistakes—everyone does. The only thing you can do is minimize them as much as possible.

Whenever I meet men and women who are willing, frankly to acknowledge their mistakes, I find my regard for them immediately growing, and I feel that they are worth while.

Of course, there is no one in this big, round world who hasn't made mistakes, yet occasionally we find those who never acknowledge them, and who, in their hearts, feel their mistakes, if they have made a few, are too trivial to think about or confess to anyone.

And that person never amounts to very much, for whoever does anything in this world is sure to make mistakes, from the doing of the little everyday task and duties to the great, big, vital issues of life.

Our mistakes are, to my way of thinking, one of the very best things which ever happened to us, as they serve to develop us in a way that nothing else could.

Just the other day I heard a woman say that she had never made one in her life.

Of course, she didn't expect anyone to believe an extravagant and silly statement, yet, I dare say, she belongs to a class who have made large and done very little as they've gone along the highway of life.

It isn't a sin or a disgrace to make a mistake—it is the most natural thing in the world, and only those who are willing to admit them and profit by them will ever be able to accomplish very much.

Mistakes occasionally are good for us—and we prove our own mistakes big when we frankly say: "I was mistaken."

Seed Sowing of Vegetables. The time of sowing the seed and the early care of vegetables are very important factors in the successful growing of them.

The seed of some kinds of vegetables will not germinate and will sometimes rot. Seeds of beets, carrots, lettuce, onions, parsnips, peas, radishes, kohlrabi, garden cress, snail, spinach, parsley and leeks can be sown as soon as the ground is dry enough in the spring so that it will work well.

The seeds germinate at relatively low temperatures and the plant will stand considerable frost without serious injury. Other vegetables, such as cabbage, cauliflower and celery, will also stand frost but these are usually started in a hot-bed in order to save time in the field.

Vegetables which require higher temperatures than the above in order to grow well and which are injured by light frosts are beans, corn, cucumbers, melons, potatoes and squash.

Seed of late cabbage is not sown until late in May, but it will endure frost, and seed of Swiss turnip should be sown late when required for the table.

Voyagers.

A harbor there is where the ships go out—Frail little ships they are—With white sails poled to the kites of the wind.

Over the gleaming bar. Over the great wide world they go, Breasting the foaming tides. Until they rest in the heavens afar.

Where the dark storm never strives Some never return from their distant quest, Lost, and some know where—And the years go by, but some are still.

Over the sea they fare, And where is the harbor whence they sail? Under the blue above? The harbor is found in the hearts of men; The ships are their words at love.

Sidelights on the Tobacco Evil.

Frederick William Roman, Ph. D., professor of Economics at Syracuse University, has just completed an investigation on the "smoking habit among the soldiers at the university."

"This proves," he says, "that the number who smoke has been greatly exaggerated. Furthermore, even the smokers declare in a ratio of two to one that tobacco does more harm than good."

These young men complain to me in large numbers that tobacco has been practically forced upon them. They asked me frequently if there is to be no relief!

Some years ago, a commission appointed for that purpose, discovered that 47,000 boys and young men are passing yearly from the rural regions of New York state to the great cities.

What kind of boys and young men are desired? Here is the answer. The manager of a wholesale cotton house in New York City said: "I'd like to employ young men who don't smoke, but I can't get them. Yet the public schools in that city are costing more than a million a week. Plainly this is an economic as well as an educational and industrial problem."

Whose Hand?

In old days there were angels who came and took men by the hand and led them away from the city of destruction.

We see no white-winged angels now. But men are let away from threatening destruction; a hand is put into theirs which leads them forth gently towards a calm and bright land, so that they look to more backward; and the hand may be a little child's.

A Mother's Tribute. THIS letter from Mrs. Roberts gives such a fine idea of the value of Dr. Chase's medicines for use in the home that we shall publish it without further comment. Mrs. Everett Roberts, 44 Endicott Ave., Halifax, N.S., writes: "I feel it a pleasure as well as my duty to recommend Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and Ointment. After the shock of the Halifax explosion my system was all run down, and I was so weak that I could not walk. Night after night I lay awake unable to sleep. Nothing did me any good until one of my neighbors recommended Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. After a treatment of this medicine I can positively say that my health and strength have been restored, and I can now sleep well and do my work as well as ever."
