BISHOP'S 'SOFTEN' BURIAL SERVICE

Cut Out References to "Worms" and "Beasts" in the Episcopal Ritual.

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 14.—The House of Bishops of the general convention of the Episcopal Church...

"There is to be noted that the office creating is not to be used for any unbaptized adult, any who die excommunicate or who have laid violent hands upon himself."

Two prayers for the dead in the funeral services were agreed to almost unanimously.

plained that the prayers were to be "permissive."

Reference To Worms Cut Out On the ground that it was not a comforting thought, the phrase "and though after my skin worms destroy this body" was omitted from the second sentence in the burial ritual.

"I know that my Redeemer liveth, and that he shall stand at the latter day upon the earth, and though this body shall be destroyed, yet shall I see God, whom I shall see for myself and mine eyes shall behold."

It was voted to change the words, "Thou fool," in I. Corinthians xx, which is a part of the service, to "Thou Foolish Man," which is the language of the American revised version.

All reference that it was "pleasing" to Almighty God to take any one out of this world was cut out of the burial service.

The verses in First Corinthians, chapter twenty, which mentions "Beasts," were eliminated.

The predominant aim throughout the burial service revision has been to soften what are considered harsh parts of the service and make it more comforting to the bereaved.

Three Mile Limit Gives No Immunity For Liquor Ships

BOSTON, Sept. 19.—In a decision today sustaining the seizure of the British schooner Grace & Ruby, six miles off shore, Federal Judge James M. Morton ruled that rum-running ships were not immune from seizure by the mere fact that they were beyond the three mile limit.

"The high seas are the authority of no nation," the decision said. "They are free to the vessels of all countries. But this does not mean that a nation is powerless against vessels offending against its laws which remain just outside the three mile limit."

The mere fact that the Grace & Ruby was beyond the three mile limit does not of itself make the seizure unlawful and establish a lack of jurisdiction.

The case came up today on a libel of forfeiture filed against the vessel by the Government. It was established at the time of the seizure that the Grace & Ruby while anchored beyond the three mile limit outside Gloucester, unloaded about 8,000 bottles of liquor into the motor boat Wilkin which was captured by Government officers, while trying to land its cargo at Salem. The court ruled that the schooner, although never herself in a violation of the law which extends into the three mile limit.

The Peer Given The Palm

LONDON, Sept. 4.—It would appear to be the fate of Boy Scouts the world over to have to listen to good advice from their elders. In England the boys take it good humoredly and patiently as all in the day's work.

But recently a group of Scouts must have been perplexed as well as amused, when the good advice from two speakers did not in the least agree. They had come in to Bedford to attend church. The Vicar, the Rev. A. O. Cheney, addressed them. He warned them against smoking as "a dirty disgusting habit."

He told them to remember to keep the Sabbath day holy, and not to go about "making a noise and disturbing the villagers." (The boys had marched to church headed by bugles and drums.)

Nor, he said, should anything be done on Sunday which entailed extra work for anyone. (The villagers had agreed to entertain the visiting scouts to tea.) The Vicar said he never entertained anyone on Sundays; people should stay at home on Sunday and help along the activities of the Church.

After the service Lord Amptihill got his turn at the boys. He said that smoking had been helpful to some of the greatest men in the world. One of the wisest philosophers used to smoke like a chimney. But, of course, it wouldn't be right for small boys to smoke.

He always entertained his friends on Sunday, he said. He honored God by going to church Sunday morning, but afterwards he sometimes did a bit of carpentry. The idea of Sunday as a day of rest which meant abstention from ordinary work. Manual labor on Sundays rested him rather more than anything else because, during the week, he had to attend a good many meetings in hot stuffy rooms.

So long as they did not disturb the peace of their villages, they need have no compunctions in turning out on Sunday to pay a friendly compliment to a new troop. One of the groupings suggested that the Peer and the Parson should hold a public discussion on the subject, the proceeds to be divided equally between the Church and the Scouts.

Help for Headache. Troubled with headache? For quick, grateful relief, use Vaseline Mentholated Petroleum Jelly. An Antiseptic Ointment. When an antiseptic ointment is needed for inflamed eyelids, chafing, and similar affections, the most convenient and effective preparation is Vaseline Borated Petroleum Jelly. Apply to the forehead and temples, rubbing gently with the fingers. It is wonderfully soothing and refreshing. There are "Vaseline" preparations for many accident cases. They should be in every home, and every vessel. Start a Medicine Chest with a liberal supply of "Vaseline" Mentholated and Borated Jelly and the other "Vaseline" preparations shown here on the lid of the chest. Sold at all drug and general stores. FISHING AREAS AS SHIP'S DUMPS

(The Canadian Fisherman) A question that has been engaging the attention of maritime nations since the advent of the oil-burning ship is the pollution of navigable waters with oil refuse.

The practice of expending this waste from ships must be dealt with at an early date. It concerns the fishing industry directly. In Great Britain, the United States and on our own Atlantic coast complaints have been numerous. In Great Britain a Bill is being considered to make the discharge of oil into navigable waters liable to a fine of five hundred dollars.

PISCATORIAL PARAGRAPHS

(The Canadian Fisherman) A pamphlet recently issued in Germany places upon the many advantages of fish as a food, and draws special attention to its benefits as a diet for gout. Dr. Woods Hat-hinza, an authority on dietetics, in a recent issue of Collier's tells of its value while train travelling for the same reason that the German authority claims its efficacy for gout, that is, its ready digestibility.

A Deep Sea Fisheries Exhibition held in London, England, last month, attracted wide attention and, in the opinion of authorities resulted in much practical service to the industry. About the same time there was a fisheries fair at the great German trawling port of Geestemunde having a similar purpose as that held in London. A second fair was held at Kiel the middle of September.

Sleep Walker Awakes Two Miles Down the Road

LONDON, Sept. 4.—An extraordinary case of sleep-walking is reported from Fleet Line-shire. A Northfolk man was cycling through the country, and arriving at Holbeck close upon midnight, was unable to find lodging. Pacing his bicycle against a wall, he lay down exhausted by the roadside and went to sleep.

On awakening he could not find his machine. He roused the village considerably and learned that he had walked to Fleet, two miles away, in his sleep. The bicycle was later found where he had left it at Holbeck.

Scientists Quieter Way of Faith

Dr. William Brown, who addressed the psychologists at the B.A. Congress at Hull yesterday, criticised Professor Cone's theory relating to auto-suggestion.

His opinion was that Cone's idea of repeating a suggestion over and over again was not necessary. The same object could be achieved, he believed, by his own method, which consisted of quietly suggesting to the patient that the desired result would be achieved and the patient assuring him self, in a passive way, without any real mental effort that it would be so.

Dr. C. S. Myers said by Cone's method people with headaches had to repeat something so many times that by the time they had been cured of headache they had developed sore throat. Cone's was one of those people who practised auto-suggestion but who had had very little training in psychology.

He thought it would be a relief to many people to hear that Dr. Brown did not agree with Cone's idea of repeating things over and over again.

Famous Singer Dies In London

LONDON, Sept. 22.—Sir Charles Santley, for decades probably the best known and most popular singer on the English concert and oratorio stage, died at his home here yesterday in his 87th year. He was widely known in Canada, not only through Canadians who heard him frequently in London, but through very successful tours in opera and concerts he made to the United States and Canada in 1871 and 1891, when in the prime of his career.
