For my part 1 am proved and happy to any that we have conscientiously done our duty to the policy-holders in this respect. As nearly as possible every asset is brought down to a cash basis. After making provision for every known liability, as required by the Government Insurance D. partment, you will observe that we have a handsome surplus of over $70.000 Without going into emparisons such any of our competitors, I am quite satis-fied the position and standing of this compony to day will be found quite equal to that of any one of them.

hed the position and meaning of this during the past six months that business in It has been a common remark during the past six months that business in every line has been exceedingly dull. It would, therefore, not have surprised me had our volume of business fallen short of that of 1888. In noticing, however, had our volume of business fallen short of that of 1888. But also exthat our volume of pusiness failen short of that of 1888. In noticing, nowever, that our new business for 1889 is not only in excess of that of 1888, but also ex-ceeds that of the very best year in the history of the Company, I cannot allow the opportunity to pass without expressing to our agency staff the great satisfaction I feel at the manner in which they have performed their work during the past year So far this year, business has opened out very we lindeed and I look forward hope-fully to the results of this year's work exceeding even thouse of 1889, which from the foregoing you can readily ather have been the mest successful in the history of the Company. I believe everyone connected with the institution has the same feeling as myself, viz, that taking everything into consideration we have reason to be proved of the results that have so far been attained, thereby placing our company in the front rank. Yours respectfully, A. MACKENZIE.

Gentlemen, it cannot fail to be extremely gratifying to every one present, and to all interested in the Company, to receive from the Hon. Mr. Mackenzie such a letter as that just read, marked as it is by sound judgment and good taste. In the unavoidable absence of Mr. Mackenzie it has devolved upon me to take

I undertake the position with fear that I shall but very inadequately discharge the duty of moving the adoption of the annual report. which in past years has been done with so much clearness and force by Mr Mackenzie. And on former smallar occasions the motion to adopt the report was always seconded and supported by the first vice president, the late Hon. Alex. Morris, whose death since our last meeting we all sadly mourn and whose genial presence and wise counsels we do very greatly miss this day. I shall now, gentlemen, proceed to make some remarks upon the report and statements before you and upon the position the Company has attained as eviden-ced by these statements.

The exhibit as a whole I may safety affirm is an exceedingly cheering and en couraging one. Steady progress and advancement, not by leaps and bounds but gradual and sure, is shown in every important feature of the year's business, gradual and sure, is shown in every important feature of the year's business, which very considerably exceeds what was ever attained by any Canadian Life In surance Company at the same period of its history. When in addition to this the Guarantee Fund of $300,000 is taken into account, the security offered to policy-holders by this Company can truly be asid to be "unsurpassed on this contrient." The importance of hearding up the premium receipts and converting these in-to undoubted investments cannot be over-estimated, as it must be borne steadily in mind that life insurance is a life long contract, and the premiums paid by insurers from year to year must be carefully invested in undoubted interest bearing secur-ties so as to provide the means of paying death claims as they come in-which they surely will do; any departure from this sound principle must result in dis eater to the Company and in ultimate dimenonument to the pulicy-holders.

aster to the Company and in ultimate disappointment to the pulicy-holders. And here let me remark that nothing could be more satisfactory than the zeal and ability displayed by our Medical Director, Dr. Thorburn, who is most un-wearied and painstaking in guarding the interests of the Company in this most im-wearied and parastacting in guarding the interests of the Company in this most im-portant department of its work. The business in force as at Dec. 31st amounts to $9,068,862.00 (being an in-crease on the previous year of $1.141,298) and the new business for the year just closed amounts to $2 598,217.00 (being an increase on the year of $121,717). Taking into consideration the keen and at times reckless competition that has prevailed, and the scarvity of money during the last three months of 1889, the re-sults mean full he consideration the training.

ults may well be considered gratifying. While it is the policy of the Company's management to do an active and in

While it is the policy of the Company's management to do an active to pay reasing business, it is ever steadily kept in view that it is just as possible to pay To much for any other commodity. To too much to secure life insurance as to pay too much for any other commodity. To go on paying too much for business can only result in shipwreck and disaster, and hence the management adheres to the rule of paying as much as is consistent with fairness, reason and safety but po more.

fairness, reason and safety but Do more. It will be seen, gentlemen, on a calm and deiiberate review of all the facts and figures before you, that this Company is being built upon a sure and solid founda-tion, giving assurance of permanence, of security and safery to policy-holders. In this connection I take occasion to remark, that very often intending insurers and the general public are carried away by a most erroneous idea, viz., that very large and old companies showing immense assets must of necessity be the safest to in-the sure in. There forget that the vast easter of and out of the safest to insure in They forget that the vast assets of such companies are in reality almost wholly a debt due to existing policy-holders. New insurers, having done nothing to ereate or build up the amount of surplus by which such assets exceed the liabilities, can neither participate in nor derive any benefit whatever from such surplus. Instead of merely looking at the amount of assets of different companies it would he more to the point to examine the percentage of general surplus to assets. A most interesting official statement has been recently published of the actual posifor example a company having assets valued at $125,494,719, with percentage of prolus to assets 6.29; another assets $56,429,833, percentage of surplus to assets 3.03; another assets $32,650,860, percentage of surplus to assets 11.91; which clearly shows that immense assets do not mean always the best company for inending insurers; that mailer companies doing business on sound principles and with prudent, careful management, and especially careful in the selection of risks, may be the better and safer of the two.

This company compares most favorably in this respect with the leading Amerinews a larger ne COMPANIE

FRASER & PORTER.

The annual meeting of the North American Life Assurance Company was held The annual meeting of the North American Life Assurance Company was need at the Head Office of the Company, Toronto, on Tuesday, Jan. 28, 1890. The meeting was largely attended by Policy-helders, Directors, Guarantors and princi-pal representatives of the Company. In the absence at Ortawa of the Hon. Alex. Mackenzie, M.P., John L. Blaikie, Esq., Vice-President, was appointed chairman and Wm. McCaue secretary, when the following report was submitted: In presenting their there that the Directors feel instified in de

In presenting their Ninth Annual Report, the Directors feel justified in de-claring that the condition and general business of the Company are entirely satis-factory. During the year, 1682 applications for $2,707,200 were received, upon which were issued 1630 policies for $3,598,217. This is an amount of new business in excess of that of any former year and is specially gratifying in view of the finan-cial stringerson of the last energies of the company are specially gratifying in view of the financial stringency of the last quarter of the year. During the past year, large increases have been made in every branch of the Company's business.

The total resources of the Company, including the Guarantee Fund of $300,-000, now exceed One Million Dollars; thus furnishing a relative security to its policy holders unsurpassed by that of any company on the continent. The large increase in the Assets of the Company has been by cash invested in first mortgages, thereby making the Company's accumulated investments of a character unexcelled by any other. The large amount of business done in the Company's semi-tontine investment policies shows that the public fully appreciate this plan of insurance and realize its many advantages. This Company claims to have been the first Heme Company to introduce to Canadians this method of insurance, under which several policies were issued during the very first year of the Company's existence. Since that date, nearly every other Home Company has adopted, under one name or another, "this admirable form of insurance.

The reports of the Superintendent of Insurance show that millions of dollars are annually paid to Foreign Companies and by them sent out of the country. In this way we are not only deprived of a large part of our available and much-needed capital, but foreign competitors are built up therewith. As the reserves and resources of Home Companies are necess-rily invested altogether in Canada under our own laws and courts, all patriotic Canadians should certainly give such com-panies their support in preference to foreign competitors.

Dr. James Thorburn, the Company's able and experienced Medical Director, has prepared his usual report of the Company's mortality experience. Reports of the Company's business for the year were, as heretofore, mailed to

The chairman, Mr. J. L. Blaikie, in moving the adoption of the report, said GENTLEMEN, -We cannot but exceedingly regret that our honored and much esteemed President, the Hon. Alex. Mackenzie, is unable to be present with us to day, but I have received from him a communication dated "House of Commons, Ottawa," addressed, "To the Policy Holders and Guarantors of the North Ameri can Life Assurance Company in annual meeting assembled," which I shall read.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Ottawa, Jan. 27, 1890.

To the Policy Holders and Guarantors of the North American Life Assurance Com-pany in Annual Meeting Assembled: GENTLEMEN: Owing to Parliament meeting somewhat earlier than usual this year, and also to my state of health, I regret to say that it is not possible for me to be with you at the ninth annual meeting of the North American Life Assurance Company. This is especially disappointing to me, as I always look forward with great deal of pleasure to our annual gatherings, more especially so in noting the continued progress of the Company from year to year. This past year of 1889 has been no exception to the rule as to our progress, except that it has been the most successful in the history of the Company.

which were sent in duplicate to the Insurance Department at Ottawa, I found on mously. comparing the figures of the past year that our progress and success in every department had been considerably ahead of any year in the history of the company. Just proceeded now, I have not the exact figures before me, but, writing from memory, the in-crease in our cash premium receipts will amount to about $35,000. The interest receipts likewise show a large increase. There is not much difference in the outgo between the past year and that of 1888, the death claims being about the same. What struck me most forcibly was the large increase in our assets, and also that they are of the most satisfactory kind.

Every care has been taken to see that the investments of the company are made on the most conservative basis, and that while desirous of securing as high a rate of the most conservative basis, and that while desired a sectring as high a rate of interest as possible, the first consideration has always been that of safety. I need not remind you that in a business like this large numbers of the con-tracts will necessarily mature when many of you and myself are not here to sign the cheques in payment of the same, and the directors of the company, therefore, have an important duy to perform, to see that every provision is made that such contracts will be fully and honorably met at maturity, whenever that time may be.

them, and when compared with other Canadian companies as respects the percent age of general surplus to assets. I am proud to say it occupies a very high position. This is readily ascertained by reference to the Blue Book issued by the Insurance D-partment, Ottawa, for the year 1888, the last as yet issued.

Canadian companies doing pusiness in a healthfut climate, such as we are bleased with in Canada, may reasonably expect to realize a larger surplus for the benefit of their policy holders than those United States companies doing a large portion of their husiness in the Scuth and in a climate much less conducive to ealthfulrees and longevity than our own favored Canada.

It is extremely gratifying to have present with us to-day such a goodly repre entation of our active and intelligent agents. The company is fortunate indeed in having such a staff of able and energetic men to represent it in all sections of the country, who have done yeoman service in the past and who will be encouraged by the solid and substantial success attained by the company to resume work for the new year with renewed energy and perseverance. And as the company has different kinds of policies to offer, all attractive and good, they will be found to meet the needs and circumstances of all classes in the community.

At times people are met with who without due consideration speak of the Life Insurance agent as a bore; but, gentlemen, the calling is an honorable one and well worthy of men of the highest character and intelligence.

A Life Insurance policy is the sole protection against penury in thousands of homes today. The insurance agent, who by explanation and argument prevails upon the head of the family to insure his life, is really doing a noble and beneficent work Look into a countless number of homes and what do we see? A happy family group, love, goy and plenty their portion. But on what does a continu-ance of this state of things depend? It is to a very large extent upon the father of the family being spared as bread winner for all the rest. Let death enter the depuise and on the spare of the set of the rest. Let death enter the dwelling and snatch away its head, they are at once left without the means of keeping up the pleasant home with its many cheerful surroundings; a struggle for food and raiment has to be made; the young folks are taken from school and made to work in shop or factory at small wages, so as to help a struggling mother in her arduous battle to eke out a living for her family. Against all this a life insurance pol.cy is sure protection, and it is the impertive duty of every man who cannot otherwise make provision for his wife and family in the event of his death, to insure his life, do it promptly and gladly. Insmuch as hy far the greater number of people are wholly unable to make provis ion for their loved ones by ordinary savings, it is an imperative duty to insure their lives, and so secure them against want and all the miseries of extreme poverty. Hence they ought to insure promptly and gladly, thankful that such an easy method of securing the dear ones against want and untold troubles is within his reach. Promptly, because we know not what may be on or before the morrow. Gladly, because a burden of anxiety would be relieved by knowing that in the event of death, dearly loved ones would not be left to struggle with want and poverty. Thankful because this result can be attained by Life Insurance. Therefore, gentle men, let me say, set out with determination to succeed and at the close of the year will be seen splendid fruits of your labors.

I have already detained yeu too long, gentlemen, but cannot conclude without bearing testimony to the ability, skill and diligence of Mr. McCabe, our managing director, to whom in no small measure is due the success of the company; to Mr. Goldman, our secretary, we are also greatly indebted, for with unwearied zeal and fidelity he has discharged the duties of his office.

With these remarks I have now to move that the report and accompanying statements be adopted.

npany. This is especially disappointing to me, as I always look forward with a tat deal of pleasure to our annual gatherings, more especially so in noting the tinued progress of the Company from year to year. This past year of 1899 has no exception to the rule as to our progress, except that it has been the most cessful in the history of the Company. In examining the reports in the early part of this month, which I signed and be more sant in quality to the Januarance Department at Ottawa. I found on Goderich Steam Boi
