Holiday Suggestions.

Our showing of Christmas Footwear is indeed a very attractive display. We have something just right for every foot in the family and at prices always as low as Good Quality will allow.

What could be a more acceptable Christmas Remembrance for the older members of the family than a pair of our COMFORT SHOES, a pair of WARM SLIPPERS, or a pair of GOOD WINTER RUBBERS or GAITERS? What would please the younger members of the family more than a pair of STYLISH BOOTS, SHOES, PUMPS, or DRESS SLIPPERS, a pair of LEGGINGS or RUBBER BOOTS for the boy or girl? Remember Baby too with a pair of our cunning little SLIPPERS, BOOTEES or MOCCASINS.

Collegiate Tact.

There is a story which is perfectly authentic going round about Dr. T. B. Strong, Dean of Christ Church, Oxford, who is about to be consecrated Bishop of Ripon. During the war many bodies of Colonial troops were stationed, while in training, at Oxford, being billeted at different colleges. Several such bodies had proved themselves very difficult to handle, and serious damage done at more than one college. When a particularly rough draft was sent to Christ Church the dean invited them to meet him the first afternoon in the college hall, took them all round the college, showing them everything and entertained them to tea in hall, and finally addressed them as follows: "Gentlemen, what I have shown you this afternoon has been going on without interruption for 700 years. Now the men who should be here are in the trenches, and it is for you to take their places for a time and carry on the traditions of the college. I create you honorary Christ Church men for the rest of your lives." The idea of being honorary members of the most famous of Oxford colleges caught the fancy of the men, and from that moment discipline was perfect. Indeed, there was only one difficulty. The men wished to attend the chapel twice daily.—Manchester Guardian.

Prince of Wales on Immigration.

"The Dominions want population. We have population to spare, but a purely business method of emigration is no good nowadays. Flaming prospectuses will not draw emigration steadily from this country. What is wanted is to plan human co-operation. We should not feel that we are populating places that will be lost to us, and they on their side should welcome our immigrants as friends and comrades and make them feel above all that they are at home and really wanted there. There is no worse type of immigrant than the immigrant who fails; there is no better advertisement than immigrants who succeed. Success depends upon the way and spirit in which both sides take the subject. British population is a very valuable thing and we must see to it that it remains all British. The closer and more human the understanding, the easier becomes the movement of men, and I may add, of capital which the Empire requires. We want to make that understood wider and deeper, so that it is never swamped with isolation, either local or other. I hope the longer I live, the more I may see the ties that unite them and us, steadily strengthened and multiplied until the bond of fellowship which unites us in unbreakable."

Winter Warmth.

Many people dread the winter months because they cannot keep themselves warm while in bed. Broken sleep and an unrestful night mean, of course, a loss of working efficiency and injured health.

Sufferers pile blankets on their beds, use hot-water bottles, and do all sorts of things—except the right ones!—to get warm. But none of these "aids" suffice; they do not make the body warm, because they are not promoters of blood circulation.

And therein lies the whole secret of winter warmth. Circulation! A brisk walk warms one, and the body glows with heat. The blood circulates. And the exercise of walking makes one breathe more quickly. That in itself is heating as well as being an aid to circulation.

So, to keep warm, circulate! Ten minutes before you retire to rest, "circulate" yourself round the house, and up and down the stairs. Do it in your stockings!

Stand between the light and the bedroom wall, and do some shadow-boxing. That you cannot really box matters nothing. Lunge out with mighty punches. You will soon glow, and then, as you recover your breath, rub or smack the soles of your feet. The dormant blood will get going. And then, off to bed!

You will be as warm as toast, and the bedclothing will fulfil its real function of conserving your warmth. But don't make the mistake of burying your head under the clothes. Perfectly dreamless, warm sleep requires warm body and a cool head. Don't "hunch" your body, either. Lie straight; perfect circulation is not possible if you compress the arteries.

Free Funerals Latest Novelty.

Free funerals for all is the latest Communist novelty in Germany. The town of Schedewitz, in Saxony, offers its inhabitants all the necessities of death free of charge. These include a coffin, "corpse clothes," professional treatment by local undertakers, grave-digging and transportation on a truck to a cemetery. But the community will not pay for the luxuries of dying. Those bereaved must continue to settle the cost of a hearse, of flowers, of tolling the church bells and playing the organ, and of keeping the graves and tombstones in repair.
