Sam Grigg at Clinton.

The Clinton correspondent of the Goderich Signal writes: "On Sunday last the popular Sam Grigg occupied the pulpit in the Rattenbury Street Methodiat Church, which, in the evening, wasfilled to overflowing, of all denominations and of all classes of people, in order to hear the converted hotel man and old Clinton boy preach the Gospel. Mr. Grigg has now been converted a little more than two years, and is a man of about 45 years of age, with a very pleasant expression of countenance and very earnest delivery. He preached no theoretical sermon, but simply the Gospel of Christ as he had experienced it. As we listened to his earnest exhortations we could not help thinking that it was by no means absolutely necessary for a man to have a college education in order for him to become an acceptable preacher of the Word of Cold. If the peacher of the content of the Sam Grigg at Clinton. of God. If the great Triune God is able to convert a sinner from the error of his ways, is he not also able to make him his ambassador without a big theoretical training?"
