In Parliament.

Closing Hours of the Tedious Session.

The Pig Iron Bounty To Be Extended Five Years—Prorogation Put Off Till Monday—The Premier Takes "A Night Off."

OTTAWA, July 20.—In Parliament today, on the resolution extending the bounty on pig iron and billets of steel for five years, and allowing the same bounty on products of any furnace to be established for a period of five years after such establishing, Sir Richard Cartwright protested against binding Parliament to a fixed policy for ten years and announced he would refuse to be bound by it.

Mr. Foster granted that the policy was only binding so long as the party now in office remained in power, but there was after a period always the question of vested rights.

Sir Richard Cartwright said he was opposed to any bounty on pig iron.
The resolution was reported and the House went into committee on the Franchise Bill which applies the revised voters' lists to redistributed constituencies and provides a new form of ballot paper which will prevent spoiled ballots.

The discussion on the bill lasted until 1 o'clock.
Before rising at 1 o'clock the Premier announced that the Government would not insist on clause "D" of the Insurance Bill thrown out in the Senate last night.

When the House resumed at 3 o'clock the estimates were proceeded with.
The first item was $2,500 for repairs to stables, conservatories, etc., for the residence at Regina of Lieutenant-Governor of the Northwest Territories. This expenditure, with another—a revote for a similar purpose—makes over $5,000 which is being expended this year upon that mimic court.

The question of the cost of the Lieutenant-Governor's new residence was inquired into by the Opposition.
From the replies of the Minister it was seen that the residence has cost between $40,000 and $50,000, and that it is fitted up with a billiard hall and every other luxurious convenience.

Messrs. McMullen, Mulock and Mills (Bothwell) strongly protested against the increase of expenditure in these offices in view of the present temper of public opinion with regard to them.
The items were finally passed.

After attempting to proceed in committee with Mr. Haggart's bill to compel purchasers of railway tickets to sign receipts, Mr. Haggart withdrew the bill.
Prorogation will not take place until Monday.

Premier Thompson was detained at home tonight, having given out under the strain of the session and the intense heat.

A CRACK AT CANADA.
Canadian Crushed Stone to be Shut Out of Detroit.

DETROIT, July 20.—The consumption of crushed stone has enormously increased in Detroit during the last three or four years. The new policy in pavement building requires a concrete foundation for even cedar block, as well as asphalt or brick paving, and the furnishing of crushed stone for mixing with cement in making this concrete has become an important item in local traffic.

Some of the stone is brought in from quarries at Newport and elsewhere, but by far the greater portion as is said, is imported from Canada, being the product of quarries in the vicinity of Amherstburg.

While crushed stone is not specifically mentioned as a dutiable article in the McKinley law, the Detroit custom house authorities held, up to last fall, that it was an "unenumerated manufactured article" under section 4, and liable accordingly to a duty of 20 per cent ad valorem.

Certain importers protested against the payment of this duty, and appealed the case to the board of general appraisers.
The board sustained the protest, holding that the stone should be admitted free.

Collector Hopkins had the privilege of appealing the case to the United States court within 30 days after the decision was rendered.
No appeal was taken, however, and since that time Canadian crushed stone has been coming in without the payment of duty, the effect of the decision being to stimulate activity of the Amherstburg quarries, where crushed stone has been turned out in much larger quantities than before.

The sum of $1,100 paid in duties before the decision was announced was refunded to the importers.
The attention of the Treasury Department was called to the matter some weeks ago and it was referred back to Mr. Wood for a thorough investigation. His report thereon was carried by him in person to Washington a few days ago and is understood to have taken the ground that crushed stone is clearly dutiable under the law, the crushing process adding largely to the value of the stone and requiring an expensive plant.

Now the news comes from Washington that Secretary Carlisle is convinced of the soundness of this position and is about to issue an order directing the collector at Detroit to exact a 20 per cent duty on all future importations of stone.

The imposition of the duty will make a lot of difference in the plans of some of those who have gone into the business.
A recent addition to the plant at Amherstburg is a big $15,000 crushing machine. The importers will probably take the case to the board of general appraisers again, and if the decision is for the second time favorable to the importers, the collector can take advantage of the opportunity neglected, of appealing to the United States courts.

Queer Place for a Bird's Nest.
Birds have built their nests in some peculiar places, but one of the strangest on record is behind a hotel bar.

At James Morrow's hotel, at the Humber, near Toronto, a pair of sparrows have built their nests behind the bar and reared their young there.
The old birds fly in and out of the place quite naturally. The young birds are just now learning to fly.
