

A pretty girl
A crowded car
Please take my seat,
And there you are.
A crowded car,
A woman plain,
She stands, and there
You are again.

A man sometimes poses for an Apollo when he is only an Apollo—gy for one.

A school-boy asked to define the word,
"sob," answered: "It means when a feller don't want to cry and it busts out itself."

We are told "the evening wore on,"
but we are not told what the evening wore on that occasion. Was it the close of a summer's day?

The child of the sea—The harbourbuoy.

"Mister, I say, I don't suppose you don't know of nobody what don't want to hire nobody to do nothing, don't you?"
The answer was, "Yes, I don't."

Mr. Beck Hall.—"Good afternoon,
Miss Radcliffe. Going for a walk? May I accompany you?"

Miss Radcliffe.—"Yes, Dr. Sargent says we must always walk with some object, and I suppose you will answer the purpose."

Girls who ride bicycles are spoken of as Daughters of the Revolution.

A cobbler is the most pious of men.
He sees his end, lays down his awl and prepares his sole for the last.

Teacher—Mary, make a sentence with dogma as subject.

Mary (after careful thought).—The dog-ma has three puppies.

Mr. Popinjay.—"Woman's curiosity always amuses me."

Mrs. Popinjay.—"Indeed! By the way what's that stain on your hand?"

Mr. P.—"Paint, I was coming down by Blokon's fence, and just touched my finger to it to see if it was dry."

Flying ships have not yet met with success. Someone suggests that it is owing to a defective flag.

Do McGill

Men Wear ?

We have been advertising a line of made to order suits at $20.00 in THE FORTNIGHTLY for some issues. We know that better value cannot be had in Montreal--and yet--well we are shy about publishing the net result of ads.

We are quite in earnest—in our invitation to come down and see our suitings and trouserings. We will not urge you to buy, but we feel sure our goods will speak for us.

Bicycles, 1897.

Students are specially invited to call and examine our 1897 model,
"Columbia" Bicycles, which are now on view. Many points about them will interest cyclists.
