

The Houston Economic Summit comes at a critical point in the Round, with only five months left to complete the negotiations. The Canadian objective is to have summit leaders give the negotiating process a political impetus by reaffirming their political commitment to a successful, ambitious conclusion of the Round. This would be achieved by the leaders giving direction on the principal issues in the negotiations and setting a common framework within which their negotiators can pursue the detailed negotiations in Geneva.