

	PAGE
Jablonski's Letter to Dr. Nicholls. Ursinus's Letter touching the design of introducing the Liturgy of the Church of England into Prussia	542
Failure of the design. Jablonski's continued efforts to that end, and correspondence with Archbishop Sharp	543
Dr. Grabe, Hales, and Bishop Robinson	544
The Lower House of Convocation desires to promote the same work	545
Queen Anne and her Ministers support it. Secretary St. John's Letter	546
Failure of the design	547
Archbishop Sharp's proceedings with respect to Hanover	548
The death of Archbishop Sharp	549

CHAPTER XX.

THE SOCIETY FOR PROMOTING CHRISTIAN KNOWLEDGE. ITS INSTITUTION AND EARLY PROGRESS.

A.D. 1698—1713.

The Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge	550
Its three objects. First—the education of the poor. Previous efforts of the Church of England in aid of the first object	551
The second object, the care of our Colonies. The third object, the printing and circulating books of sound doctrine. Declarations of its members	553
Signed by Seven Bishops. By several Clergymen, among whom were Sir G. Wheeler. Dean Willis	554
Kennett, Stubs, Manningham, and Gibson	555
And by several Laymen. Robert Nelson	556
William Melmoth	559
And other members of Lincoln's Inn. Also by members of other learned professions. And by others, whose names are still to be held in honour	560
Declaration of the Society touching the Plantations. Benefactions of its Members	562