

Mr. Hutchinson has produced a very creditable work on Rhetoric designed mainly for the use of Academies and Schools. Many persons engaged from time to time in public speaking, would find it an advantage to become acquainted with the work before us. The subject is treated in a clear and satisfactory manner. The substance of many octavo volumes is here compressed within the limits of a little more than 100 pages.—Christian Guardian.

The Rev. D. F. Hutchinson has placed in our hands a Class Book on Rhetoric designed for the use of Academies and Schools in general. After a thorough examination of it we have no hesitation in saying it will be of incalculable service to those who desire to acquire an easy, elegant, and correct style.—Cobourg Star.

The Rev. Mr. Hutchinson's Rhetoric. We have received a copy of this work from the author now in Montreal. We have no hesitation in recommending it to the public generally, and to the instructors of youth particularly as an excellent adjunct to the usual catalogue of school books. Its simplicity, clearness and accurate definition are its great merits; and we hope that the author may obtain that patronage that his labors deserve.—Montreal Courier.

This work will no doubt, be found very useful in our provincial seminaries. We strongly recommend it to the consideration of the Board of Education as a very fit work to be introduced as a common School Book.—Brockville Statesman.

The Rev. D. F. Hutchinson has laid upon our table a copy of his Rhetoric. The work is very creditable to the author, and calculated to be useful to the youth of the Province.—St. Catharines Journal.

The Rev. D. F. Hutchinson's Rhetoric. As an aid to elegant and correct writing, we have no doubt that this work will be exceedingly valuable.—Bytown Orange Lily.
