Do your children real aloud to you? Why not? It is good practice for them and it is your chance to rest. Most children do not read at all well, simply for lack of practice. Yours, like to ther children, will probably swallow their words and mispronounce so atrocleusly that you may at first be more anonyed than gratified. Persevere just the same. Lie down before or after dinner, and let them try Dickens or Scott or some good story. It is a poor rule that will not work both ways, and, if the children enjoy your reading to them, surely both you and they will soon enjoy their reading to you. Then, too, an old book will become quite new seen thru the children's eves. Their criticisms are extremely

TINY TOWN

The show provided by Tiny Town is an admittedly unique and irresistible one. Last night Massey Hall was well filled, and the entertainment provided by these world-travelled midgets was both remarkable and interesting. These Tiny Town talents are only remaining in Toronto three more days.

NONE-SO-EASY

"Within the Law"

HE SUNDAY WORLD has made arrangements with The McClure Newspaper Syndicate of New York, for the publication of a fascinating serial story, "Within the Law," by Marvin Dana, from the play of Bayard Veiller.

Publication will begin this week. The story deals with a clerk in a department store who was wrongfully convicted of theft, and who, on the expiration of her prison term, planned only to wreck the happiness of the heartless employer. A great sociological problem is dealt with in a way to make the book one of the best produced in recent years.

"Within The Law" created a sensation in England and the United States recently. It will be published for the first time in Canada by The Sunday World. Get the opening chapters, and you will be interested till "Finis" is written.
