STILL CRITICAL

NEW YORK, July 17.-A cable The New York World says:
"The situation over the home bill remains intensely critical. The cabinet had two lengthy meetings at the house of commons today, endeav-oring to arrive at a decision on the Jister question.

The Unionists are holding out still for the total exclusion of Ulster with-out ascertaining the views of the individual counties by a referendum. The cabinet is united in deciding to refus this demand, but a minority, consisting of Sir E. Grey, minister of foreign affairs; Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty; Earl Crewe, under secretary, and Lewis V. Harcourt, colonial secretary, are for granting exclusion to the four counties where the Unionists predominate, and adding parts of Tyrone and Derry.

Court Influence Alleged.

This was the point of difference at today's cabinet session, and no agreement is yet reached. Harcourt's weakening is attributed to direct court influence, exercised largely thru his wife, who is a daughter of the late Walter Burns. Sir Edward Grey is against giving the Orangemen any pretext for disorder, but Winston Churchill has been shaky all along because, he declares, he is convinced neither the army nor the navy can be relied on to move against the Orangemen, no matter what the Orangemen do.

Prospects of Resignations.

If any one of these four ministers resigns at present and more especially Grey, it easily might mean the end of

Grey, it easily might mean the end of the present government and the loss of the home rule bill in any shape. The Irish party is strongly opposed to any further concession beyond aban-doning the time limit for exclusion, but the yare up against a situation demanding supreme sagacity as well as courage, for they have to decide whether it would be wise and justifiable to sacrifice the home rule bill rather than make a concession which they all believe would be only temporary.

Replying to some questions asked by Ald. McBride, City Solicitor Johnston yesterday informed the city council that in his opinion "the powers of Davies people so that the entire area the corporation do not extend to and include the guaranteeing of the estimated deficit of the intended Fat Stock Show." He is also of the opinion that the city council had not power to make a grant to the show, after the estimates had been passed, and the rate struck, without provision having been made to meet the deficits of the show. The city council decided to send the communication to the board of control for consideration.
