

GERMAN OPPOSES RUPTURE WITH U.S.

Admiral Von Truppel Admits She Could Be Formidable Enemy.

SUBMARINE'S LIMITS

Would This Method of Warfare Force Britain to Kneecap He Asks.

BERLIN, July 5, via London.—Admiral Oscar von Truppel, at one time governor of Kiaochow, the German concession in the Chinese Province of Shantung, captured in November by the Japanese, contributes an article today to Der Tag, warning his compatriots not to underestimate the danger of a breach with the United States, and asking them to weigh seriously the question whether the value of Germany's submarine warfare against British commerce is great enough to justify a continuance of its present form at the expense of a rupture with the trans-Atlantic nation.

A German-American war, or even a rupture of diplomatic relations, the effect of which would virtually be as great, would injure German prospects far more seriously than many believe. Altho America at first would be able to contribute little to the military strength of the entente allies except by an acceleration of the munitions supply, it could in time co-operate with considerable land and sea forces with first-class submarines and aeroplanes in the complete isolation of Germany. It also could exercise considerable pressure upon the few remaining neutral countries that would probably be arrayed actively or passively in the ranks of the entente.

U. S. Sympathy With Britain. Admiral von Truppel discounts the stories of earlier existing American agreements with Great Britain against Germany. "But it is undeniable," he says, "in spite of President Wilson's unquestionable desire for a peaceful solution of the problems, that the sympathies of a majority of Americans are on the side of England, and that only a spark might be necessary under certain conditions, to kindle this feeling into a hostile outbreak."

The kernel of the problem, from a German standpoint, concludes Admiral von Truppel, is contained in this question: "Can we hope as we are able to foresee, to force England and the United States to make a rupture with submarine warfare against her commerce?"

"If the answer is in the negative, our submarines can find better employment against hostile warships, particularly in the Mediterranean, the Black Sea and the Suez Canal. Submarine warfare could be modified or abandoned to obtain a more favorable neutrality and the friendship of America, which would be of great value to Germany after the war."

"If the answer is in the affirmative, the law of the sea, as it stands, would justify us in the preservation of our submarines, and we can accept all the consequences of it."

Kreuz Zeitung, in its weekly review, says that the Germans upon widespread and deep agitation among the German people, have decided, however, the newspaper adds, that the forthcoming note to America, which will be sent which will offer a prospect of settling the questions as far as passengers are concerned.

SAYS NORTHCLIFFE DICTATES POLICY

Daily Mail Proprietor Again Under Fire in House of Commons.

NATIONAL REGISTER

Government Intends to Carry Measure Thru Despite Opposition.

LONDON, July 5.—The national register bill encountered opposition in the house of commons tonight, when Sir Thomas Whitaker, Liberal member for one of the Yorkshire divisions, opposed its provisions, asserting that the passage of the bill in its present form would split the country. The member also declared his distrust in the present coalition government, saying that he knew that the man who had destroyed the late government continued to dictate the policy of the present government.

Cries of "Name" rang thru the house and Sir Thomas said that it was Lord Northcliffe, who was advocating virtually all the clauses of the register bill. Percy Alden (Liberal), an asking Premier Asquith whether he was able to assure the house that the government did not contemplate forced labor or conscription under the bill, was told by the prime minister that no such change was contemplated.

Kitchener Wants It. Walter Hume Long, the father of the bill, in moving its second reading, said that the government would resist to the utmost any suggestion to recede from its position and withdraw the bill. He said that Lord Kitchener, secretary for war, thought that the bill would assist him to avoid the difficulties with which he had previously been confronted, men having been recruited who should have been left in the workshops.

Sir Thomas Whitaker moved the rejection of the bill until evidence had been produced that the government's present powers were inadequate. He did not object to conscription or conscription, if necessary, but he asserted, especially as men always came forward when asked. The powers conferred by the bill, at any rate must not be placed in the hands of a man, who were hopeless in business matters.

He concluded by saying: "It is not a register that is wanted, but wholesale dismissals in the war office." Conservative speakers followed and earnestly expressed their opposition to support the government bill. The house passed the second reading of the bill after rejecting the amendment by a majority of more than 200 votes. The debate proved that the opposition to the bill came from a somewhat small minority of Radicals.

HOLT WILL TELL HIS LIFE'S STORY

Particularly Movements Leading Up to Attempted Murder of Morgan.

CONDITION IMPROVED

Financier is Now Out of Danger—Assailant Says He is Not Muentner.

GLENBOOIE, N. Y., July 5.—Frank Holt, the university professor, who shot J. P. Morgan, today declared that when he is arraigned on Wednesday he will tell the whole story of his life, particularly his recent movements leading up to the placing of the bomb in the United States capitol at Washington and his attempted assassination of Mr. Morgan. Holt made this declaration to Dr. Guy Cleghorn, the jail physician.

Dr. Cleghorn said, however, that Holt is in such a weakened condition that unless he shows decided improvement he will be postponed to the hearing. Condition Improved. Mr. Morgan, who was shot twice by Holt last Saturday, continued to improve today, so much so that specialists in attendance announced that he was out of all danger.

The favorable turn in the condition of Mr. Morgan was in marked contrast to that of Holt, the financier's assailant. Holt's condition became so grave that late in the day orders were given to the hospital that he was not to be disturbed and that one was to be permitted to see him but his condition had not improved.

Holt today denied that he was Eric Muentner, the Harvard professor, who disappeared in 1906 after his wife had died, whom he was charged with poisoning. He declared most emphatically that he had never been in Cambridge, Mass.
