RODOLPHE FORGET AND HIS PARTNERS THRU MEDIUM OF GIANT MONOPOLY

Looked Upon as Natural Leader by French-Canadian Members of Council—How the L. H. & P. Co. Was Organized and What It Can Do.

Montreal, June 26.—(Special.)—From the day of the creation of the Montreal Light, Heat & Power Co. to the present time the company has wielded an extraordinary influence in the city council. The consolidation of the interests that entered into its make-up promised cheap rates for these public utilities. But the promise was a false one. No sooner had the company established its power of monopoly, and its intentions in the peacemongering by placing President Roosevelt in possession of the tentative selection of his plenipotentiary, as follows: M. Neldoff, the Russian plenipotentiary at Paris, and Baron Rosen, the newly appointed Russian ambassador at Washington. It is believed that Mr. Takahira, the Japanese minister, during his call at the White House to-day, informally told the president that Japan's selection also tentatively, it is believed, that this minister for foreign affairs, and himself both ministers will consist of many advisors, including army and navy, possibly, and also the foreign offices in Tokyo and St. Petersburg. It is expected that although this mission may number ten or twelve.

Interest regarding an armistice has largely diminished in the last few days because of the receipt of information that the rainy season is beginning in Manchuria. It is believed here that this will serve the purpose of an armistice in preventing a clash between the opening of the conference in August. Moreover, the informal soundings initiated by the president at Tokyo and St. Petersburg did not yield much hope for successful negotiations looking to an armistice until after the plenipotentiaries met. If Japan is then convinced of the serious desire of Russia for peace she will readily consent to an armistice.

OUR DEAR TEACHER.

Jimmy! If she could see us now. More than twenty years ago she taught us how to read and how to write. When we had that nice piece to say, every anniversary day.

Member how the fellows in the class always used to hear her tell of John and the spacious whale, and the Balm and his ass.

And poor little Moses Pharaoh's daughter found 'mid bulrushes and buffaloes and water all around.

Couldn't ever make her very mad. Something us 'ere the right of wrong. When she said us 'ere the right of wrong. Saved 'em up till we got ten—used to get a big one then.

Recollect the way she used to say. The plucky things that David did to the beacon light for every kid. She used to tell the way.

He put Goliath to the mat—all of us were fond of this.

Of to us did she relate.

The way that Ananias lied to every one before he died. Now it's sad and things we ought to know.

There are a few, 'twixt me and you, do things that Anny used to do.

Most all of us can see her yet.

The patient girl who toiled along to help a blind man get his way.

We don't want to forget.

How she taught us the golden rule that we were boys at Sunday school.

OTHER BIT OF SCANDAL FOR OLIVER TO EXPLAIN

Mr. Foster's Queries Concerning the Disappearance of Land Funds in West Not Thankfully Received.

Ottawa, June 26.—(Special.)—Hon. Frank Oliver as an apologist for official misdoings is not a success. To-day he had a tough case to defend, but fundered into a slough of inconsistencies, lost his temper and made a mess of things generally. The case was somewhat akin to the Thessalonian postoffice deal in which the postmaster escaped punishment for defalcation by throwing the blame on his subordinates. Mr. Oliver's defaulting protege was a Nixon, sub-agent at Macleod, who got behind $500 in his accounts and then at a private investigation held by a fellow partisan, Leach of Winnipeg, put up the plea that his young son had taken the money. Nixon's subterfuge was closed, but after the interior department within a few days after Leach's report reached Ottawa he had appointed to the immigration service, and two weeks afterwards raised his salary from $25 to $75 per month. Mr. Oliver's defence was that it was "only a family affair," and that a restitution had been made it was the part of private individuals, not of the government, to invoke the criminal law. The subject was brought up by Mr. Foster, who had found that $400.00 was missing. Of this $107.50 was received for lots in Fort Macleod and the rest was for other land entries. This money should have been forwarded to the head office at Lethbridge, but was not. It was also found that the receipt books and stubs from April, 1915, when Nixon took office, had been destroyed.
