

A PAGE OF GENERAL INTEREST TO WOMEN

SPLENDID S. S. CLASS

AT DUNDAS CENTRE

There is a most remarkable Sunday school class of women in Dundas Centre, Methodist Church. It is organized with its own president, secretary, etc., and is conducted by Dr. Neville of the Western University. The class has a membership of about forty. It is their custom to meet every Monday night at the church to do Red Cross work, and to meet socially at each other's homes as well. This week they met at the home of Mrs. Colman on English street for a "stitching bee." At this meeting the class presented Miss Robinson with a modern reader's Bible for special work which she had done for the class. On Saturday night they expect to have a skating party.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Readers are invited to phone all news of this kind to the society editor. Phone 3670.

On Wednesday evening at the Talbot Street Baptist Church, Verna St. Marie of Samia was united in marriage to John McCrie of Samia Township. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. H. Bingham. Neither the bride nor groom was attended. Mr. and Mrs. McCrie will reside in Samia Township.

Mr. Sid Dalmage of the Intercolonial Railroad, Quebec, who has been spending the holiday season with his mother, Mrs. R. D. Dalmage, Colborne street, returned home this week.

A pleasant evening was spent this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Learn, White Oak, when a number of friends presented their daughter Florence, now Mrs. Eggle, with a handsome cabinet of silver. Toasts were proposed to the new bride, who responded, thanking her many friends for the kind remembrance. The evening was spent in music and games, and a dainty luncheon was served.

Mrs. D. C. Wilson of Parkhill, who is a member of the publicity committee of the Child Welfare Association, is in town for a few days to assist with preparations for the exhibit to be held in this city this week, February 10.

Russell Clanshaw of Glenora, late of the Merchant Navy, is spending a few days with friends in town.

Mrs. William Newkirk of Dover, Kent County, announces the engagement of her youngest daughter, Stella Adlyn, to Lieut. Wilson O'Leone of the 1st Depot Battalion, W.O.R., of this city, the marriage to take place the latter part of this month.

The many friends of Mrs. May Wilkinson Munroe, formerly of Toronto, will have the opportunity of hearing her sing at the Women's Music Club next Wednesday. Mrs. Munroe possesses a beautiful contralto voice.

Mrs. Casey, with her two children, has returned to Regina after spending some time with her sister, Miss St. Stewart, Maple street.

Miss Dorothy Dennis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Dennis, left this week for St. Margaret's College, Toronto.

Capt. Pentland of the Royal Naval College, Halifax, has gone to Quebec after a delightful holiday with Mrs. B. Smith.

RED CROSS NURSE AT TALBOT ST. BAPTIST Y. PEOPLE'S UNION

Miss Hilda Steward Tells of Work Overseas and Receives Presentation.

On Monday evening the Talbot Street Baptist Young People's Union gave an informal reception to Miss Hilda Steward one of the Red Cross nurses of that church who has lately returned from the front, having spent two years in Egypt and France. Miss Steward gave a very able address of the work of Red Cross nurses in France. She was situated at No. 6 General Hospital at Rouen, and spoke most graphically of the splendid work of the doctors and nurses in this hospital. She also remarked on the splendid spirit of the wounded men who came into the hospital from the front. Although the hospital is nearly sixty miles from the front-line trenches, the sound of the big guns could be heard distinctly.

At the close of her address, a presentation was made to Miss Steward by Mrs. Dingham on behalf of the society, to express their appreciation of the work done by her for the soldiers, and their gratitude for her safe return. Pie, fruit, cake, and other refreshments were served by the society. The meeting closed with refreshments and social intercourse.

THORNDALE.—The Thorndale Red Cross committee met on Monday afternoon at Mrs. James Fitzsimons', and packed the monthly box, which was the largest yet sent. It consisted of 51 pyjama suits, 68 pairs socks, 30 personal belonging bags, 11 trench caps, 5 face cloths, 2 towels, bundle of old linen and 2 butlers.

EMBRO.—The Red Cross meeting, which was held in the basement of St. Andrew's Church, was well attended. The main feature of the meeting was the packing of twelve boxes for the boys overseas. Each box contained one pair of socks, fruit cake, salmon, home-made candies, cigarettes, etc. This sent to headquarters 23 suits of pyjamas and 11 pairs of socks.

WIARTON.—Pateron's Jubilee Singers were in Warton opera house on Friday night under the auspices of the Girls' Red Cross Club. It was an exceedingly stormy night, but nevertheless, the hall was crowded. Over 100 was realized.

WADASH.—The Thorncliffe Red Cross Society held a shower at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Coulter, concession 6, Chatham Township, in honor of their daughter, Effie, who was recently married to Russell McFadden, a young farmer of Turner-ville.

ALISA CRAIG.—A more general effort than the appeal to the Sunday schools is being made in Alisa Craig on behalf of the Armenian and Syrian sufferers. In addition to the Sunday school offerings, subscription lists are opened in several of the churches, and a committee of citizens will undertake a canvass subsequently, so that as general a response as possible may be secured. It being considered that the terrible conditions which the above people are passing through call for a generous measure of support. Mr. Neil McLachlan is local treasurer.

VEGETABLES

Whitloof or French Endive 10c
Brussels Sprouts, per box 25c
Tomatoes, fine, per bushel 1.00
Celery "Hearts", bunch 15c
Celery, fine bunch 5c, 10c, 15c
Lettuce, fine head bunch 5c
Green Onions, radish, bunch 5c
Parsley, Watercress, Herbs 5c
Cabbages, 5c, 10c, 15c, 20c, 25c
Horseradish, lb., 25c, four for $1.00
Chicken Cabbage, per lb. $1.50
POTATOES, ONIONS, BEETS,
CARROTS, TURNIPS, PARSNIPS.

MAIN & COLLYER

Telephone 2831. P. O. Box 275.

LADY FALCONER AT LONDON Y. W. C. A.

Last night London was honored for the first time with the presence of Lady Falconer, the Dominion president of the Y. W. C. A., Toronto. She addressed an assemblage of women in the King Street Y. W. C. A., opening up to them the work of the great organization, to which they form but a small part, and giving them a wide view of the world.

"Women now stand in a very different place than when I was young," declared Lady Falconer. "Now, women in many countries are taken into the business of life, and whether we wish it or not, we have now got to take our share in making laws and keeping them. In our country, for instance, we women share the full responsibility. We must have some bond which will hold us together, and yet leave us free to develop individually. This bond must be a spiritual bond."

"We have these thoughts in your mind I would speak to you on the work of the Y. W. C. A. First of all there is the great work of the association, which has oversight in the countries that are too weak to have a national association of their own. To support this world's association, every member of the Y. W. C. A. is supposed to contribute a penny a year, so remember to have one day a year, when you give a penny to the Y. W. C. A."

"Before the war, our association began to launch out with new secretaries and into new branches of work, and everything seemed favorable. But the war came, and we had to refect our aims and our methods. Gradually, however, people have been opening up their eyes to help us, and now the storm is passing, and we are as far as we are concerned. We have charged our staff and are in a better position than ever before."

"When the sun came in the west, the year before last, many of our girls were out of employment. In one city in the west the girls in the month to the over the girls who were out of employment, when the war came, they were again out of employment, and our association housed and clothed them. The western girls were out of employment, and I know they will now back us when we go to them for help."

"The work of the association, not as a building or a gymnasium, but rather as a group of women banded together, and then we could best work together women of fine education and through their own experience, to bridge the gap between wealth and poverty, and to give the gift which the other gives her. Let the woman from the sheltered home meet the woman who has been through the war, and let each take out of the association the things they most need. That is an ideal which we must all strive to reach. The church is cursed with denominations, and then we could best work together economically in separate churches."

"The work of the association, not as a building or a gymnasium, but rather as a group of women banded together, and then we could best work together women of fine education and through their own experience, to bridge the gap between wealth and poverty, and to give the gift which the other gives her. Let the woman from the sheltered home meet the woman who has been through the war, and let each take out of the association the things they most need. That is an ideal which we must all strive to reach. The church is cursed with denominations, and then we could best work together economically in separate churches."

"The work of the association, not as a building or a gymnasium, but rather as a group of women banded together, and then we could best work together women of fine education and through their own experience, to bridge the gap between wealth and poverty, and to give the gift which the other gives her. Let the woman from the sheltered home meet the woman who has been through the war, and let each take out of the association the things they most need. That is an ideal which we must all strive to reach. The church is cursed with denominations, and then we could best work together economically in separate churches."

"The work of the association, not as a building or a gymnasium, but rather as a group of women banded together, and then we could best work together women of fine education and through their own experience, to bridge the gap between wealth and poverty, and to give the gift which the other gives her. Let the woman from the sheltered home meet the woman who has been through the war, and let each take out of the association the things they most need. That is an ideal which we must all strive to reach. The church is cursed with denominations, and then we could best work together economically in separate churches."

"The work of the association, not as a building or a gymnasium, but rather as a group of women banded together, and then we could best work together women of fine education and through their own experience, to bridge the gap between wealth and poverty, and to give the gift which the other gives her. Let the woman from the sheltered home meet the woman who has been through the war, and let each take out of the association the things they most need. That is an ideal which we must all strive to reach. The church is cursed with denominations, and then we could best work together economically in separate churches."

"The work of the association, not as a building or a gymnasium, but rather as a group of women banded together, and then we could best work together women of fine education and through their own experience, to bridge the gap between wealth and poverty, and to give the gift which the other gives her. Let the woman from the sheltered home meet the woman who has been through the war, and let each take out of the association the things they most need. That is an ideal which we must all strive to reach. The church is cursed with denominations, and then we could best work together economically in separate churches."

"The work of the association, not as a building or a gymnasium, but rather as a group of women banded together, and then we could best work together women of fine education and through their own experience, to bridge the gap between wealth and poverty, and to give the gift which the other gives her. Let the woman from the sheltered home meet the woman who has been through the war, and let each take out of the association the things they most need. That is an ideal which we must all strive to reach. The church is cursed with denominations, and then we could best work together economically in separate churches."

"The work of the association, not as a building or a gymnasium, but rather as a group of women banded together, and then we could best work together women of fine education and through their own experience, to bridge the gap between wealth and poverty, and to give the gift which the other gives her. Let the woman from the sheltered home meet the woman who has been through the war, and let each take out of the association the things they most need. That is an ideal which we must all strive to reach. The church is cursed with denominations, and then we could best work together economically in separate churches."

"The work of the association, not as a building or a gymnasium, but rather as a group of women banded together, and then we could best work together women of fine education and through their own experience, to bridge the gap between wealth and poverty, and to give the gift which the other gives her. Let the woman from the sheltered home meet the woman who has been through the war, and let each take out of the association the things they most need. That is an ideal which we must all strive to reach. The church is cursed with denominations, and then we could best work together economically in separate churches."

"The work of the association, not as a building or a gymnasium, but rather as a group of women banded together, and then we could best work together women of fine education and through their own experience, to bridge the gap between wealth and poverty, and to give the gift which the other gives her. Let the woman from the sheltered home meet the woman who has been through the war, and let each take out of the association the things they most need. That is an ideal which we must all strive to reach. The church is cursed with denominations, and then we could best work together economically in separate churches."

"The work of the association, not as a building or a gymnasium, but rather as a group of women banded together, and then we could best work together women of fine education and through their own experience, to bridge the gap between wealth and poverty, and to give the gift which the other gives her. Let the woman from the sheltered home meet the woman who has been through the war, and let each take out of the association the things they most need. That is an ideal which we must all strive to reach. The church is cursed with denominations, and then we could best work together economically in separate churches."

"The work of the association, not as a building or a gymnasium, but rather as a group of women banded together, and then we could best work together women of fine education and through their own experience, to bridge the gap between wealth and poverty, and to give the gift which the other gives her. Let the woman from the sheltered home meet the woman who has been through the war, and let each take out of the association the things they most need. That is an ideal which we must all strive to reach. The church is cursed with denominations, and then we could best work together economically in separate churches."

"The work of the association, not as a building or a gymnasium, but rather as a group of women banded together, and then we could best work together women of fine education and through their own experience, to bridge the gap between wealth and poverty, and to give the gift which the other gives her. Let the woman from the sheltered home meet the woman who has been through the war, and let each take out of the association the things they most need. That is an ideal which we must all strive to reach. The church is cursed with denominations, and then we could best work together economically in separate churches."

"The work of the association, not as a building or a gymnasium, but rather as a group of women banded together, and then we could best work together women of fine education and through their own experience, to bridge the gap between wealth and poverty, and to give the gift which the other gives her. Let the woman from the sheltered home meet the woman who has been through the war, and let each take out of the association the things they most need. That is an ideal which we must all strive to reach. The church is cursed with denominations, and then we could best work together economically in separate churches."

"The work of the association, not as a building or a gymnasium, but rather as a group of women banded together, and then we could best work together women of fine education and through their own experience, to bridge the gap between wealth and poverty, and to give the gift which the other gives her. Let the woman from the sheltered home meet the woman who has been through the war, and let each take out of the association the things they most need. That is an ideal which we must all strive to reach. The church is cursed with denominations, and then we could best work together economically in separate churches."

"The work of the association, not as a building or a gymnasium, but rather as a group of women banded together, and then we could best work together women of fine education and through their own experience, to bridge the gap between wealth and poverty, and to give the gift which the other gives her. Let the woman from the sheltered home meet the woman who has been through the war, and let each take out of the association the things they most need. That is an ideal which we must all strive to reach. The church is cursed with denominations, and then we could best work together economically in separate churches."

"The work of the association, not as a building or a gymnasium, but rather as a group of women banded together, and then we could best work together women of fine education and through their own experience, to bridge the gap between wealth and poverty, and to give the gift which the other gives her. Let the woman from the sheltered home meet the woman who has been through the war, and let each take out of the association the things they most need. That is an ideal which we must all strive to reach. The church is cursed with denominations, and then we could best work together economically in separate churches."

"The work of the association, not as a building or a gymnasium, but rather as a group of women banded together, and then we could best work together women of fine education and through their own experience, to bridge the gap between wealth and poverty, and to give the gift which the other gives her. Let the woman from the sheltered home meet the woman who has been through the war, and let each take out of the association the things they most need. That is an ideal which we must all strive to reach. The church is cursed with denominations, and then we could best work together economically in separate churches."

"The work of the association, not as a building or a gymnasium, but rather as a group of women banded together, and then we could best work together women of fine education and through their own experience, to bridge the gap between wealth and poverty, and to give the gift which the other gives her. Let the woman from the sheltered home meet the woman who has been through the war, and let each take out of the association the things they most need. That is an ideal which we must all strive to reach. The church is cursed with denominations, and then we could best work together economically in separate churches."

"The work of the association, not as a building or a gymnasium, but rather as a group of women banded together, and then we could best work together women of fine education and through their own experience, to bridge the gap between wealth and poverty, and to give the gift which the other gives her. Let the woman from the sheltered home meet the woman who has been through the war, and let each take out of the association the things they most need. That is an ideal which we must all strive to reach. The church is cursed with denominations, and then we could best work together economically in separate churches."

"The work of the association, not as a building or a gymnasium, but rather as a group of women banded together, and then we could best work together women of fine education and through their own experience, to bridge the gap between wealth and poverty, and to give the gift which the other gives her. Let the woman from the sheltered home meet the woman who has been through the war, and let each take out of the association the things they most need. That is an ideal which we must all strive to reach. The church is cursed with denominations, and then we could best work together economically in separate churches."

"The work of the association, not as a building or a gymnasium, but rather as a group of women banded together, and then we could best work together women of fine education and through their own experience, to bridge the gap between wealth and poverty, and to give the gift which the other gives her. Let the woman from the sheltered home meet the woman who has been through the war, and let each take out of the association the things they most need. That is an ideal which we must all strive to reach. The church is cursed with denominations, and then we could best work together economically in separate churches."

"The work of the association, not as a building or a gymnasium, but rather as a group of women banded together, and then we could best work together women of fine education and through their own experience, to bridge the gap between wealth and poverty, and to give the gift which the other gives her. Let the woman from the sheltered home meet the woman who has been through the war, and let each take out of the association the things they most need. That is an ideal which we must all strive to reach. The church is cursed with denominations, and then we could best work together economically in separate churches."

"The work of the association, not as a building or a gymnasium, but rather as a group of women banded together, and then we could best work together women of fine education and through their own experience, to bridge the gap between wealth and poverty, and to give the gift which the other gives her. Let the woman from the sheltered home meet the woman who has been through the war, and let each take out of the association the things they most need. That is an ideal which we must all strive to reach. The church is cursed with denominations, and then we could best work together economically in separate churches."

"The work of the association, not as a building or a gymnasium, but rather as a group of women banded together, and then we could best work together women of fine education and through their own experience, to bridge the gap between wealth and poverty, and to give the gift which the other gives her. Let the woman from the sheltered home meet the woman who has been through the war, and let each take out of the association the things they most need. That is an ideal which we must all strive to reach. The church is cursed with denominations, and then we could best work together economically in separate churches."

"The work of the association, not as a building or a gymnasium, but rather as a group of women banded together, and then we could best work together women of fine education and through their own experience, to bridge the gap between wealth and poverty, and to give the gift which the other gives her. Let the woman from the sheltered home meet the woman who has been through the war, and let each take out of the association the things they most need. That is an ideal which we must all strive to reach. The church is cursed with denominations, and then we could best work together economically in separate churches."

"The work of the association, not as a building or a gymnasium, but rather as a group of women banded together, and then we could best work together women of fine education and through their own experience, to bridge the gap between wealth and poverty, and to give the gift which the other gives her. Let the woman from the sheltered home meet the woman who has been through the war, and let each take out of the association the things they most need. That is an ideal which we must all strive to reach. The church is cursed with denominations, and then we could best work together economically in separate churches."

"The work of the association, not as a building or a gymnasium, but rather as a group of women banded together, and then we could best work together women of fine education and through their own experience, to bridge the gap between wealth and poverty, and to give the gift which the other gives her. Let the woman from the sheltered home meet the woman who has been through the war, and let each take out of the association the things they most need. That is an ideal which we must all strive to reach. The church is cursed with denominations, and then we could best work together economically in separate churches."

"The work of the association, not as a building or a gymnasium, but rather as a group of women banded together, and then we could best work together women of fine education and through their own experience, to bridge the gap between wealth and poverty, and to give the gift which the other gives her. Let the woman from the sheltered home meet the woman who has been through the war, and let each take out of the association the things they most need. That is an ideal which we must all strive to reach. The church is cursed with denominations, and then we could best work together economically in separate churches."

"The work of the association, not as a building or a gymnasium, but rather as a group of women banded together, and then we could best work together women of fine education and through their own experience, to bridge the gap between wealth and poverty, and to give the gift which the other gives her. Let the woman from the sheltered home meet the woman who has been through the war, and let each take out of the association the things they most need. That is an ideal which we must all strive to reach. The church is cursed with denominations, and then we could best work together economically in separate churches."

"The work of the association, not as a building or a gymnasium, but rather as a group of women banded together, and then we could best work together women of fine education and through their own experience, to bridge the gap between wealth and poverty, and to give the gift which the other gives her. Let the woman from the sheltered home meet the woman who has been through the war, and let each take out of the association the things they most need. That is an ideal which we must all strive to reach. The church is cursed with denominations, and then we could best work together economically in separate churches."

"The work of the association, not as a building or a gymnasium, but rather as a group of women banded together, and then we could best work together women of fine education and through their own experience, to bridge the gap between wealth and poverty, and to give the gift which the other gives her. Let the woman from the sheltered home meet the woman who has been through the war, and let each take out of the association the things they most need. That is an ideal which we must all strive to reach. The church is cursed with denominations, and then we could best work together economically in separate churches."

"The work of the association, not as a building or a gymnasium, but rather as a group of women banded together, and then we could best work together women of fine education and through their own experience, to bridge the gap between wealth and poverty, and to give the gift which the other gives her. Let the woman from the sheltered home meet the woman who has been through the war, and let each take out of the association the things they most need. That is an ideal which we must all strive to reach. The church is cursed with denominations, and then we could best work together economically in separate churches."

"The work of the association, not as a building or a gymnasium, but rather as a group of women banded together, and then we could best work together women of fine education and through their own experience, to bridge the gap between wealth and poverty, and to give the gift which the other gives her. Let the woman from the sheltered home meet the woman who has been through the war, and let each take out of the association the things they most need. That is an ideal which we must all strive to reach. The church is cursed with denominations, and then we could best work together economically in separate churches."

"The work of the association, not as a building or a gymnasium, but rather as a group of women banded together, and then we could best work together women of fine education and through their own experience, to bridge the gap between wealth and poverty, and to give the gift which the other gives her. Let the woman from the sheltered home meet the woman who has been through the war, and let each take out of the association the things they most need. That is an ideal which we must all strive to reach. The church is cursed with denominations, and then we could best work together economically in separate churches."

"The work of the association, not as a building or a gymnasium, but rather as a group of women banded together, and then we could best work together women of fine education and through their own experience, to bridge the gap between wealth and poverty, and to give the gift which the other gives her. Let the woman from the sheltered home meet the woman who has been through the war, and let each take out of the association the things they most need. That is an ideal which we must all strive to reach. The church is cursed with denominations, and then we could best work together economically in separate churches."

"The work of the association, not as a building or a gymnasium, but rather as a group of women banded together, and then we could best work together women of fine education and through their own experience, to bridge the gap between wealth and poverty, and to give the gift which the other gives her. Let the woman from the sheltered home meet the woman who has been through the war, and let each take out of the association the things they most need. That is an ideal which we must all strive to reach. The church is cursed with denominations, and then we could best work together economically in separate churches."

"The work of the association, not as a building or a gymnasium, but rather as a group of women banded together, and then we could best work together women of fine education and through their own experience, to bridge the gap between wealth and poverty, and to give the gift which the other gives her. Let the woman from the sheltered home meet the woman who has been through the war, and let each take out of the association the things they most need. That is an ideal which we must all strive to reach. The church is cursed with denominations, and then we could best work together economically in separate churches."

"The work of the association, not as a building or a gymnasium, but rather as a group of women banded together, and then we could best work together women of fine education and through their own experience, to bridge the gap between wealth and poverty, and to give the gift which the other gives her. Let the woman from the sheltered home meet the woman who has been through the war, and let each take out of the association the things they most need. That is an ideal which we must all strive to reach. The church is cursed with denominations, and then we could best work together economically in separate churches."

"The work of the association, not as a building or a gymnasium, but rather as a group of women banded together, and then we could best work together women of fine education and through their own experience, to bridge the gap between wealth and poverty, and to give the gift which the other gives her. Let the woman from the sheltered home meet the woman who has been through the war, and let each take out of the association the things they most need. That is an ideal which we must all strive to reach. The church is cursed with denominations, and then we could best work together economically in separate churches."

"The work of the association, not as a building or a gymnasium, but rather as a group of women banded together, and then we could best work together women of fine education and through their own experience, to bridge the gap between wealth and poverty, and to give the gift which the other gives her. Let the woman from the sheltered home meet the woman who has been through the war, and let each take out of the association the things they most need. That is an ideal which we must all strive to reach. The church is cursed with denominations, and then we could best work together economically in separate churches."

"The work of the association, not as a building or a gymnasium, but rather as a group of women banded together, and then we could best work together women of fine education and through their own experience, to bridge the gap between wealth and poverty, and to give the gift which the other gives her. Let the woman from the sheltered home meet the woman who has been through the war, and let each take out of the association the things they most need. That is an ideal which we must all strive to reach. The church is cursed with denominations, and then we could best work together economically in separate churches."

"The work of the association, not as a building or a gymnasium, but rather as a group of women banded together, and then we could best work together women of fine education and through their own experience, to bridge the gap between wealth and poverty, and to give the gift which the other gives her. Let the woman from the sheltered home meet the woman who has been through the war, and let each take out of the association the things they most need. That is an ideal which we must all strive to reach. The church is cursed with denominations, and then we could best work together economically in separate churches."

"The work of the association, not as a building or a gymnasium, but rather as a group of women banded together, and then we could best work together women of fine education and through their own experience, to bridge the gap between wealth and poverty, and to give the gift which the other gives her. Let the woman from the sheltered home meet the woman who has been through the war, and let each take out of the association the things they most need. That is an ideal which we must all strive to reach. The church is cursed with denominations, and then we could best work together economically in separate churches."

"The work of the association, not as a building or a gymnasium, but rather as a group of women banded together, and then we could best work together women of fine education and through their own experience, to bridge the gap between wealth and poverty, and to give the gift which the other gives her. Let the woman from the sheltered home meet the woman who has been through the war, and let each take out of the association the things they most need. That is an ideal which we must all strive to reach. The church is cursed with denominations, and then we could best work together economically in separate churches."

"The work of the association, not as a building or a gymnasium, but rather as a group of women banded together, and then we could best work together women of fine education and through their own experience, to bridge the gap between wealth and poverty, and to give the gift which the other gives her. Let the woman from the sheltered home meet the woman who has been through the war, and let each take out of the association the things they most need. That is an ideal which we must all strive to reach. The church is cursed with denominations, and then we could best work together economically in separate churches."

"The work of the association, not as a building or a gymnasium, but rather as a group of women banded together, and then we could best work together women of fine education and through their own experience, to bridge the gap between wealth and poverty, and to give the gift which the other gives her. Let the woman from the sheltered home meet the woman who has been through the war, and let each take out of the association the things they most need. That is an ideal which we must all strive to reach. The church is cursed with denominations, and then we could best work together economically in separate churches."

"The work of the association, not as a building or a gymnasium, but rather as a group of women banded together, and then we could best work together women of fine education and through their own experience, to bridge the gap between wealth and poverty, and to give the gift which the other gives her. Let the woman from the sheltered home meet the woman who has been through the war, and let each take out of the association the things they most need. That is an ideal which we must all strive to reach. The church is cursed with denominations, and then we could best work together economically in separate churches."

Sensational Sale

OF SMALL CHILDREN'S WINTER VESTS

The Headline Attraction of Our After-Stocktaking Sale

These Vests are for little tots from 1 to 4 years of age.

15c

The biggest Underwear snap we've ever offered.

500 SMALL CHILDREN'S VESTS

All wool, union and fleece-lined qualities, with high neck and long sleeves, sizes 1 to 4 years.

These are manufacturers' samples, odd and soiled garments that we've been very fortunate in securing for this sale.

Sale commences at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning. Main floor. No telephone orders. No exchanges. No refunds.

Splendid Values Offered in the Staple Dept.

500 yards of 40-inch Factory Cotton. Per yard 18c

Light or Dark Grey Flannel. Extra good value at, per yard 40c

36-inch Chintz for quilt coverings, light and medium colors. Price, per yard 20c

English Flannelettes, good variety of colored stripes, excellent quality. At, per yard 20c

36-inch White Flannelette, nice soft weave. Per yard 18c

Shirting Flannels in light colored stripes, 32 inches wide. (Note the price.) Only, per yard 35c

40 and 42-inch Hemstitched Pillow Cases. Each 19c

300 Cotton Bats priced at, each 15c

Sale Georgette Waists Special, $3.95

Three pretty styles in fine sheer georgette, trimmed with insertion and tucks for your choosing, colors to be had in lot, ivory, maize, champagne, covert, flesh and coral; worth $5.00. Specially priced at...$3.95

Wool Top Underskirts at $1.59

A comfortable winter Skirt, with a black