Mr. Hazen is at present on the boards in Carleton county, and playing to rather small business. The date of his visit to Northumberland has not been fixed, and he must make haste to make even one approximately before election day.

Mr. Morrissy has good reason to be statered by the high estimation in which he is held by the premier. The latter is not sure that Provincial Secretary Flemming can get along without him in Carleton county, and so hurries to the rescue. He only sends telegrams to Mr. Morrissy. There is a rumor that Hon. Mr. MeLeod may dash into Northumberland to create a diversion in favor of Mr. Swim, but this is not confirmed. In the general confusion of rumor and noise one fact stands out clear: The Liberals, Upham ppearance before election day. It is not strange that the young lawyer ongratulated himself when he married a oung woman of exquisite mind—a tinin, big-eaded gird in spectacles. A friend was incoduced to the lady one night, and later in the bridegroom said to him:
"George, what do you think of her?"
George puffed thoughtfully on his cigar. Well," he said, "to tell you the truth, she sn't much to look at, is she?"
The husband's face fell. "Ah, but." he said agerly, "what a mind she has! Externally, aerhaps, she isn't all that could be desired, but within—ah! George, she has a beautiful mind."
