

MOCKED BY BOYS, KILLS 1, WOUNDS 3

Tailor, Infuriated by Taunts,
Runs Amuck in Crowded
Park—Uses Shears and Knife.

(New York Times.)

Out of work, sad and morose, Philip Cooper, a tailor, sat yesterday on a bench in Seward Park unmindful of the crowds of happy children about him. His mutterings caught the ears of a group of boys and they began to mock him. For a time the man paid no heed to them, but the cries redoubled. Suddenly Cooper, enraged, leaped to his feet, threw his hat on the ground and began to shout incoherently. Women hastily gathered up their children and ran screaming. Cooper, still yelling, drew from his pocket a pair of cutters shears and a large pocketknife and dashed through the park. A few minutes later one man was dead, three others severely wounded, had been taken to Gouverneur Hospital and Cooper, raving, was in a strait-jacket at Bellevue Hospital.

The man he killed by stabbing him through the heart was Morris Ninkofsky, connected with the Forward Association, 175 Broadway, and one of the founders of Forward, the Jewish daily paper. The three injured by stabbing are Louis Katz, 244 Rodney street, Brooklyn; Morris Lubinsky of 244 East Third street, and Samuel Lipman, 14

Jefferson street When Cooper, finally was caught, after running to Essex and Division streets, Policeman John J. Hopkins had to draw his revolver to prevent a crowd from beating the man to death.

After stabbing Mr. Ninkofsky, who died before he reached Beth Israel Hospital, the man ran through the park upsetting baby carriages and slashing right and left at women and children who ran around benches and trees. J. Sand of 80 1/2 Essex street tried three times to throw an overcoat over the man's head and overpower him, but finally stumbled and fell. Cooper was about to stab him when A. Sirocheik of 105 Essex street rushed at the frenzied man and saved Sand.

By this time hundreds of persons had rushed to the scene. The large crowd apparently frightened Cooper, for he ran from the park to East Broadway. Here he jumped on the running board of a passing auto and stabbed Katz, the owner and driver of the car, in the arm.

Two other persons in the automobile fought Cooper off.

Continuing his way up the crowded street Cooper stabbed Lipman and Lubinsky with his shears. Then a plumber hit the tailor on the head with a file and he fell. Regaining his feet he fled, a crowd in pursuit. Then a man ran from a store and hit the fugitive on the head with a piece of lead pipe, knocking him down. The crowd started to beat and kick him. Policeman Hopkins put in a call for the reserves, then forced his way through the crowd, and drawing his revolver rescued Cooper. While waiting for the ambulance to take him to Bellevue, Cooper pulled from his pocket a small looking glass and straightened his tie and smoothed his hair. He was severely scratched and bruised.

Cooper, the police learned, is 36 years old and has been living at 2055 Prospect avenue, the Bronx. It was said he could not obtain work because of his "sulkiness" and loud talk.

CALLS IT DANCE OF INDUSTRIAL DEATH

Officer of the Credit Men's Association Deplores Extravagance.

New York, May 12—"The dance of industrial death" is the manner in which the American people's extravagance is described by J. H. Tregos, secretary-treasurer of the National Association of Credit Men, in a letter issued to the organization's members. He says in part:

FALL FROM CHAIR EFFECTS CURE

Sister, Unable to Walk for Year, Suddenly Regains Strength.

Fort William, Ont., May 12—A remarkable incident happened at St. Joseph's Convent here recently. One of the Sisters who for the last twelve months has been unable to walk, suffering from a tubercular knee, and who was told by several doctors that it would be absolutely impossible for her to walk again, fell from a chair in trying to get to a wheel chair that was close by, and in falling she regained her strength. The strange thing was she started to walk; in fact ran around the convent, and she is now walking. It is said, as if she had never been sick.

Answered.
Patient—Do cucumbers really affect all people?
Doctor—No; only those who eat them.

"The dance of industrial death in which American people are now participating should cease before they have to pay the piper."

"The extravagance of our people since armistice day is one of those psychological phenomena to which man is subject. During the war period we sacrificed gladly, but with the cessation of hostilities the restrained feelings broke loose and we went on a rampage of extravagance such as never before has been exhibited in this land."

"This nation is sound fundamentally, and the soundness will continue if people will give up their folly. 'I'll become diligent, will work as human beings should work during a time of stress and strain, and thus help to bring about a gradual reduction in currency so that prices may steadily recede.'"

DON'T STRAIN YOUR EYES

Squinting, frowning and headaches are characteristic of eyestrain.

When this condition exists good health is impossible without the use of suitable glasses.

FIRST AND PARAMOUNT, ABSOLUTE SECURITY TO POLICYHOLDERS

"LIFE INSURANCE is too much of a gamble," you say.

All business success depends largely upon shrewd guessing as to what the future has in store.

But with an Imperial Policy it's different. You know exactly how much you will have to invest in it each year. You know what it will yield to your estate if you die—or to yourself if you live to old age.

There's no gamble about an Imperial Policy. It's as safe as the Bank of England.

We would like to send you a copy of our interesting booklet "Penniless Old Men." It's worth reading. Write for it to-day.
