POLICY TORIES SAY IS ABSURD WAS THAT OF SIR JOHN A. MACDONALD

An Interesting Quotation From Speech on Canada's Participation in the Wars of Britain

(Ottawa Free Press.)

In view of the policy that the Canadian Conservatives are making these days over the principle laid down by Sir Wilfrid Laurier that Canada's participation in British wars should be discretionary rather than automatic, it is interesting to note that this was also the idea of their old party chieftain Sir John A. Macdonald. In an article contributed to the Nineteenth Century in 1885 by W. E. Foster, the founder of the Imperial Federation League, we find this statement:

"Sir John Macdonald, the premier of the dominion, made a very short speech at the last federation conference but there was a passage well worth remembering. He said he believed 'that the whole policy of Great Britain was opposed to aggressive war and in any other war the people of Canada would be ready to take their share of the responsibility and the cost.'"

"Sir Wilfrid's attitude seems to be judicial. Of course in any war that involved the honor of the empire Canada would, in the first place, be compelled for self-preservation to participate and, in the second place, it would desire to take its share of the 'responsibility and the cost.' But, as has been pointed out by the Toronto Star, Britain has always more or less involved in petty wars and as to whether this country should participate in these is a question for the Canadian Parliament to decide."

"Sir John Macdonald's statement in 1885 was hailed by the foremost apostle of imperial federation as a great concession. Up to that time it had never been expected that Canada would take any part in British wars. Now when Canada has by practical proof shown its intention of abiding by the policy laid down by Sir John, the party which knew him as leader is pleased to pronounce that policy absurd and traitorous."

The fact is the opposition of the Canadian Conservative party to the attitude of Sir Wilfrid on imperial federation is the opposition of the Conservative party to a policy of reciprocity with the United States.

THE REASON WHY

You don't take sauce? Perhaps not, but if you look for the reason why, you will find it in the fact that the word "sauce" suggests to your mind a thin, clear, hot, boiling fluid, which, if taken at dinner, runs all over the plate, saturates the vegetables, and eventually leaves a disagreeable burning sensation in the mouth. No wonder that under those circumstances you do not take sauce—but, change the circumstances, and the taste will probably change with it.

A new sauce has been introduced by the Midland Vinegar Company of England, which is known as H. P. Sauce, and is quite different to the old-fashioned sauce referred to.

H. P. Sauce has proved an immediate success, and is now being prepared by those who prefer only pure ingredients. It is prepared by blending together the finest Oriental fruits and spices with pure malt vinegar, and is a most delicious sauce, which, if poured over the meat on the plate, can be eaten with the most liberal gusto.

H. P. Sauce is also used very extensively in the kitchen, for householders have discovered that old and fatty dishes of which everyone has grown tired become tempting and delicious when enriched and flavored with H. P.

All family grocers are selling H. P. Sauce. Of course its success has brought many imitations, but if you look for H. P. and see that these letters appear on each can, you will guard against the possibility of disappointment.

States which they previously advocated can be explained in only one way—it is all a battle between the ins and the outs.

MILLIONAIRES INDICTED IN "WIRE TRUST" CASES

New York, June 29.—Nine indictments charging restraint of trade in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, were returned by a federal grand jury here this afternoon against a number of associations and a long list of individuals comprising the so-called "wire-trust," affiliated with the industry.

Prominent among the defendants are Herbert L. Satterlee, a son-in-law of J. P. Morgan, and Wm. H. Palmer, president of the American Steel & Wire Company, a subsidiary of the United States Steel Corporation, and Frank J. Gould, the well-known railroad financier.

"What this suit charges," said District Attorney Wise, "is a trade agreement in restraint of trade." The government does not seek to establish a physical or fiscal control of the properties or interests indicated, but a series of pools to maintain prices and apportion territory, in elimination of competition, and so in violation of the Sherman act.

NO INCREASE IN FREDERICTON RATES

W. M. Jarvis, Peter Clinch, R. W. W. Frink, H. B. Robinson and B. R. Armstrong, of the N. E. board of fire underwriters, returned last evening from Fredericton, where they appeared before the city council with reference to better fire protection. Mr. Jarvis said that the report sent out that rates were to be raised and that the meeting was inharmonious was quite incorrect. The insurance men asked for eight inch mains on the side streets instead of three inch mains as at present or six inch pipes as proposed. This point, said Mr. Jarvis, the council concurred and Ald. Farrell, chairman of the water committee, afterwards agreed on the kind of pipes to be used. It was also recommended that the shingle roofed ell on Queen street buildings be covered as soon as possible and the council agreed that this should be done.

The desirability of purchasing a chemical engine was also pointed out, its great effectiveness in saving the city when the water service gave out in St. John in December, 1907, being cited. The council also promised consideration, although they intimated that this suggestion might not be met immediately.

Mr. Jarvis said that the meeting was most harmonious and the aldermen met them in a conciliatory spirit.

WOMAN'S METHODIST MISSION WORK

The annual district convention of the women's Methodist Missionary Society was held in Sussex yesterday. Delegates were present from every Methodist church in the St. John district and papers were read dealing with the different methods of carrying on the society's work. The honorary president of the New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island branch, Mrs. J. D. Chipman, of Boston, was present and gave an interesting address on the missionary movements in the United States. Papers from missionaries in the home and foreign field were also read. The delegates from St. John were: Mrs. R. Morton Smith, Mrs. Bizard, Mrs. Lawson, Mrs. Sanford, Mrs. Hicken.

and prospects, industrial and commercial of the whole empire, and of each part are asked for so that some intelligence may be put into the discussion of an imperial trade policy.

Selborne Idea Repudiated

"These are the finger-posts along the way over which the imperial conference of the government of Britain keeps step with the governments of the overseas dominions. What does it all mean? It means beyond all question that 'Empire,' after the notion of the Jingo imperialists, is both undesirable and impossible. If anything is done, the nation persists, as was illustrated by Lord Selborne in his recent tariff controversy with Hon. W. S. Siddings, if Lord Selborne's argument means anything, it means that Canada has not the right, in view of imperial obligations, to exercise fiscal autonomy. Not only Canadians, but most intelligent British readers, repudiate that notion. One of the foremost statesmen in Britain, as to me the other day:

"If Lord Selborne's view prevailed, Canada's autonomy would be gone, and if there is no autonomy for Canada and the other dominions there can be no empire." That is indeed the case, but it is decided already.

What the protectionist press of London, led by The Morning Post, demands, via "consolidation of the empire on the basis of a protective tariff" is more hopeless today than at any time in this generation. An instance was given this week when a Canadian member of the British parliament, a Unionist, openly declared in the presence of five well-known Canadian Conservatives, that the Unionists would soon throw over the food tax, and that if he speaks on the question in the House of Commons he will support the proposed reciprocity agreement with the United States. He declared, too, that many Unionist members agree with him. He did not hesitate to say that a tax on wheat is out of the question for Britain, but he did not convince me that his party could win without their old friends, the agriculturalists, or that without a tax on wheat any possible preference would be of much interest to Canada.

Protection Losing Ground

The fact is protection is crumbling in the hands of its British friends. President Taft's idea, that Canada is now "at the parting of the ways," and must choose between better trade relations with the United States and a tariff preference in Britain, is seen here to be even more improbable and more theoretical than it seemed when viewed from Canada. The facts of trade in Britain and the conditions in the overseas dominions of the field of Bannockburn, so celebrated as revealed through the imperial Conference, make it plain that Canada will have no such alternative. Unless positions of the hostile armies, the state of the battle, the dent in the turf made by the head of De Bismarck when the Bismarck either of practical politics or of commercial negotiations. We must base our notion of empire and erect our imperial structure on something broader and more enduring than a tariff tax and a tariff privilege. The men of the imperial conference are seeking the more excellent way.

BANNOCKBURN AGENTS

Two English tourists come time ago visitations in the field of Bannockburn, so celebrated for the defeat of Edward's army. A sensible countryman pointed out to them the positions of the hostile armies, the state where Bismarck's standard was fixed during the battle, the dent in the turf made by the head of De Bismarck when the Bismarck either of practical politics or of commercial negotiations. We must base our notion of empire and erect our imperial structure on something broader and more enduring than a tariff tax and a tariff privilege. The men of the imperial conference are seeking the more excellent way.

Not Sisters

Now and again you see two women passing down the street who look like sisters. You are astonished to learn that they are mother and daughter, and you realize that a woman at forty or fifty-five ought to be as her father and fair. Why isn't it so?

The general health of a woman is so intimately associated with the local health of the reproductive organs, that there can be no good complexion and round form where there is female weakness.

Women who are suffering from this trouble should find prompt relief and cure in the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It gives vigor and vitality to the organs of womanhood. It clears the complexion, brightens the eyes and reddens the cheeks.
