W. WHITLOCK, Cy. Treasurer. SEA SOYGS.

One of the most popular as well as the most refined of our Sea Songs, is the famous ballad of Gay. The air of this ballad has

It my sweet William sail among the crew." Rock'd with the billows to and fre Soon as her well-known voice he heard, He sigh'd and cast his eyes below; The cord slides quickly through his glowing hand

34 98 And (quick as lightning) on the deck be stands. So the sweet lark, high poised in air, Shuts close his pinions to his breast, (If chance his mate's shrill call he hear.) And drops at once into her nest. The noblest captain in the British fleet Might cavy William's lips those kisses sweet.

> O Susan ! Susan! lovely dear! My vows shall ever tree remain ! Let me kiss off that falling tear-We only part to meet again. Change as ye fist, ye winds, my heart shall be The faithful compass that still points to thee.

> Believe not what the landmen say, Who tempt with doubt thy constant mind; They'll tell thee, sailors, when away, In every port a mietress find-Yes, yes, believe them when they tell thee so. For thou art present wheresoe'er I go.

If to far India's coast we sail, Thine eves are seen in diamonds bright Thy breath is Afric's spicy gale, Thus every beauteous object that I view, Wakes in my soul some charm of lovely Sue.

Though battle call me from thy arms. Let not my pretty Susan mourn Though cannons roar, vet, safe from harms

Love turns aside the balls that round me fly, Lest precious tears should drop from Susan's eye The boatswain gave the dreadful word,

The sails their swelling bosom spread : 203 80 No longer must she stay aboard; They kiss'd-she sighed-he hung his head The lessening boat unwilling rows to land-'Adieu !" she cries, and waived her lily hand.
