WHAT TO DO IN AN EMERGENCY.

(By Blanche W. Fischer).

When an accident occurs there are certain things that may be done that will prevent the injury from becoming greater while waiting for the doctor. An experienced worker should not try to remove the patient unless it is imperative, or unless the weather is a cause of discomfort or danger, but even if moving is unavoidable, do not move the injured person farther than is absolutely necessary. Such aid as can be given should be given as quickly as possible so that moving may not aggravate the trouble. Then lift the patient upon anything on which he may be placed in a flat position, first throwing over the improvised litter something soft. When it is possible to have two or three assistants for this moving one should devote his attention to protecting the wounded part.

In case of an accident where fire the most important thing to remember is that the air must be excluded from the burnt surface. In wounds of every description cleanliness is one of the healing factors; but in a burn the wound may be irritated by pulling away anything that may seem to be sticking to it. If any foreign substance, such as bits of clothing, should seem to be simply lying on the surface, they may be carefully picked off. If there are blisters they must be picked immediately and the water from them absorbed by dry linen. Then the wound should be covered with sweet oil, vasoline, or any pure oil or ointment, and a clean cloth laid over it. Or one may use molasses, or the white of an egg, or dust flour over the surface.

One of the best remedies for such emergencies is "carbol-oil," which is made by stirring equal parts of lime-water and linseed oil into a thick paste.

A burn from grease or oil should be treated as an ordinary burn. One from an acid should be washed with warm water, or, if it is possible to get baking soda or common washing soda, put a pinch of it into the water and wash the wound with the solution. The object is to remove any of the acid that has not entered the skin. Then the wound should be dressed with oil.

Many persons die from shock whose burns are not fatal, consequently the patient should have absolute rest. Loosen the clothing and give stimulants in small doses, or hot coffee, hot milk—anything that is warm and nourishing. Keep the patient comfortably warm, applying hot-water bottles if the limbs seem cold. Do not use ice. If the blood shows signs of drying let it remain, as nothing will stop bleeding more effectively.

If blood spurts from a cut it is evident that either a vein or an artery has been severed. In that case take a handkerchief or a strip of cloth and tie it around the limb an inch or two above the wound—"above" meaning between the wound and the heart; the bandage being put on loosely enough to admit of inserting a stick or cane between the bandage and the limb. Twist the stick so that every turn the bandage is drawn tighter. This must go on until the bleeding either stops or diminishes. Then the bandage must be held in place, and a similar one, perhaps not quite so tight, applied below the wound. In this way the bleeding from the other end is controlled. But the bandage must not be allowed to remain on the limb too long or the results may prove disastrous.

Sometimes the wound is in a place where it is impossible to apply a bandage; in that case press the lips or sides of the wound together with the fingers, and keep them firmly closed by pressure.

In treating a case of poisoning remember that there are two classes of poisoning—"irritants" and "narcotics." Under the head of "irritants" come all the acids, ammonia, corrosive sublimate, and all preparations of arsenic, including Paris green and the various poisons. The symptoms are usually of a burning nature, and are often accompanied by vomiting, and are usually accompanied by a burning taste in the mouth. There is nothing better for this purpose than a heaping teaspoonful of mustard stirred into a glass of warm, hot water, or if mustard is not to be had, salt water; or if mustard is not to be had, either milk or water. Then give two teaspoonfuls of any pure oil, or the whites of two eggs, or starch, or chalk, or baking soda, or even flour into either milk or water. If none of these is to be had give the patient as much milk as he can drink.

The poisons most commonly met with that would be classed as "narcotics" are belladonna, chloral, strychnine, and all preparations of opium, such as morphine, laudanum and paregoric. The principal thing to do if one of these has been taken is to keep the patient awake, or, if he has lost consciousness, to arouse him. Give him mustard water to drink, and unless the emetic acts quickly repeat the dose in ten minutes. Keep him awake by walking him up and down. If he has lost consciousness before any attempt has been made to overcome the poison, dash alternately very cold and very hot water upon his chest, and, if possible, make him swallow black coffee. It may take hours to work off the effect of a narcotic, but unless sure that it has been overcome do not stop working for one moment.

In the case of a poisoned wound, such as that caused by the bite of a snake, let the wound bleed freely, even gently pressing around it to increase the flow of blood. Chauliufing is the only treatment that is absolutely to be relied upon. After the wound has bled freely, heat it by holding it over a fire. For a dog bite no treatment is necessary unless the dog is mad. Of course, it is better to have the wound washed out with warm water and covered, so as to keep it perfectly clean; but beyond this there is really nothing necessary. If the dog is "mad," or if there is a suspicion that it is mad, the wound should be cauterized.

A biting it is more alarming than a sting. Lay the patient flat on a bed, or upon the floor, having the head, if possible, a trifle lower than the body. This can be managed, even when the patient has fallen upon the floor, by slipping under the body a pillow, blanket or rug. See that there is plenty of fresh air, dash cold water in the face, hold ammonia under the nostrils, and when the patient is conscious give some strong coffee, or half a teaspoonful of aromatic spirits of ammonia in a little water. Do not try to make the patient swallow the stimulant just as he is recovering consciousness; there is great danger of choking him. After consciousness is restored demand that the patient shall rest.

Another form of unconsciousness is that which is caused by inhaling smoke or poisonous gases. Under such circumstances the patient should be given air at once, and the act of breathing stimulated by baring the chest and pouring on it first ice-cold water, then water a little hotter than the hand will bear, then the cold again, and so on. Afterward give a stimulant and rub the limbs and body heavily.

The symptoms of sunstroke are easily recognized. The patient breathes heavily, is flushed, and his temperature rises until he appears to be in a burning fever. He may be either conscious or unconscious. In either case the clothing should be stripped off, so that cold water or ice may be applied to the whole surface of the body. If it is not obtained apply it to the head, binding it on with a handkerchief; dash cold water on the chest and body, and rub the whole body with ice or cold water. When consciousness has been restored, and the patient has cooled off, let him rest in a cool, quiet place. In heat exhaustion, while the patient may be warm he may, on the contrary, feel cold; the breathing is faint, and there will be every indication of weakness. Give stimulants in small doses, but frequently; loosen the clothing and rub briskly.

TWO THOUSAND DOLLARS FOR TERCENTENARY.

Government Decides to Grant Aid to the Celebration—The Programme Partly Arranged.

The following telegram, received after many days of anxious waiting, has made glad the hearts of those who have taken such a deep interest in the tercentenary celebration:

FREDERICTON, April 15.

D. R. JACK—We are happy to inform you that the premier assures us grant of two thousand dollars will be given for tercentenary. Accept this also as reply to your telegram to attorney general.

D. J. PURDY.

E. LANTALUM.

GEO. ROBERTSON.

This telegram was read last evening at a meeting held in the mayor's office called to hear the decision of the local government in this connection. It was expected that word would have been received earlier, but it was a case of better late than never.

Mayor White presided at last evening's meeting, and there were present, Dr. D. E. Berryman, F. A. Dykeman, G. U. Hay, T. H. Estabrooks, David Waterbury, C. E. L. Jarvis, Chas. Campbell, L. Col. Morham, M. McLean, L. Col. Underhill, R. O'Brien, Dr. T. R. Robertson, F. B. Wilson, Jas. Fraser, Geo. Martin, Hon. R. J. Ritchie, T. B. Robinson, Rev. Dr. Raymond, Rev. Canon Richardson, Dr. G. F. Matthews, G. A. Henderson, S. D. Scott, H. G. Green, Philip Heffernon and Chas. A. McDonald.

W. E. Raymond, Rev. Dr. Fraser and Dr. Murray MacLennan have been appointed by the Thistle Curling Club to represent that organization on the committee; Dr. Robertson (chairman), Ball League, H. G. Green, No. 1 Salvage Corps, and E. R. Machum the central committee, I. O. F.

A draft of the proposed programme was read and on motion taken up section by section. On Wednesday afternoon from 2.30 there will be horse races at Moosepass and a base ball game. Thursday morning it is proposed to have a regatta on the harbor. After some talk about the cost this was held over for the executive.

Thursday afternoon a driving and teamsters' parade will be held. Opening of the new public library, and the unveiling of a memorial tablet. His worship explained that it was new quite certain that the library building would not be fully completed in time.

It was the general feeling of those present that if the ladies took hold of the memorial tablet affair they could raise the $200 necessary outside the fund. This matter was referred to the executive, as was the question of the Royal Society's programme and the musical and literary entertainment, at which it was expected a number of prominent speakers, including some eminent Frenchmen, would take part.

Col. Marchand informed the meeting that the exhibition buildings were locked with bolts, etc., and could not be used for such a meeting, with the result that the executive will look for the next best place.

Friday morning—Landing of Champlain, etc. Prizes and Polymorphian procession. Referred to the executive. Friday afternoon—Military and naval display. Referred to executive. Friday evening—Harbor illuminations.

Saturday afternoon—Band concerts and base ball. Sunday—Services in the churches and church parade to the harbor. Monday afternoon—Excursion on the river.

The question of a civic grant was up, and Dr. Raymond and the secretary were appointed a committee to confer with the treasury board, and their recommendations will probably be considered at a special meeting of the Council.

The question of inviting the governor general was referred to the executive. Str. Tanagra, Capt. Kehoe, sailed from Charlott for St. Michaels, Azores, yesterday.

G. T. P. DEBATE.

OTTAWA, April 15.—Quite a part of the afternoon session was taken up with a debate precipitated by the leader of the opposition, who, on orders of the day being moved, took the first possible opportunity to reply to the charges made last night by Cowan of South Essex in his absence from the house. Borden, in tones that carried conviction, denied that he had become possessed, directly or indirectly, of Blair's memorandum to the government in a way that carried any dishonor or dishonesty, and showed that in using this document, which had evidently been placed in his hands in a legitimate way, he had nothing to conceal in this regard, and challenged the government to push to the utmost the inferences it had placed in the mouths of its supporters. He had not obtained Blair's paper from a civil servant, but he had been handed it by a gentleman not in the employ of the government. He had not even looked at it for hours after it was placed in his hands. To the charge that the paper was "rotten" he replied in most emphatic terms that any such statement was utterly and absolutely false. Blair's reply was technical but not effective. He gracefully defended the member for South Essex, and then asked Borden to tell him how he got Blair's memorandum marked "private and confidential" in his possession. The paper was stolen or sold, and Borden must have so known when he read it.

Fighting followed for the first time this session. Rising in his place to make some remarks, he was in loud voice, and pounded the desk, but in the end of his speech he admitted and opposition charges that he did not accuse Borden of stealing the Blair memorandum. He said that he had not seen the paper until it came into his possession. After some further talk the incident dropped and the house took up the G. T. P. resolutions.

N. B. LEGISLATURE.

FREDERICTON, N. B., April 15.—

The house met at three o'clock this afternoon.

Mr. Ryan submitted the report of the committee on agriculture. The report recommended that the government distribute seed grain to the farmers of Carleton and Restigouche counties, and also to the farmers of the county of Miramichi, to the extent of last year by a hall store. Orchard cultivation was also recommended.

On motion of Mr. Grimmer, the bill to authorize the town council of St. Stephen to provide a system of water works was recommended and agreed to.

The house went into committee on the bill to incorporate the Baker Brook Mill and Boom Company. Mr. Clarke gave notice of motion that the dominion government should acquire the New Brunswick Southern Railway.

The house went into committee on the bill in reference to taxation in St. John.

The motion before the house was that of Hon. Mr. Pugh, that the report of the committee be not accepted, and that the bill be referred back to the committee. This motion was lost by the following vote:

Yeas—Hon. Messrs. Tweedie, Pugsley, Harris, Bligh, and others. Nays—Hon. Messrs. Borden, King, Ruddock, Tweedie, Pugh, Robertson, Flemming, Smith, Johnson, Young, Lantulum and Burgess—19.

Nays—Messrs. Hazen, Grimmer, Clarke, Glazier, Hart, Loggie, Morrison, Morrissey, McLaughlin, Jones, Whitehead, Copp, Scovill, Campbell, Burden, Goggin, Barnes, Ryan, Clair, Legere—20.

Mr. Clair said that he had voted nay by mistake. He had intended to vote ye.

After recess Premier Tweedie introduced a bill to amend the N. B. Elections Act.

The bill relating to the levying of rates and taxes in St. John was by motion re-submitted.

LOOKS PROMISING.

OTTAWA, April 15.—A meeting of Ottawa conservatives was held last night and was most enthusiastic. Men were there who have held aloof for some time. The situation here is akin to that in St. John at the recent election, and Ottawa is in line to return two conservative members when ever the government must put courage to appeal to the people.

I felt drowsy and miserable, and thought I would surely die if I did not get something to build me up. $1.50 FOR A DOG BITE.

BOSTON, Mass., April 15.—Mrs. J. L. Gardner must pay $1,582 damages to Mary Callahan, ten years old, who lives in Conant street, for the bite that an Irish terrier inflicted upon the girl's leg on January 11, 1903.

This is a jury verdict, returned before Judge Aiken this afternoon. The girl was seized by the Irish terrier in the hallway near Mrs. Gardner's veranda place.

The defence was that Mrs. Gardner was neither the owner, but the dog for his keeper, and that she had given it to George E. Proctor, a musician, as a birthday present. The latter testified that the dog belonged to him. He and his mother were making a visit on Mrs. Gardner, accompanied by the dog, at the time the girl alleged she was bitten. After the gift, he said, the dog had regular meals at the palace and had shelter there.

The defendant will take the case to the supreme court on exceptions to the ruling of a dog within the meaning of the law.
