The Comfort of Being a Boy

There is comfort to be a boy in the amount of work he can get rid of doing. It is something astonishing how slow he can go on an errand; perhaps, he couldn't explain to himself why, when he is sent to his neighbors for yeast, he stops to stone frogs. He is not exactly cruel, but he wants to see if he can't hit 'em. It is a curious fact about boys, that two will be a great deal slower about doing anything than one. Boys have a power of helping each other do nothing. But say what you will about the general usefulness of boys, a farm without a boy would soon come to grief. He is always in demand. In the first place he is to do all the errands, go to the store, post office, and carry all sorts of messages. He would like to have as many legs as a wheel has spokes, and rotate in the same way. This he sometimes tries to do, and people who have seen him "turning cart wheels" along the side of the road, have supposed he was amusing himself and biding his time. He is only trying to invent a new mode of locomotion, so he could economize his legs, and do his errands with greater dispatch. Leap-frog is one of the methods of getting over the ground quickly. He found a natural genius for combining pleasure with business.

Pain will depart in exactly 20 minutes if one of Dr. Shoop's Pink Pain Tablets is taken. Pain anywhere, remember! Pain always means congestion, blood pressure--nothing else. Headache is blood pressure; toothache is blood pressure on the sensitive nerve. Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets--also called Pink Pain Tablets--quickly and safely coax this blood pressure away from pain centers. Painful periods with women get instant relief. 20 Tablets 25c. Sold by All Dealers.

Sight Comes Back

Just Before Death
 Cincinnati, Ohio, June 19.--I can see Father, in heaven, I thank thee."
 The cry started the nurses of the Infirmary at the Masonic Home, at Board and Ontario Streets. It came from Hezekiah T. Bailey, who for five years had been totally blind, and had been an inmate of the Masonic Home since last June.

Sitting up in his narrow hospital bed, the old man, with an awed face described with delight the various articles in the room. One day he mentioned the chairs, the table and the medicine bottles in their methodical rows, and then, stretching out his arms to the window, he whispered over and over, "And God's blue sky over all. Oh, it is good! It is good!"

Although the old man had been ill from a complication of diseases for some time, his condition was not thought alarming, and with his restored sight he seemed to gain increased health and vitality. The doctors who came to him pronounced his sight perfect, and for two hours he sat up reading the papers with a zest born of five years of darkness and watched with unflinching delight and interest the passing of the clouds across the sky outside the window.

Then suddenly he turned to the nurse and said quietly, "I am very tired." Hardly had the words left his lips when he slipped back upon the pillows, and before the nurse could reach his side he was dead.

Two reasons are given for his death--one that the shock of his regained sight caused heart disease, and the other that the power to see was merely the final rally of a dying man.

The Perfection of Womanhood
 Who does not envy and admire a lovely woman? The secret of her loveliness, of her complexion, is health. She sleeps well, eats well, digests well--intricate all woman's remedies. Ferrone is the best; it vitalizes purest, richest blood, gives perfect complexion and lots of vigor. Every girl and woman who seeks health, vitality, looks--let her get Ferrone to-day. Fifty cent boxes at all dealers.

A Model Home

We wonder why there are no more homes that can safely be spoken of as models. It would seem as if those who pass their lives in the country,--whose daily occupation bring them in constant contact with the varied beauties of field and forest, mountain and plain,--who are constant witnesses of Nature's great mysteries,--would of necessity, be filled with noble thoughts; that their eyes would gather continual delight from the beauties about them; and their whole lives shape themselves in grander forms as a natural result of their surroundings. Yet it is undeniable true that in gathering up riches for the future,--which after all they may never behold,--they forget the claims of the present, and allow their souls to go less instead of greater. So it comes to pass that the children going out of these houses, and finding themselves, as they often may, in refined and polite society for a time, become dissatisfied with home, and seek a life that will give them the advantages which they suppose they cannot obtain in the country. Is it not folly to be so intent upon the things which perish with the using, as to forget higher aims? Is it not an evil when parents allow themselves to be so absorbed by cares that they neglect to instruct their children in the proprieties of every day life, to say nothing of the small sweet courtesies, the little acts of grace so fruitful of good? A brief notice of a model home points out the effects of a better way. Supplement what the children learn at school with reading lessons at home. Reading aloud is good, will improve the reading of the reader, and give information to members of the home circle who may be obliged to work with their hands in the evening.

Men Make Their Own World

One of the secrets of happiness is found in the habitual emphasis of pleasant things, and the persistent casting aside of all malign elements Men make their own world. We have read of a horticulturist who could not walk through a flower garden and see a rose bush covered with blossoms, without searching until he found one blighted leaf. There are men who cannot look upon a great picture without scrutinizing every inch of the canvas for some light or shade to criticize, and afterward they recall only the blemish. Yet there never was a tree so beautiful that it did not have one broken bough. There never was a book so wise but that it had one untruth or over-statement. Even Helen's brow held one little blemish. Scientists tell us there are spots on the sun.--Newell Dwight Hillis.

Do you know if you have the "tea eye"? Look in the mirror for the first indication of too much of the cheering cup. The New York Post Graduate Medical School states that a large proportion of patients who find their way to the eye clinics owe their trouble to the tea-pot, which always stands on the tenement house stove. Probably you only take tea occasionally, in which case the fear of the "tea eye" needn't worry you. Besides the tea doesn't go directly to the eyes. What actually happens is that persons who drink too much of it are improperly nourished, so that when a tiny cinder or speck of dust breaks through the feeble tissues here follow complications which call for the skill of the best surgeon. Excessive devotion to the cup "that goes not inebriate" causes a host of ailments, according to the Post Graduate Physicians. As a matter of fact it has its own inebriety, hardly less deadly than that of alcoholism. Thousands of children go to school improperly prepared for their work because they have access to the family teapot.
