AFTER TOMORROW FOREIGN VESSELS CANNOT TRADE FROM CANADIAN PORT TO ANOTHER

The shipping interests of Canada tomorrow will be the dawn of a new era of mercantile marine prosperity, for on that day the exclusion laws against foreign coastwise shipping become completely operative. During the past six months only foreign vessels of a gross tonnage above 1500 have been allowed to operate between Canadian ports, the lesser foreign registered craft having been excluded after Jan. 1. An order-in-council of last December, exempting the larger mentioned class from the restriction becomes inoperative on Thursday, and makes necessary the abandonment of a lucrative business by scores of Norwegian steamers, or a registry by them at some Canadian or British port. This law will not effect foreign vessels trading between Canadian and foreign ports, but will be effective in preventing foreign vessels from trading from one Canadian port to another. Some of the vessel owners here have made no change in the registration of their vessels and consequently as they are registered in the United States they will be subject to the law which goes into force tomorrow. Some Norwegian steamers which have during the past been trading between ports in New Brunswick and ports in Nova Scotia, will be prevented from a continuance of this trade while they remain under their present registration. Many Norwegian vessels have engaged in carrying coal from Sydney to St. John. Effects Felt Here. The effects of the partial operation of the embargo upon foreign coastwise shipping have already been favorably felt in the provinces. Idle bottoms have been resurrected from disuse and Canadian shipping engaged in traffic elsewhere has been attracted home, and most important for the salvation of Canada's mercantile prosperity, a number of new vessels, some larger and better than any Canadian predecessors are being built. Already the first steel ship ever built in the Maritime Provinces is in course of construction at Yarmouth. Only a decade ago Canada ranked fourth among the maritime nations of the world; today she is in tenth place. Instead of Canada, Norway now holds fourth place; Norway, which has several scores of steamers operating between Canadian ports, representing a total tonnage of tens of thousands. Norwegian Aroused Us. It was the inroads which the Norwegians made into Canadian coastwise commerce which first aroused the shipping circles to protective measures. But while the Norwegians were the most numerous represented among the foreign steamers in Canadian ports, there were also vessels flying the flags of Italy, Germany, the Netherlands, Sweden, Norway, Austria-Hungary, Belgium, the Argentine Republic and Japan. Most of these were steamers, and engaged chiefly in the transportation of coal and steel, while many had supplanted the schooners in the lumber carrying trade. With their steamers crossing the border to the United States to ship on American vessels, the Canadian captains began systematic efforts to remove the factors of the Canadian shipping depression. It was not possible entirely to exclude the foreign vessels from Canadian ports, but it was not believed unreasonable to prevent their further participation in the coastwise trade. So a memorial was drawn up, and the Government passed the desired restraining order, to take effect on January 1, 1909. Those behind the movement, however, had failed to provide for the fact that Canada could not in such a short time provide tonnage to equal that displaced, so a further Act was passed in December, suspending the early exclusion on steamers above 1500 tonnage. This last order lapses tomorrow.

THE KRINKLEDOWN BABY BLANKET A Light, Airy Covering Healthful and Daintily, Fluffily Beautiful. There is nothing more important to baby than its covering while asleep or while being wheeled in the carriage out of doors. For over a year it will need this covering practically all the time. It is a matter which affects both the health and comfort of the little one. The baby must be surrounded by warmth which, while not sufficient to bring on perspiration, will maintain a temperature completely agreeable and healthful to the child. This covering should keep out the drafts and at the same time permit some filtered air to reach the little one. Weight should not be considered an essential to warmth. Heavy cotton oppresses and is not sanitary. These requirements are actually and fully met by the wool Krinkledown Baby Blankets. Instead of weighing down the baby with heavy stifling wool and cotton or all cotton blankets, you can keep the baby comfortable and warm with a feathery-weight, double-faced Krinkledown Baby Blanket, each one weighs but 10 ounces, yet is as warm as two old style blankets. Made on the improved mesh system, these blankets are hygienically correct. The cold is kept out and there is perfect ventilation. Krinkledown Baby Blankets are 30 x 40 inches in size. Bound at the ends they come in Cream White, Baby Blue and Baby Pink. SEE OUR CHILDREN'S VESTS, LONG SLEEVES, LOW NECK, 2 for 25c. Price, each $2.25 Ladies' Room. LOCH LOMOND SUPPLY BACK AGAIN TODAY

The repairs to the concrete pipe in No. 2 section of the Loch Lomond water supply system, near Dry Lake, are gradually nearing completion. The work has been very difficult, due to the fact that the water had to be pumped out, before the operation could be begun. Although the water reached early all the sections of the city in the high levels, yet the pressure from the pump at Silver Falls was not sufficient to give those on the high levels the usual force of water. Nevertheless it cannot be denied that the Little River reservoir made an excellent emergency supply, for without this supply, and the assistance of the Silver Falls pump, the break would have occasioned considerable more difficulty than it did. The water and sewerage department announced last evening that the Loch Lomond supply would be again turned on this forenoon, and it is expected that after today, the public will have no more cause to worry about the water supply.

BACK FROM FISHING AT MATAPEDIA

Mr. W. H. Thorne and Mr. George McAvity returned yesterday from Matapedia where they spent a fortnight fishing. Others who were fishing in the same waters were Senator Forget, his three daughters and his son-in-law, Waldo Skinner, barrister of Montreal, son of Recorder C. N. Skinner, of this city. Mr. Thorne says that the first week was rather broken weather, but they had a fishing last week, and it is likely to be still better this week. Sir Thomas Shaughnessy was expected to join Senator Forget in a few days.

LEAGUE MAY NOT CONTINUE TO EXIST

The inter-society league game between St. Peter's and St. Joseph's scheduled to take place last evening, was not pulled off, and it is now a question for immediate decision as to whether or not the league will continue in existence. How Trouble Arose. As stated in yesterday's Standard, the trouble arose over the use of Rogers as catcher by the St. Joseph's team. St. Peter's claimed the benefit of the provision in the league constitution which provides that no player shall figure with more than two teams during a season. Rogers having become disgruntled over his treatment by the St. Peter's, and appeared a few evenings ago in a St. Joseph's uniform when that team was playing against the F. A. O. H. Vote Was Taken. St. Peter's never consented to the desertion of Rogers, and when a meeting of the league was held on Monday evening, a vote was taken as to whether or not he should be allowed to continue with St. Joseph's. Four members of the executive voted to allow him, and an equal number voted against giving him the liberty. As a two-thirds vote is necessary under the constitution, the result was unfavorable to allowing Rogers to make the change. Went To The Field. St. Joseph's went to the field in uniform last evening and after electing Gilson as umpire, lined up and claimed the game. Their pitcher was faced by the St. Peter's mascot, a diminutive figure in complete uniform, who swung on the ball with a piece of a slab. St. Peter's claim that as there is no official umpire in connection with the league, the game could not be legally awarded to St. Joseph's. A meeting of the league is to be held today to decide as to Dominion Day games, and as to whether or not the league will be continued. St. Peter's now need only one more victory over St. Joseph's to place them presently in the position of league leaders.

TOURISTS COMING IN LARGE NUMBERS

The tourist season will soon be at its height. July 4 usually marks the beginning of the exodus of Americans from the heated cities of the United States to the cool shores and vales of the Maritime Provinces. Independence day comes next Sunday, so that big influx of tourists will begin next week. So far tourist travel has been light. Yesterday, so the hotels report, was the first this season on which there was a noticeable increase in tourist travel. The Boston boat, which arrived here yesterday morning, had a large passenger list. Many of these stayed in the city, but the majority passed through to other points in the Maritime Provinces. As usual several large specially conducted tourist parties will visit the city during the summer months. Up to the present time the ordinary travel has kept remarkably well.

INSPECTED THE BARS LAST EVENING

Last evening the Liquor License Commissioners accompanied by Inspector Jones made a tour of inspection which took in all the hotel bars of the city. Inspections of this kind are to be made regularly in the future. No hotels are to be reported as a result of last night's inspection. In some cases it was found that the arrangements of the bars were not in exact accordance with the regulations of the License Act but the proprietors when their attention was called to the matter promised to make the necessary alterations at once.

WOULD LIKE TO SETTLE IN THIS PROVINCE

Mr. A. B. Wilmot, of the Provincial Immigration Department, received by the last mail from England, a letter from a farmer who desires to settle in this province. He has a few hundred pounds to invest and would like to purchase a farm. This correspondent remarks that the Eastern Provinces of Canada are not much known in Great Britain, but a newspaper reached him containing some account of what Mr. Wilmot was doing, and he was thus prompted to write for further particulars.
