Editor's Talk

IT is a most satisfying sensation to feel that any extra effort on our part to secure the best material for our readers is met with no small degree of appreciation generally. Last week's Industrial Number created so favourable an impression that we feel encouraged to make each issue hereafter a "special." This week we have secured features of more than ordinary interest.

THE illustration and news features are of timely concern. Lord Charles Beresford, Lord Strathcona and Mr. James J. Hill have all been in Canada during the past few days. Their doings are chronicled in the picture pages of the Canadian Courier. Even Lord Beresford himself will be glad to see what the "ancient colony," Newfoundland, is doing for the Imperial Navy as recorded in both picture and story in this issue. Our story for the week is by the well-known author, Mr. W. A. Fraser, and that fact in itself is sufficient recommendation. We have been fortunate enough to secure two racing stories by this gentleman, which we shall hold in reserve, awaiting an appropriate season for their publication.

THE summer season is over. Summer sports will soon be succeeded by the varied activities of autumn. We expect to make the pages of the Canadian Courier reflect every important feature of interest. Next week we will have a unique half-page photograph and article on "The Quilting Bee," besides pictures at the National Exhibition and Bonnycastle Dale's illustrated story on the "Whales of the Pacific."
