

and shall eat your flesh as it were fire. Ye have heaped treasure together for the last days. * * * Ye have lived in pleasure on the earth, and been wanton [wanton in the display of luxury, while multitudes starved]: ye have nourished your hearts as in a day of slaughter."—James 5:1-3, 5.

The Word of God foretells that the people will break loose like the raging waves of the sea; breaking over old landmarks and rising in their strength, carrying everywhere disaster and dismay, they will seek to overturn and destroy all established things.

Surely that movement is here.

To-day there are between thirty and forty millions of socialists, who are determined, in final consent, to break down, in one fashion or another, the present order of society. They look upon property as a crime and the landed proprietor as a robber. They consider the man of wealth as, in the French Revolution the mob looked upon the titled lord with his wide domain and privileges of birth, a tyrant, an usurper, an excrescence, and an imposition no longer to be tolerated.

Socialists constitute an all-embracing brotherhood. They repudiate the idea of nationality and patriotism. Nationality to them is simply the agency and instrumentality for the few, the subsidized implement of wealth, the bludgeon with which the individual is to be smitten to the ground that the few may con-
