

PREFACE.

This little book is published to serve as a souvenir for all those who, at one time or another, have been on the strength of the 6th Battery, C. F. A. in France. It leaves the experiences through which the battery has passed and the incidents in the lives of its individuals to the memory — which will never fade — of those concerned, and to the imagination of others who can read between the lines.

The spirit of the gunners, which through sunshine or shadow never failed, the work of the drivers on shell-swept roads through mud and rain without complaint, the intrepid courage of the signallers, — have been outstanding and resplendent.

Many members of the 6th now rest on the field of honour. Around their names is built the history which is the glory of the battery. The memory of their lives and deeds, now always on the lips of those they have left behind, will be carried back to become a creed about the hearth and home. They are not dead but live in immortality.
