The London Globe, the Government organ, winds up a long article, chiefly in reply to the views of the London Times, as follows:—"A The case, therefore, is not simply as the Times would have it supposed by its readers, between an Independent Republic on the one hand, and Palmerston on the other: there are in fact 3 or 4 to 1 little Powers in the field, all anxious to get their cause capoused by some real Power. We would, for our part, desire nothing better than to see effectually guaranteed the new Territory of the track through which, in all probability, will plans the future high-way between the Hemispheres; but we see no conductveness towards that, in yielding to all American assumptions, and ignoring all British antecedents."

THE MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS.

When a body of men, such as the Annexation-ists, set out with a few practical and intelligible principles of government which appeal to the understandings of all classes, it need cause no surprise that their ranks should be daily swelled those who yield to their convictions.

by those who yield to their convictions.

Writers at a distance, whether they hall from the United States or England, were at first disposed to view the movement as an electioneering nœuvre, or a temporary trap set by a few designing men to catch stray votes at an election. Time, discussion, and political controversy have removed the veil, and the Metropolitan Press of England, and the Republic, have taken up the subject, as one which may call for an earlier solution than they anticipated.

It can occasion no surprise, that as this agitation has progressed, invading the rural districts, and rousing the yeomen of Canada, to a consideration of their position, and an expression of their feelings, adding each mail the names of Counties, Villages, and Towns, which have given in running with the hare;" men who, in personal conference, profess enthusiastic attachment to the Montreal enjoys certain municipal privileges, amongst others the right of electing its own Corporation. Here, then, the battle must be first and earliest fought; and it becomes the duty of all Annexationists to provide that those who seek admission into the Municipal body, should openly declare their opinious upon the question of Annexation.
