

DON'T OFFEND THE COMMISSIONER.

Sour Dough Tells What it May Cost You to "Rile" Recorder Fawcett.

An Old Timer Tells a Friend of an Actual Occurrence on a New Creek and Enjoins Him to Silence.

The conversation between Messrs. C. Chaco and S. Dough reported in our last regular issue was continued in a short walk along the water front. "What is that great crowd at that log building near the stockade?" asked the new arrival who was not yet onto Dawson ways.

"That is the gold commissioner's office," said Mr. Sour Dough. "But I don't see many of them getting in to transact any business," was the wondering remark of Chee Chaco.

"Whist!" replied Sour, putting his finger to his lips in token of silence. "You may want to get in there yourself some day. I guess I'll give you a pointer right here; but for lands sake don't talk so loud. You see, —"

Chee broke in with "What's the use of all this myste-y? At a we under a free flag?" "Ce-ah-ni-ve-ah-ni!" he tedly replied Sour with bated breath; "but whatever you do don't get the gold commissioner down on you. If you ever get the reputation of being what he calls a 'kicker,' you may have reason to wish the whole blooming country to the 'demnition bow-wows' like Mr. Mantaline."

"Does he ever do —?" "If you'll come out here into the woods I will tell you of a case in illustration," and Mr. Sour Dough led the way across lots to the edge of town. Reaching a point behind some bushes and partly concealed by a cache he looked carefully around to see if anyone was listening.

They found good prospects and staked off a discovery and two more claims, making them Nos. 1, 2 and 3. They hurried in to record because people were recording right over the heads of the genuine prospectors. The weather was bad, you know, and the trip was, I think, over 50 miles; and after several days in line they got up to the recorder's desk.

"Well, what do you want?" said the gold commissioner. They told him of the new creek, and he said: "Can't you come in again? I'm very busy, and I don't think you've prospected the creek much anyhow."

more worthy of public generosity than the hospital under Father Judge's kind and able administration.

ANNIHILATION!!

Continued from First Page. of the three greatest war ships of the Spanish navy which were soon to be reduced to nothing but shattered masts and twisted smokestacks protruding above the water similar to that other picture in Havana harbor. It was not strange, therefore, that he said to those beside him, "The Maine is avenged!"

Just then the Pluton and Furor sank. The Gloucester's boat picked up many of the survivors on shore as she could find. The prisoners of war included the captains of both boats. None offered resistance and were glad to go to the Gloucester, as they feared being attacked by Germans.

The handsome s.e.m.boat Hamilton was met by the Mousch about a day's travel from the mouth of the river. Full passengers were not obtainable but saw was seen to be badly broken in two. In s.e.m.boat parlance "her back was broke." Her engines were dead and ropes and chains had been passed over and under her.

More Aid for the Hospital.

Another neat sum has recently been contributed to the aid of the hospital. This time the assistance came through the efforts of a lady, Mrs. Robert Cahill. Mrs. Cahill donated a handsome solid gold watch to be raffled for the benefit of the hospital. She also undertook the sale of tickets and succeeded in selling 102 at $5.00 each.

The drawing took place at the A. C. Co.'s store. The lucky number 59 was held by Mr. H. H. Pagon and that gentleman is now the proud possessor of a fine gold watch at a total cost of $5.00. While Father Judge finds his pathway made a little easier by the contribution of $50 to the hospital funds, Mrs. Cahill has the satisfaction of knowing that her generosity and labor have resulted in giving aid to a most worthy cause and the gentlemen who bought tickets but failed to secure the watch find ample consolation in a similar reflection. It is to the credit of Dawson's citizens that a ready response is always made to calls for such purposes, and there is no institution in the city
