G. H. LOCKE APPOINTED.

Becomes Dean of the Faculty of Education In Macdonald College.

Toronto, Feb. 16.—George H. Locke, M.A., B. Paed., has been appointed dean of the faculty of education in the Macdonald College, Guelph, and professor of the history and principles of education.

Prof. Locke is a Genedian by the control of the co professor of the history and principles of education.

Prof. Locke is a Canadian by birth, and graduated a B.A., with honors in classics, from Toronto University in 1893. He spent some time at Harvard as an instructor, during which time he organized special advanced systems of practice teaching in connection with the Department of Education. He was also associated with the University of Chicago for six years. In 1906 he joined the publishing house of Ginn & Co., and became the head of their editorial department. This important position he resigned to take the one offered by Madonald College of McGill University. Prof. Locke is a member of nearly every prominent educational and scientific association in Canada and the United States.

Judge Clement of B. C. Mr. W. H. P. Clement, who has recently been made Justice of the Supreme Court of British Columbia, has preme Court of British Columbia, has won for himself a reputation as a jurist and as a historian. Born at Vienna, Ont., in 1858, and educated at Upper Canada College and Toronto University, he obtained his LL.B. degree in 1881, and practiced for seven years as a member of the firm of Mo-Corthy, Coles Habits and Carth. years as a member of the firm of Mo-Carthy, Osler, Woskin and Creelman. Then for a number of years he was head of the firm of Clement & Spence, and was recognized as one of the most successful members of the junior Bar in Toronto. In 1894 Mr. Clement went west, and drifted to the Yukon, where he engaged in mining. A short time at that occupation sufficed, and a few years later the young lawyer was down south again working up a fine practice in Nelson. This he retained until elevated to the Bench. While in Toronto Mr. Clement con-tributed numerous articles on consti-

While in Toronto Mr. Clement contributed numerous articles on constitutional subjects to The Week, and also published his "Law of the Canadian Constitution," a work which has been recognized as standard. In 1896 his "History of Canada" won the prize offered by the educational authorities of the various provinces for a school history of the Dominion. It has since been authorized for use in the higher grades by most of the Provincial Education Boards.

Dividing a Journey.

An Englishman was sent out on a journey to take a parcel to a place about twelve miles from Maldon, Essex, a little town near the coast. As he started rather late in the day his master was surprised to see him back soon after dark. "You surely haven't been there and back," his employer said to him. "No, no, master." the man replied; "I got halfway theer, and it began to git dark, so I com'd back ag'in. I'll goo t'other half termorrer."

SALARIES OF CLERGYMEN

Halifax Chronicle Says They Are Starving Good Men Down by Sea.

It has to be admitted that in our provinces to-day, here by the sea, many churches are simply starving their preachers to death. At the same time, these congregations, and they are to be found in towns as well as in the country, demand all the excellencies of earth and heaven in their ministers. A story is told of a college professor, who received a letter from a congregation wanting a minister. "The people," this letter declared, "want a man of first class endowments. They want a literary preacher, for some of the people are literary. They want a minister who will visit a good deal, for the last one they had was deficient in this. They want a man of winsome and fascinating social personality, for the people thing a good deal of that. They want a good organizer as well as a fine corator." After going on in this It has to be admitted that in our people thing a good deal of that. They want a good organizer as well as a fine orator." After going on in this way of describing the kind of minister they wanted, the letter ended: "We have been paying our last minister $350 a year, but if you can get us the kind we want, we will try to raise the salary to $400 a year."

The professor wrote in answer: "Your letter received and contents carefully noted. I know of one man who will just suit you, if you can get him. Make out a call to the Rev. Saul Paul of Tarsus, late missionary, to Asia and Europe, who is now in Heaven. He is the only being I know who will suit you and meet all your who will suit you and meet all your requirements. And as Rev. Saul Paul has been living so long in Heaven on spiritual food, perhaps he may not need any material food, and could therefore easily exist on your salary therefore easily exist on your salary of $400 per year."

Nova Scotia has a body of preachers in the different denominations who, in point of character and ability, are second to none anywhere. They are working under a burden of poverty. They are crippled by it. If they are to count for their best in the sociological and religious life of our land, their remuneration ought to be increased in some way. Either let their churches give them the right to add to their maintenance by their own exertions, or let the increased emolument that has come in other departments of work be recognized as something legitimate for the churches to practice.

Honest Indians.

Honest Indians.

Many curious instances of the manner in which the honesty of the Indians manifests itself are cited in the north country of the Canadian Northwest. One of the tales is of a native who, desiring food and tobacco and blankets, broke into the store of a remote trading post which had been locked and abandoned for a few weeks while the white man in charge transacted business elsewhere. The Indian suppled his needs and he left pelts in payment for what he took, and months later he came back to ascertain if he had left enough.

One Indian found a post closed when he went to it to dispose of his skins. Being unwilling to wait, he forcibly entered and left his pack, but nothing with it to indicate his identity. Then he retired, fastening the door as best he could, and not until a year later did he return. When he walked into the post and told his story the price of the skins was handed to him without question. The accounts of the white man had been carefully kept, and he was certain that no claim but a just one would be made.

An unusual degree of confidence is that no claim but a just the better that no claim but a just the half breeds, who are lieutenants of the white traders. In Edmonton I saw a trader give one of his half-breed employes $1,250 to be taken to a distant post, and there distributed as wages to others. The two shook hands and parted., not to meet for a year, and the white man said he was sure not a cent of the money would fail to reach its rightful destination.

In the Town of Edmonton itself

In the Town of Edmonton itself honesty seems to vie with hospitality for the credit of being the most prominent trait of the citizens. Scores of thousands of dollars' worth of furs are stored there in warehouses, which are seldom or never locked or guarded. Only the most valuable pelts are put under lock and key, and then the purpose is more to protect them from accidental damage than from possible theft.

Providence, Rhode Island, Feb. 16.

—Eighty-seven persons who are known to have been on the steamer were still missing, or unidentified, when the work of claiming bodies was resumed yesterday, and it is now practically certain that the Larchmont carried out with her on that fatal Monday night 159 souls.

Captain Defended.

New York, Feb. 16.—Stories of mistreatment and desertion of passengers on the ill-fated steamer Larchmont by officers and crew were vigorously denied by the officers of the steamer Kentucky. Purser Edward Bodmer declared that several of the rescued passengers praised Capt. McVey's conduct. One of the women passengers explained that the reason the captain's boat was the first to leave the Larchmont was because the steamer had listed so badly that unless the boat left at the time it did it would have been swamped.

THE IDEAL WIFE

Shapes the Destiny of Men-The Influence of a Healthy Woman Cannot Be Overestimated.

Seven-eighths of the men in this world marry a woman because she is beautiful in their eyesbecause she has the qualities which inspire admiration, respect and love.

There is a beauty in health which is more attractive to men than mere regularity of feature. The influence of women glorious in the possession of perfect physical health upon men and upon the civilization of the world could never be measured. Because of them men have attained the very heights of ambition; because of them even thrones have been established and destroyed.

What a disappointment then, to see the fair young wife's beauty fading away before a year passes over her head! A sickly, half-dead-and-alive woman, especially when she is the mother of a family, is a damper to all joyousness in the home, and a drag upon her husband.

mess in the home, and a drag upon her husband.

The cost of a wife's constant illness is a serious drain upon the funds of a household, and too often all the doctoring does no good.

If a woman finds her energies are flagging, and that everything tires her, dark shadows appear under her eyes, her sleep is disturbed by horrible dreams; if she has backache, headaches, bearing-down pains, nervousness, or despondency, she should take means to build her system up at once by a tonic with specific powers, such as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

This great remedy for women has done more in the way of restoring health to the women of America than all other medicines put together. It is the safeguard of woman's health.
