DAUGHTER WAS WEAK AND NERVOUS

Mother Gave Her Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound with Happy Results

Cobourg, Ontario.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended to me by my daughter. She has had every month which left her in a weak and nervous condition with back and pain in her right side. She had these troubles for three years and frequently was unable to attend school. She has become regular and feels much better since she began taking the Vegetable Compound a trial. It is prepared from roots and herbs, and can be taken in safety by young or old. It has been used nearly fifty years, and many, many women owe their good health today to the timely use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

Grocery Business Looks Brighter Than For Some Months

Conditions generally in the grocery business are much brighter than they have been for some time, due no doubt to the increased activities in various industries. Prices on the New York sugar market have shown three advances since the present scale has been quoted here, and merchants on this side of the line are looking forward to higher prices at any time.

Several important changes have occurred this week in the wholesale grocery lines. Molasses jumped five cents, and is now quoted at 60c, a gallon. Cornmeal has also shown an advance, the granulated variety selling for $2.90, an increase of 15c; while it has jumped five cents per bag Manitoba flour fell 40c this week rolled oats advanced 25c; and cheese took a slump of two cents.

In wholesale fruits, California lemons increased $1.00; Messina lemons advanced $1.00. The price of Bermuda onions took a slight decline. A few minor changes occurred in the retail green goods market and pineapples have made their appearance, selling for 30c and 35c.

Other wise, prices in other lines have remained firm during the week.

SAYS WORD IS MISPLACED

Writer Criticizes the Too-Frequent Employment of Phrase, "The Psychological Moment."

A correspondent of the London Times sternly scolds all who are so slipshod in their speech as to employ that most useful of phrases, "the psychological moment," says the Living Age. Asserting that by no possible distortion of the English language can it legitimately be forced into its current meaning of "the proper, or fitting, moment," he proceeds to give a history of the phrase which is vastly more interesting than his diatribe against its users.

"The psychological moment" is an English translation of the French le moment psychologique, which is, in its turn, a mistranslation of the German das psychologische moment, which was used in the Neue Preussische Zeitung in December, 1870, when the bombardment of Paris was about to begin. The German writer said: "The psychological moment (das psychologische moment) must be allowed to play a prominent part, for without its co-operation there is little to be hoped from the work of the artillery." Confusing the neuter German word das moment (which means "momentum," and, as here used, a dynamic part of the human mind urging it to action), with the masculine der moment (which means moment in its ordinary English sense) the French translated it le moment psychologique, and with derivative gaiety incorporated it into the slang of the hour.

The French writer Francisque Sarcey, in his "Diary of the Siege of Paris," tells how the beleaguered Parisians pluckily made game of their enemy's phrase:

"You know how we laugh over that 'psychological moment.' The word has become all the rage. . . . Everybody says, 'I'm hungry. The psychological moment for sitting down to dinner has arrived.' When the first ball fell in the streets of Paris, everybody cried laughingly, 'Tiens! They must think the psychological moment has arrived!'"

The facts are vouched for by the new English dictionary, but for all the lexicographers may say, "the psychological moment" is too firmly fixed in the usage to be withdrawn readily.

Indians Doing Well.
Liberty bond subscriptions by Indians of the World war, running into the millions of dollars, first awakened the public to the importance of the race as a business factor. A glance at their income returns is enlightening.

In Oklahoma about 116,000 Indians received during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1920 (the latest data available), incomes aggregating more than $39,000,000. In North Dakota 9,000 received more than $1,500,000; in Utah more than 1,000 received nearly $2,500,000; and in South Dakota 32,000 received about $4,338,333. The total income of the race was $72,806,431 that year, and since then has greatly increased.

Many of those, not rich through oil, are busy with basket weaving, pottery and other native pursuits; but they make good farmers, too, and about 50,000 of them are thus engaged. The crop raised, for instance, in Oklahoma and in South Dakota each amounted to substantially more than $1,000,000. The total value of Indian crops was nearly $37,000,000 in the year named.—The Nation's Business.

Snowflake Is Really Transparent.

The reflection of the sunlight on the snowflake crystals is what gives them the appearance of being white. Snow is simply water turned into crystals by the low temperature. The flake itself is transparent, as is water, but because of its crystal formation the snowflake is only partially transparent, the facets of the crystal reflecting the light and giving the whole flake a white appearance.
If the light reflected by the snow crystal is red or green the snowflake will take on the same appearance. When millions of snowflakes are combined in one mass on the ground their ability to reflect the light is increased and in this way a snow bank appears even more white than would one isolated snowflake.—Cleveland News-Leader.

Austrian Confusion.

One of the stories told to illustrate the confused diplomatic situation in central Europe is attributed to Prince Furstenburg. He was appointed as a diplomatic representative of the old Austrian government to the Ukraine, which then was ruled by Hetman Skorpadsky. Describing his diplomatic status to friends in Kiev, the prince said: "I am the representative of a government that has ceased to exist and accredited to one that never existed. The most extraordinary part of it is that I am paid for performing the duties of this position that I do not hold."

Just a Little Too Much.

Mr. Featherly weighs over two hundred pounds and is sensitive about it. He was calling on a friend the other evening when she said, naively: "Oh, Mr. Featherly, would you just as soon sit in this easy chair as in that rocker?"
"Certainly," replied Featherly, as he changed from one chair to the other. "Oh, thanks," she murmured; "you are very kind. I have a book full of fern leaves under the cushion of that easy chair, and you—"
"Good-night," said Featherly, stiffly, as he walked away, never to return.
