

HUNDREDS BURNT OR TRAMPLED TO DEATH IN HUNGARY SUNDAY.

Special to Evening Telegram.
MATE SZALKAI,
Hungary, March 28.

The village of Okerit and the adjacent districts have been thrown into mourning by the terrible disaster which occurred at the former place last night and which resulted in the death of between three and four hundred persons, and the serious injury of one hundred others. A public ball was held at the hotel of the village, and the coach house had been fitted as a ball room. It was a great barn-like structure decorated with dry branches to which were added for the occasion, other decorations and Chinese lanterns. The building was so packed, just before the ball commenced, that the single door which afforded entrance and exit was nailed up to prevent the admittance of scores outside. While the dancing was in full swing a pine branch caught fire, and fell to the floor, it blazed furiously, and almost instantly the dresses of several of the women were in flames. A dreadful panic ensued, the revellers losing their heads completely, women and men fell and were trampled under foot. Those in front vainly endeavoured to tear open the door but were crushed helplessly by the pressure of the crowd behind.

Roosevelt Denounces Assassination.

Special to Evening Telegram.
CAIRO, Egypt, March 28.

Colonel Roosevelt delivered an address before the students of the University of Egypt to-day. He was cordially received, and at the conclusion of his remarks there was much applause. Mr. Roosevelt upon entering the hall of the University found it crowded by officers, students and women. Prince Amid Poudar, President of the University and an uncle of the Khedive, introduced Mr. Roosevelt with a brief speech in French. Responding to the welcome Mr. Roosevelt expressed his thanks, but said his address was intended only for the students of the University. As a man who spoke frequently, he warned his auditors to have nothing to do with the man who did not make good his works by acts. The speaker referred to the assassination by a student last month of Boutros Pasha Ghali, Prime Minister, as a calamity to Egypt, and his denunciation of the assassin was received with great applause.

IS YOUR FOREHEAD PIMPLY.

Hard red lumps and pimples on the neck and face render many young people very unsightly. If not almost repulsive. This condition is so speedily cured by Dr. Hamilton's Ointment that thousands use it. This healing, purifying skin balm has penetrating qualities that enable it to reach the very root of the trouble, and by at once destroying the cause of the irritation, by restoring natural activity to the glands, the skin speedily becomes healthy. For a clean soft tinted skin, anoint frequently with Dr. Hamilton's Ointment. 50c. at all dealers.

Phoned the Police.

Yesterday afternoon residents of the Thorburn Road found a man lying in a bad state they feared he would perish if left there, and telephoned the police. Head Sparrow and an attendant were sent to the place and found the redoubtable John Quinn who had only been released from the Penitentiary yesterday, gloriously intoxicated. Securing a cab they drove him to the police station.

ATTRACTIVE FUNCTION.

The Opening of the New Armoury for the C. L. B.

The C. L. B. new Armoury was opened last night with great eclat. Long before the hour of opening the street in front of the building was thronged. Hundreds were obliged to return home not being able to gain admittance. It is estimated that there were over 4,000 in the hall.

After the band had played Hayden's "Creation" the Lord Bishop dedicated the hall for the C. L. B. and then pronounced the Benediction. "Fight the Good Fight," the Brigade hymn, was then sung by the audience and played by the band. His Excellency Governor Williams then formally opened the hall. In his address he referred to the fact that though Newfoundland had as yet no recognized body of volunteers, yet the forming up of the Boys' Brigades would be an important step in this direction. It was the boy that made the man, and he hoped that the lessons learned in youthful days would not be forgotten.

The early training given boys in Brigades would result in more lively patriotism and love for the Empire which was the greatest that the Almighty ever permitted to exist. True the greater portion of the Empire was separated by the seas. This should make us more loyal, as loyalty can proliferate distance. He hoped that very possible effort for the defence of the Empire would be made, not that he expected war but that love of Empire would prevail. His Excellency then declared the Armoury opened, and expressed the hope that the Newfoundland Volunteers would be the next movement. Cheers were then given for His Excellency. The band having played an appropriate air, after which Lieut.-Col. Rendell delivered an address on the finances of the Brigade. When the building was commenced the Brigade had $7,000 on hand. The entire cost of the Armoury when finished would be about $16,000. The intended cost was first set down at $13,500. It was believed that about $2,500 would be required. A sum of $1,500 had been already collected and the debt now may be set down at about $7,500. He referred to the fact that this money had not been begged for but that full value had been given for the money.

Receipts were as follows:— Ladies' Bazaar $3,100
Warrant and N. Co.'s 1,200
Children's Bazaar 650
Theatricals 530
Ladies' Teas 900

The balance had been made up by receipts of concerts given by Miss bright and her pupils. Besides a large amount of free labour had been given by Messrs. Davey Bros., Mr. Hall and ex-C. L. B. members. Mr. Rendell referred to the great advantage the hall would be to the working boys who would get every chance for exercise and recreation. On behalf of the Brigade he expressed his thanks to the British Government for the gift of 1,000 rifles, and to Sir Edward Morris who although pressed with affairs of State found time to attend to the interest of the Brigade. He thanked His Excellency the Governor for his able speech and his great kindness in coming to open the Armoury.

Several marches were given by the Brigade Band during the collection, after which the National Anthem was played.

The Armoury is a fine building and a great credit to all concerned. A detailed description of it has already appeared in the Telegram.

Two hundred and twenty-five persons perished by shipwreck and 93 vessels met with disaster off New England and the North American coasts during the year ending March 21st, 1910.

LADY NEE GAIRA.

Mr. Editor.—I read with much interest the very romantic and entertaining account given by Mr. Shortis of the genealogy of the first white child born in Newfoundland. When I say romantic, I would wish it to be understood at once that I do not mean in any way to cast a doubt on the authenticity or historical accuracy of the account. I merely mean to imply that the tale is so enchanting as to read like a romance. But we all know that sometimes fact is stranger than fiction.

I would like at present to call attention to a slight inaccuracy of the spelling of the name given to the young Irish Colleen who was captured and became the first white mother in Newfoundland. Instead of Sheela Magaleha, as Mr. Shortis gives it, it should be Sheela nee Gaira.

The name is an allegorical fantastic one given (by a poetic figure of speech called prosopopeia) to the idea Ireland. In other words, the bard and poets of Ireland during the time of persecution symbolized their country as a forlorn female endowed with every grace and charm, but generally bound in chains and weeping. This besides giving themselves scope for poetic imagination, the songs also would be considered as rebellious or seditious meanings, and so they were able to sing with safety in times of war and persecution, being apparently merely love songs, but in reality expressions of loyalty to country, and patriotism, which of course if understood by the oppressor, would be construed into disloyalty and disaffection. Other allegorical names for Ireland were: Mo Rosheen Dh (My little black Rose) or Dark Rosaleen, The Blackbird, etc. This latter name was applied in Scotland to Charles Edward the first Pretender.

Moore has wedded the sweet air of Sheela na (or ni) Gaira to his immortal words:

"Oh had we some bright little lark of our own." The original Irish words however were written by the famous Munster poet, Thady O'Sullivan, or Thighe na Gaellea (Irish Jim).

The English translation begins as follows:—

Alone as I wandered in sad meditation
And pondered my sorrows and soul's desolation,
A beautiful vision, a maiden drew near me,
An angel she seemed sent from Heaven to cheer me.

A Handsome Yacht.

Mr. Robert Sexton, the well-known boat builder, yesterday finished a splendid yacht, and last night brought her to the King's wharf. She was built during the winter in a shed at the rear of his residence, Hayward Avenue, is a very pretty model, and was much admired by nautical men who saw her. Mr. Sexton will now set to work to build the new race boat which has been ordered by the Methodist Guards and which will be rowed in the coming Regatta.

Complained to Police.

Last night a man named Oliver of James Street came to the police station and complained to Supt. Grimes that owing to the annoyance of a neighbor his wife was in a serious condition, had taken several epileptic fits and he feared she would die. Head Sparrow was sent to investigate the matter.

The U. S. Steel Corporation paid $150,000,000 in wages in 1909.

A Brave Act.

Papers from Newfoundland convey intelligence of a splendid act of real heroism, performed by Rev. Father Stephen O'Driscoll, P.P. of St. Mary's N. F. In front of Father O'Driscoll's residence, and separated from it by a sloping lawn, there is a lake or pond, at the present partly covered with a treacherous surface of ice. A few days ago a couple of boys fell through the ice. One of them sank, but the other was rescued by Father O'Driscoll, who without a moment's doubt dashed across the bad ice and boldly drew the youth to a place of safety. Any one who knows the dangers of weak ice on a deep lake, and the desperate nature of such a rescue will see in Father O'Driscoll's dauntless efforts and success an act of genuine heroism. This brave clergyman is a brother to the late Father Michael O'Driscoll, of Southern Shore, N.F., a man who for many years in conjunction with Father Nicholas Roche worked with Apostolic zeal for the advancement of temperance and the best interests of that section of the country.—The New Freeman, N. B.

Acker Vaudeville Co.

"St. John's is indeed the liveliest and prettiest little city I have visited in years," remarked Mr. West, the business representative of the Acker Vaudeville Company, coming to the Star Hall Thursday night. Mr. West and wife (Catherine Henry) have been here over a week. They will play in the show presenting "Taming a Husband." Both are well known in the dramatic world, but recently Mr. West decided to give up acting and enter into several theatrical investments with Mr. Acker; but during the engagement of the Company at the Star Mr. and Mrs. West will act again. It is likely Mr. West will take the managerial end of the Vaudeville Theatre Mr. Acker intends to place in St. John's.

M. C. I. L. meets on Wednesday, 30th March, at 7.45 in Institute Room, Methodist College Hall. LAI'D UP FIVE YEARS

Until Half a Bottle of Father Morrissy's Liniment Cured His Shoulder.

Mr. Jos. J. Roy, a prominent tinmith of Bathurst, N.B., July 16, 1909: "I cannot let this opportunity pass without letting you know what benefit I received from your Liniment. For five years I had a sore shoulder, which prevented me from working or from sleeping at night. I had tried everything possible and still could find no relief until I was advised to try a bottle of your liniment, which I purchased without delay. I only used one-half of the bottle when I was completely cured, and now I feel as if I never had a sore shoulder. I would advise anyone suffering from Rheumatic pains to give your liniment a trial, for I cannot praise it too highly."

A liniment that will do that is the liniment you want. It is equally good for sore throat or chest, backache, toothache, earache, sprains, sore muscles, cuts, bruises, burns, frost-bites, chapped hands or chilblains. Rub it in, and the pain comes out. 25c. per bottle at your dealer's, or from Father Morrissy's Medicine Co. Ltd., Chatham, N.B. 64
