Holiday Notes for 1910.

I. C. MORRIS.
Chapter VII.—A Pathetic Incident at Brigus Junction.

The surroundings at Brigus Station present a very beautiful picture to the lover of Nature, and especially is this the case on a fine morning late in June. The poet Cowper says in one of his odes,

"God made the country and man the city.

Which therefore should be best?"

For health and vitality, and for man's truer development, the country affords the better chance. The crowded cities are contrary to the well-being and constitution of man, and the problem which the conditions of the city's denizens offer can never be solved without a change—a change back to Nature. When this step is taken, and not till then, will disease and wrong, both moral, physical and intellectual be defeated.

But we must not begin to moralize just here, as our notes are mostly intended in an incidental way, and therefore we will resume our journey. Leaving Brigus we were soon speeding our way to the Junction, where we found the express in waiting. This meant a short stay, and therefore a most opportune opportunity of gleaning anything for our notes. But there was one incident that moved us to a serious thought or two, and which for a moment awakened memories of a full generation ago. At our last stop at Brigus we chanced to meet the victim of an accident, who was being sent to his home in Western Bay. He deceased, of her manly husband, and the associations of Harbor Grace in its palmy days, all crowded upon us, as for a moment we stood by the side of our dead sister.

There is a pathos about the death of Mrs. Paterson that is well worth repeating, and which lifts the veil from the privacy of the home, and reveals it in one of its most beautiful aspects. Death came to her unexpectedly, but the time and place were both opportune. The duties of the day were over, and the hour for repose had come. Like all Christian people, she, with her household, had assembled for family worship. What the burdens of the day were we may not know, but whatever they were, they were sanctified by the evening prayer at the family altar. Just then and there, the accident which terminated fatally occurred. It was, as most of our readers are aware, caused by the upsetting and explosion of a lamp. A messenger of death it proved, and the one taken was Mrs. George Paterson. Within this metal covering her remains were lying and were being conveyed to her early home at Harbor Grace, there to rest by the side of her husband until the brighter dawn of a resurrection day. By accident they both met their death, and now after life's fitful dream, they lie reunited, side by side, in the common bed of Mother Earth.

The signal "All Aboard" soon left the Station clear, and at full speed our train dashed off. Nothing further worthy of these notes transpired, and therefore we must close our chapter and turn our thoughts in another direction. But in whatever direction our feet wandered we found abundance of facts, all of which are of interest to men and women in the battle of life. True they are but simple facts, but little things; and yet these same little things largely fill in the "common task," or "daily round," of the "simple annals of the poor," eye of the rich as well. The human heart is much the same the world over, and those who have found the secret of "touching hearts" have discovered the spring that opens its recesses. With the possession of this secret we have gained many an audience all round the shores of our Island Home, and it is in this spirit that we continue our tour which lies in a more southern direction.

Eczema's Tortures

All treatments failed for three long years—Cure complete with DR. CHASSE'S OINTMENT.

Mrs. Link, 12 Walker St., Halifax, N. S., writes: "After three years of miserable torture and sleepless nights with terrible eczema, and after trying over a dozen remedies without obtaining anything but slight temporary relief, I have been perfectly and entirely cured by Dr. Chase's Ointment. After the third or fourth application of this grand ointment I obtained relief, and a few boxes were sufficient to make a thorough cure. It is six months since I was freed of this wretched skin disease, and as there has been no return of the trouble I consider the cure a permanent one."

Such cures are not brought about by imitations and substitutes for Dr. Chase's Ointment. It is therefore necessary for you to be certain that the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D., the famous Receipt Book author, are on the box you buy, 60 cts. a box, at all dealers or Edman, Bates & Co., Toronto. Write for a free copy of Dr. Chase's Recipes.

Sensational Report.

Shortly after 8 o'clock last night the police received a report from the South Side stating that a young man, a resident of the place, had attempted suicide, having made several efforts to cut his throat during the afternoon. On receiving the report Supt. Grimes sent, Serg. Mackey and Const. Tobin to the scene. The man did not actually attempt suicide, the officers learned on their arrival at his home, but repeatedly threatened to do so, and was prevented from any rash action by the vigilance of his wife. The man was under the influence of liquor, and to avoid the possibility of anything serious occurring to him the officers were about to arrest him when the wife pleaded for him and he gave his assurance that he would behave himself, so that they left him at his home.

The Tobasco Here.

The S. S. Tobasco, Capt. Yoemans, arrived here from Halifax at 4.30 p.m. yesterday after a passage of 52 hours. She had fine weather until she made Cape Race when she had it very frosty and she met a large body of slob ice which she skirted until off Cape Spear, when she ran in through. She brought two passengers and about 400 tons cargo, and anchored in the stream until the Almeriana is discharged when she will berth at her pier.

SHELTERED AT TREPASSEY.—The bargin, Devonia, Capt. J. Snow, 41 days out from Pernambuco, put into Trepassey yesterday. The vessel must have experienced weather similar to the others from Brazil, and will arrive here with the first change of wind.

Sails To-Day.

The S. S. Almeriana which arrived here from Liverpool yesterday, made a summer run of it, and on arrival there was some difficulty in berthing her owing to ice. Her passengers were:—A. Knock, P. Gabrielsen, Johannes Christensen, Rev. F. G. Martin and Capt. Buckingham.

He Got His.

Looking up from his magazine one night he remarked to his wife, "Do you know what I'd have done if I had been Napoleon?"

"Yes," she answered. "You'd have settled down in Corsica and spent your life grumbling about bad luck and hard times."
