Important Engineering Test.

An important engineering test was made yesterday on locomotive No. 870, running the Empire State Express on the New York Central Railroad. The work was done by Angus Sinclair, editor of Locomotive Engineering. He sat on a box on the front of the engine cylinder and took steam indicator diagrams all the way between New York and Albany. A speed of 78 miles an hour was recorded, and the engine developed over 1,600 horse power. The work of pulling that fast train was performed on a coal consumption of two and one-eighth pounds of coal per horse power per hour.—[The New York Herald, May 4, 1892. b

Death of an Old Resident.

Thomas Talbot Howard passed away yesterday at the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. Henry Brinsmead, of the Britannia House. Deceased had attained the ripe age of 90 years. He was born in Galway, Ireland, and came to Canada 50 years ago, settling first in Biddulph. He took up his residence in London about 1852, and has resided here ever since. He was engaged in teaming from Hamilton and Port Stanley to the city before the Great Western Railway was opened. He was also in the cab business for some time. Mr. Howard's long residence naturally made him a large circle of friends and acquaintances by whom he was generally esteemed. He has two daughters here—Mrs. Brinsmead and Mrs. O'Flaherty—and a son in the States. Mrs. Burke, mother of Mr. Ed. Burke, Richmond street, is his sister. Deceased continued comparatively hale and hearty until a few months ago, since when he had been gradually declining. The funeral takes place to-morrow morning and service will be held at St. Peter's Cathedral.

A Jewish Festival.

The great and ancient Jewish festival of Pentecost will begin at sunset to-day, the 50th day after the first day of Passover, and continue to-morrow. It will be celebrated by the Jews throughout the world. Pentecost is called "Shabuoth" in the Hebrew language, and occurs on the sixth day of the month of Sivvan. It is the anniversary of the Sinaitic revelation, given, as described in the Book of Exodus, when the Lord descended in fire upon Mount Sinai amid thunderings and lightnings and delivered the Ten Commandments to Moses. Pentecost, or Shabuoth, is referred to several times in the New Testament. It is narrated in the Book of Acts that on the day of Pentecost the Spirit descended upon the apostles in Jerusalem, enabling them to speak in the many languages of the people assembled there. In the same book it is told how, upon one occasion, Paul made haste in his travels so as "to be at Jerusalem the day of Pentecost;" and again, in the First Epistle to the Corinthians, Paul wrote that he "would tarry at Ephesus until Pentecost." The feast of Shabuoth was observed by the Jews at that time, as it had been long before and as it is yet, in memory of the revelation on Mount Sinai.

ENOCH ARDEN OUTDONE.

A Recreant Husband Returns After Eight Years' Absence.

His Wife Has Married a Second Time—Husband Number One Carries the Day.

WOODSTOCK, May 30.—The Woodstock Sentinel-Review says: William W. Maybee, who has been away about eight years, returned Saturday night, much to the surprise of his wife, who, supposing that he was dead, had married another man. It is always the unexpected that happens—even in affair of love—and the meeting of the two husbands in the East End created quite a flutter of excitement in the neighhood in which the woman, who has two husbands, lives.

Charlotte Smith was not handsome nor had she wealth with which to go angling in the matrimonial sea, but she had admirers, and among these twelve years ago was William Walter Maybee. Lottie's mamma has since passed over to the silent dead, but during life was a well-known figure in Woodstock. She gave her consent to the marriage, which made her daughter and Maybee one. Two children were born, when William soon longed for a change of climate. After four years of connubial bliss he left his young wife and children to carve out a future for himself in the west, and till Saturday all trace of him was lost. Charlotte was disconsolate, and pined away under the saddening influences which surrounded a young widow—for she had learned to believe that her William was dead.

On Nov. 8, 1888, Rev. A. E. Russ was asked to officiate at the marriage of Geo. Butchart and Mrs. W. W. Maybee (nee Charlotte Smith). The nuptial knot was tied, and if Maybee was in the land of the living he might have read of the marriage ceremony with "mingled feelings of pride and regret." Charlotte and husband No. 2 have lived happily together since—at least until Saturday night. During the afternoon husband No. 1 reached home from Detroit, presented his credentials, was accepted amid great rejoicing, and when Butchart returned from work he was sent adrift. Poor George! This affaire d'amour had come as it were like the proverbial thunderbolt from a clear sky. When he found his domestic happiness so ruthlessly shattered by the advent of Lottie's first love, he drowned his sorrow in the flowing bowl, and sought again the comfort of his male companions.

The Stock Yard.

—Do not dose animals with medicine when it can possibly be avoided. The thing has been carried quite too far, and the most monstrous doses have been poured down the throats of poor quadrupeds just because they could not help themselves. Good food and sanitary care will in all but extreme cases obviate the need of the horrid dosing and drenching.

—The food of dairy cows should be abundant, and of that kind calculated to make bone and muscle. The calf, especially if a heifer, should be taught to drink and be fed by hand. Warm new milk should be fed for a week, in such quantities as will not overload the stomach. As the stomach and its food capacity is the foundation of the future cow, it should be kept vigorous and healthy from the first. Many breeders like to see their calves fat and sleek, with a small belly, and bring them up to cows in this way. They may look better, but the calf that has been fed less fat-producing food and more bulk, will be in better condition to store a large quantity of food and digest it. A calf should look like a little cow, and should come in not later than 30 months old. Then let them go farrow and grow. In this way the milking quality is developed and retained, and they make better cows than if kept fat and growing to 3 years old before calving. It is much easier to breed and develop beef qualities than dairy, and a naturally first-class dairy heifer calf may, by the manner of raising, almost entirely changed into a beef type, and never regain her natural type.

A FEW TESTIMONIALS
FOR
Barkwell's Sure Corn Cure

Miss Maria Brown, of Chatham, formerly of Glencoe, says she has much pleasure in testifying to the merits of Barkwell's Sure Corn Cure; that of nine corns which gave her great pain not one of them remains. It is surprising the testimonials that come in from all parts of the country for this celebrated corn cure.

Letter from Springfield.

W. S. Barkwell, Chemist. Dear Sir.—When in London I got a bottle of your celebrated Sure Corn Cure for a corn which I could get nothing to help. I have suffered from it for the last 15 years, and thought I would never get it cured, but yours acted like a charm and completely removed it. I am gratefully yours, Alvin Purdy, Springfield, March 1, 1888
