The Orilla Packet reports the following: A prominent educational paper office is a splendid university for a boy to graduate from. And a high official of the Methodist Church of Canada who travels from coast to coast says if he had a dozen boys he should wish every one to serve an apprenticeship in a good newspaper office.

The ordinary screens for doors and windows offer no protection from prying eyes. This can be remedied by giving the outside of all screens a coat of this white paint. Strange as it may seem the paint will not be noticeable while the screens are outside can not see into the room. The paint should be laid as thin as possible with turpentine and applied with a broad flat brush.

Are you ready to do the little thing—

The head to sleep the song to sing; The cherry word to give a friend, The helping hand you oft might lend. Remember, tis the little things that count. Ken pennies will make a great amount; And a welcome smile from our Saviour. Will surely not be a little thing.

The Old Tyme Concert given in the Opera House on Friday evening last by the W. O. T. U. certainly reminded one of either the actual scenes and costumes or the imagination one of such things of years ago. The old bonnets and dresses pleased, tucked-trilled scrimped ruffled etc. were all there and the hair dressing was simply immense. Tom Carling jr. sang in his usual foot-steps and occupied the position as chairman, filling it in a capable manner. The first number was a chorus by the W. O. T. U. followed by a reading by Miss Rodda of Detroit; a solo by Mrs. Heaman; Violin solo by Miss Delight Hobbs; a chorus by the W. O. T. U. quartette Mrs. J. Elston, Miss Huston Messrs E. Haywood and L. G. Watson. The second part opened with Mrs. Elmon's quilting bee which dramatized the school of gossip. This was followed with a reading by Miss Rodda; a selection by the village choir; comic solo by H. O. Southcott; reading by Miss Rodda solo by Miss S. Kinsman and a quartette by Mrs. Elston Miss Huston Follick and Howard. The readings of Miss Rodda were the feature of the evening and she proved herself an artist of high calibre, attendance which was good throughout a well-reception as the atmosphere was rather chilly.
