Tired of Living,

G T. R. Station Agent at Otterville Blows Out His Brains, Left a Letter Behind-An Oxford County Tragedy.

Otterville, Oxford County, July 7 .-George Hogarth, formerly of Brussels. and lately Grand Trunk station agent here, walked into S. Smiley's store at 9:30 a.m. yesterday, bought a 32-calibre revolver and ten cartridges, went to the G. T. R. station, and after transacting some business, walked out of his office about 30 rods, concealed himself in a thicket near by, and shot himself through the head.

The ball entered the right temple morning. Seven cartridges were found in his pocket, and the other three were in the revolver, one of which had been discharged. Besides the above were found $130 n money and a pass-book, showing that he was a member of the K. O T. M., and that he was in good standing. On one page of the book the following was written:

"July 6th, '96-Tired of life, tired of living with an unfaithful wife." The man was an entire stranger here. He came only last Monday to take W. R. Fischer's place, who had been removed to Petersburg. He was evihtly about 30 or 35 years of age, and a lealthy, robust fellow, about 6 feet hich and weighing about 205 pounds. His father lives in Kincardine, having been agent there for fourteen years, and in the employ of the G. T. R. for 35 years.

The brakeman on the Port Dover train was well acquainted with Hogarth. Asked what sort of a disposition he had, he said:

"George was one of the jolliest fellows I ever met. He had always a joke and a good word for everybody, and his laugh did one good to hear. I know his wife, but I forget her maiden name. I don't know anything about their domestic troubles.'

Mr. Will Robinson then pro-posed the toast to the pretty bridesmaid, Miss Tilden. Mr. Geo. Blanchard, best man, responded. The toast to "Mine Host" was given by Mr. Geo. Edwards. All joined in singing "He's a Jolly Good Fellow." Mr. D. Rolland, of Hamilton, responded for his father. Mrs. Geo. Edwards was then called on to toast the "waiters." Mr. M. Rolland, of Hamilton, replied to this. The last toast, but by no means least, was proposed by the groom, Mr. Blanchard, "to the married ladies present." Mrs. M. Rolland, of Hamilton, replied, and closed her remarks by advising the unmarried ladies to "go and do likewise." All joined in All joined in singing "God Save the Queen." The presents were numerous and beautiful, no two being alike. Messages of congratulation were received from Rev. Mr. Powell, of Melrose, from friends in Chicago, Port Huron,
