POOL. A BIG SURPRISE IN THE TOUR-

Yesterday afternoon's game in the City championship tournament at the Grigg House was a genuine surprise for the friends of both players. ssrs. Ed. Horsman (proprietor) and George Crabbe (billiard marker) of the Grigg, drew cues, with all the odds in favor of the proprietor; in fact, everybody considered it would be an easy game in Horsman's favor. The first four racks were played with Horsman leading by 22. But Crabbe sult was that through his success had pluck, and starting in on an up-hill game, took chances which, had considered himself evenly matched, would never had risked. The resome of the difficult shots, he gained nerve, which brought him out the victor. Mr. Crabbe played some remarkably brilliant shots, and was the recipient of the lion's share of ap-plause. Mr. Horsman, after the few starting frames, did not seem to keep up his usual game, and missed several linary shots, either through confidence or nervousness. Crabb took advantage of this, and played pluck-My to the finish, winning by 125 to 119, eausing the greatest surprise by his

Messrs. John Sheere and Joseph Ryan were the contestants last night, while the game was not as interesting to the spectators as the afternoon game, it was the best scientific game so far. Sheere played a smooth, clean game all through, and was safely in the lead from the start. A fine cut across the table to side pocket was the shot of the evening, and was good game, and though outgeneralled much applauded. Mr. Ryan played a Sheere, did not lose heart. Portland, Me., Sept. 24.-This was an ganization that this power will be orld's pacing record was broken by ohn R. Gentry, the magnificent horse, pacing the fastest mile ever made in harness, and placing the world's record at only half a second over two minutes, or 2:00 1-2. Gentry was for his great trial of speed. Andrews drove him on to the track best teams in the country, and even for the effort to break his record. The now one of the most powerful clubs air was chilly, and a light northwest-erly breeze blew up the home stretch. Gentry's record before starting was Gentry's record before starting was been a success as field captain, though 2:01 1-2, which he made on Sept. 8, at Glen Falls, N.Y., in the final heat of what by having to play an outfield position. There has been an idea of bringing Donovan to the infield and 2:01 1-2, which he made on Sept. 8, at miles, and it was nearly sunset when he was ready to start for the eventful mile. A runner appeared with Gentry o pace him. After scoring twice Anws came down to the wire to begin the fastest mile ever accomplished by a horse in harness. The crowd cheered as he approached the starting point. "Go," shouted Starter Culberton, and hundreds of watches caught pair at the start. The runner's ose was within two feet of Gentry's s they made the first turn. On the retch Gentry was going gracefully nd steadily, getting over the ground n great shape, and the runner had hard work to keep up. The first quar-ter was given by the judges as made in 29 1-4 seconds. When the half-mile finished in 59 1-2 seconds the rowd began to look for a two-minute At this point the runner's jockey was using the whip and just suc-ceeding in keeping at the wheel of Gentry's sulky. The third quarter was reeled off in 30 3-4, making the time at he three-quarter post 1:30 1-4. As the horses turned into the home stretch and caught the wind in their teeth, the crowd began to shout and hurrah, and Andrews shouted encouragingly to his The runner's rider also urged his horse, and used the whip. All this perved the pacer to a supreme effort, and with the wind in his face he made the last quarter quicker than the third quarter, doing it in :30 1-4, and thus covering his mile in 2:00 1-2. This was a whole second less than his for-mer record, which had never been surpassed by any horse, and only equaled by Robert J., 2:01 1-2, in 1895, at Terre Haute.

When Starter Culbertson announced the time of the great mile, the crowd broke through the fence and inded the famous pacer, anxious to not him, or even his sulky. If the nd had been a trifle more favorable today Gentry would have lowered the record to 2:00 flat.

	DONOVAN'S PROMOTION

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 24.-Pat Donovan, the clever right-fielder (formerly of the Tecumsehs) will be the new manager of the Pittsburg club. Mack, as has been stated, has cast his fortunes with the Milwaukee Club, having been engaged as manager, and also given a working interest in the club. Mack will remain with the Pittsburg team until the close of the season, including the proposed barnstorming trip after finishing at St. Louis. Patrick J. Donovan will assume control of the team directly after the season closes. He will sign all players for 1897 and conduct all other affairs. By the new move the Pittsburg club will still have a playing manager. He will be on the team egry day, and thus be able to grasp details of every play which might escape the eye and thought of a man seated on the bench. The absolute control of a club by a manager is one of the essentials of good team play, and it is Delehanty and the Philadelphia management are said not to be getting along any too well, and there is alleady a whisper that arrangements may be made for his transfer to Chicago some day. With Delehanty added to the present Chicago team, even Baltimore would have to lie down when Colts began their batting, says the News. And yet, six years ago, this Delehanty was a shambling, awk-ward French peasant, with a notion as to how to hit the ball, and such clumsiness in fielding that people gave him up in despair whenever the ball was hit his way.

The Board of Works Has Lively Meeting.

Pritchard Sails Into the Engineer.

The Latter Repudiates the Attacks on His Efficiency.

The Wellington Street Grade, the Difficulty-Miss Hayes' Claim for Damages-Other Important Matters.

Last night's meeting of the Board of Works was somewhat stormy. though it started calmly enough. The cause of the tempest was a petition for the construction of a foot-bridge on the east side of Clark's bridge. It had been referred back from the council to the committee for further consideration.

Ald. Pritchard thought there never would have been so much talk about Wellington street if the engineer had put a proper grading there. This was not the only place where the engineer had made a mistake. He had done so on Ridout and Horton streets, and Central avenue.

Engineer Graydon then stated that some members of the council had accused him of not knowing his business. He said he knew as well as anyone else that the grade on Wellington street, from Simcoe street to the bridge, was wrong, but that was not his fault. It had been that way for the past fifteen years. Mr. Graydon said he was found fault with for personal reasons.

Ald. Dreaney thought that if any alderman knew more about street grading than the engineer he had better make application for the position The engineer, in his opinion, had always done what he had deemed best as a practical man.

Ald. Pritchard—I am prepared stand by every word I have said. There are plenty of men with just as much good common sense as the engineer, who would back him up in every word he said. He could point to several streets where Mr. Graydon made mistakes in the grades. One of them was Ridout street, between King and York, where Mr. Graydon said the owners would require a movable platform to allow teams to be driver into their vards. Mr. Graydon-I never made such

Ald. Pritchard-Well, I know what I am talking about, and can prove every word I say. That is not the only street you made mistakes on. Mr. Graydon then explained that the Ridout street grade had been altered very little. They did the best lington street, as at present, was not for its repayment.

Cincinnati will probably clear more his fault. According to instructions, ton street to the bridge, would have to be graded in conformity with the grade on Wellington and this would cost from $1,500 to $2,000, which the city could ill afford to spend this year. He had always done what lay in his power to save the city all he could, and because of this some aldermen were sending broadcast through the country the statement that he did not know his business, and this was hurting him. He would leave any of these grades to the engineers of Hamilton

Ald. Pritchard-I am prepared to stand by what I have said, and am going t otake nothing back. You or any other man is not going to choke me off like that and say that I am wrong, and force it down my throat that you are right. I will move that Ald. He said the lady was suffering from concussion of the spine, and would likely be a cripple more or less all her life. She was still in bed, and would likely be for some time yet. On motion of Ald. O'Meara and Hea man, the clerk will be instructed to write the police commissioners regard ing their version of the affair, and Mr. Judd said he would obtain a statement from other parties who saw it. The committee then took up Mr. His

Mr. Kingston in-formed the committee by letter that one-third the cost would be borne by the city and two-thirds by Mr. Hiscox if the work were gone on with immediately. The engineer stated that the total cost would be $144.

Assessment Commissioner Grant reported that he had called on Messrs. Coote and Bullen, and requested them to sign a petition for a brick pavement on the Market Lane. They declined to sign for the improvement, stating that the city was granted certain privileges on the opening of the lane should entitle them to exemption from local improvement rates. The question was filed, and this setof the Market La Mr. John McClary appeared before the committee regarding the opening of High street. He thought it would be an expensive undertaking. It was not going to be an easy matter to get past his corner. He understood that most of the owners had consented to give five feet to the street appropria-tion. When he had built it, he had put his house in such a position that he was sure no one would build and obstruct his view of the city, and if the council wanted to appropriate ten feet of his property he would consider that $200 per foot, of $2,000, would hardly pay him for the loss of his land and trees. Ald. Parnell said they deemed it unwise to go to such expense, and that an effort was being made to have the work done on the frontage tax plan. They would, he said, know more about the matter would be filed.

it in a week or so, but it was likely Ald. O'Meara brought up the matter of removing the drinking fountain on Richmond street, in front of Dufferin avenue. He said it was dry half the time. It was referred to the member for the ward.

Ald. Dreaney said the fountain on Adelaide street near Dundas, was leaning up against the casket works. He said the fountain was built so that the horses' bridles caught in it and pulled it over. He wanted the top bowl taken off and a wooden guard erected in front of the fountain, which he claimed would remedy the difficulty. The matter was left in the hands of
