Profits of the "English Fair."

The trustees of the Protestant Orphans' Home have great pleasure in announcing to the public that the profits from the English Fair recently held is the splendid sum of $2,310 12, with scenery still on hand. The trustees would again tender their sincere and hearty thanks to the many friends who so nobly assisted, especially the St. Thomas' Sewer.

City Engineer Graydon went down to St. Thomas yesterday morning to inspect the proposed route of the sewer that that corporation were desirous of building through the ravine under the Port Stanley Railway track. When he got there he found that 100 yards of sewer had already been dug on London city property, and that the request had simply been made because the scheme had been noticed. Whether the London Council will grant them permission to go on with the work or not is a question. If they do it will be a matter of business and dollars and cents, but it is an open question with the aldermen whether money would pay for the inconvenience that would arise should the work be carried on. The city clerk of St. Thomas, Mayor Oill and the contractor have been served with notices to discontinue the work.

Rev. R. Miller, of St. Catharines, a well-known colored preacher, asks insertion of the following:

"Rev. R. Miller, formerly pastor of the Grey Street B. M. E. Church, this city, and theological student of Prof. Gunus, has just finished his 29th year in the itineracy. During the last seven years he has taken appointments from Rev. Walter Hawkins, superintendent of Ontario. He has been waiting for the board of finance to pay over the money required by the discipline of the church, and as he has been promoted to the cffice of superintendent of the missions in the British West Indies, they have severed his itinerant connection with the B. K. E. Conference, now sitting in Grey Street Church, and demands the Rev. R. Miller to go to his mission or leave the church. In the meantime they have not conformed to the law nor given him the money for the journey, as required. Whether his connection can be severed under these circumstances or not possibly the court can decide. But as the Rev. R. Miller wishes the advancement of his race, he herein appeals to all the God-fearing, intelligent for need to raise sufficient means to make the tour. A personal call will be made if not otherwise obtained. 'The Lord will provide.'" provide.'
