MAN ARRESTED AT GLENCOE MAY BE SIDNEY MURRELL

BUSINESSMEN BELIEVE GENERAL ELECTION WILL HAVE STEADYING EFFECT

"Ballot Box Will Give People Chance To Relieve Their Feeling"—Merchants Do Not Anticipate Any Ill Effect On Business—People Tired of Present Government—Time For New Deal.

How will Premier Meighen's announcement of an early election affect trade and business? Was the announcement accepted by the shopkeeper and the man on the street with genuine rejoicing or otherwise?

Most generally it was accepted with reservations and mixed feelings? But this being a day of general mixing, mixed drinks, mixed parties—like the National-Liberal-Conservatives, for instance, mixed bathing and a lot of other mixed things—mixed feelings are, perhaps, quite as much in order as anything else.

WILL BE LIVELY.

"Nearly everybody who talked about the forthcoming battle of oratory and ballots appeared pretty well agreed that it will be a lively campaign.

"There'll be some hot 'mixing' when it gets well under way. It'll be the best little election we've ever had," was the way one man put it.

Will Help Business.

"I think it will help business," said one businessman, a haberdasher, on Dundas street. "People will have a chance to relieve their feelings now, and after they get through talking, they'll come in and buy. One thing certain we can't have a worse government than we have. The fire can't be much hotter than the frying-pan. We've got to turn the old crew out first, and whether the new government is Farmer or Liberal, in any event we'll have the beginning of a new era of some kind of development. People will stop swearing at the Government now, that they have a chance to vote against it. Swearing takes up more time than marking a ballot paper. It will be over soon, and everybody will stop knocking and start buying."

The speaker wasn't a pessimist. His store was very busy and he claims his trade has been increasing steadily in spite of the alleged bad times that some people are complaining of.

Better Spirit To Follow.

Another retailer in a slightly different line, one of those special-rate tailoring concerns, thought it might decrease business for a little while, but no matter which party was returned to power, a better business spirit would follow. Settled conditions in trade would naturally follow the theoretical settlement of things at the polls.

Personally, he was a free trader, and claimed that even should the agrarian extremists head the polls, industry would not necessarily suffer in Canada. Cheap prices would prevail whether Liberals or Agrarians took the lead, and cheaper prices would stimulate trade in manufactured lines. The Farmers, being fairly sure economists, in his opinion, would soon right-about-face in their policy if the United States failed to follow their proffered example. Like the Farmers in the United States, the Agrarians would demand a tariff wall much higher than the one at present, but at present desire, if retaliation were called for.

No Slowing Down.

"Will the factories slow down still further for fear of an Agrarian victory?" another retailer was asked. "I don't think so," he replied. "I think the election on the whole will have a steadying effect. Everybody will have a chance to express himself, and we'll have a change of government. Better feelings and more confidence will prevail between everybody when it is definitely known how the country stands. We all know just where we are at," he said. "Now nobody knows."

"Unless we know what the other fellow really wants, we don't know how to frame our business program. And when we do know, no matter what it may be, we'll all get on the same page. We'll go to the best program we can. Nobody is going to be frightened by any old stuff that the Government may spew about all the factories slowing down. We'll go steady till we know just what's what, and then we'll expand in the most favorable direction."

A Steadying Effect.

A very great many business men hadn't thought very deeply about it, and most of them were not inclined to anticipate any marked changes in business conditions as a result of the election announcement, beyond a fairly common sentiment, beyond a fairly common sentiment, beyond a fairly common sentiment.

INDIAN URGENT ALARMS ALL EUROPE; REVOLT ON BIG SCALE WOULD WEAKEN CIVILIZATION

Sir Phillip Gibbs Points Out Seriousness of Situation—Prestige of Race Is At Stake—Indian Students in the English Universities Return to Native Land as Agitators and Propagandists of Rebellion—Effects of War Seen.

By SIR PHILIP GIBBS.

[Special Cable to The Advertiser.]

London, Sept. 3.—Recent news of serious risings in India has excited those alarmists who expect any day to hear of a flaming insurrection throughout the Indian Empire.

It is also a curious fact that many people not altogether unprincipled or bloodthirsty, but with ideas of liberty carried to excess, entertain secret hopes that the Indian people, as they say, with extraordinary ignorance of all races and peoples within that vast continent, may liberate themselves from "British oppression" and establish "self government."

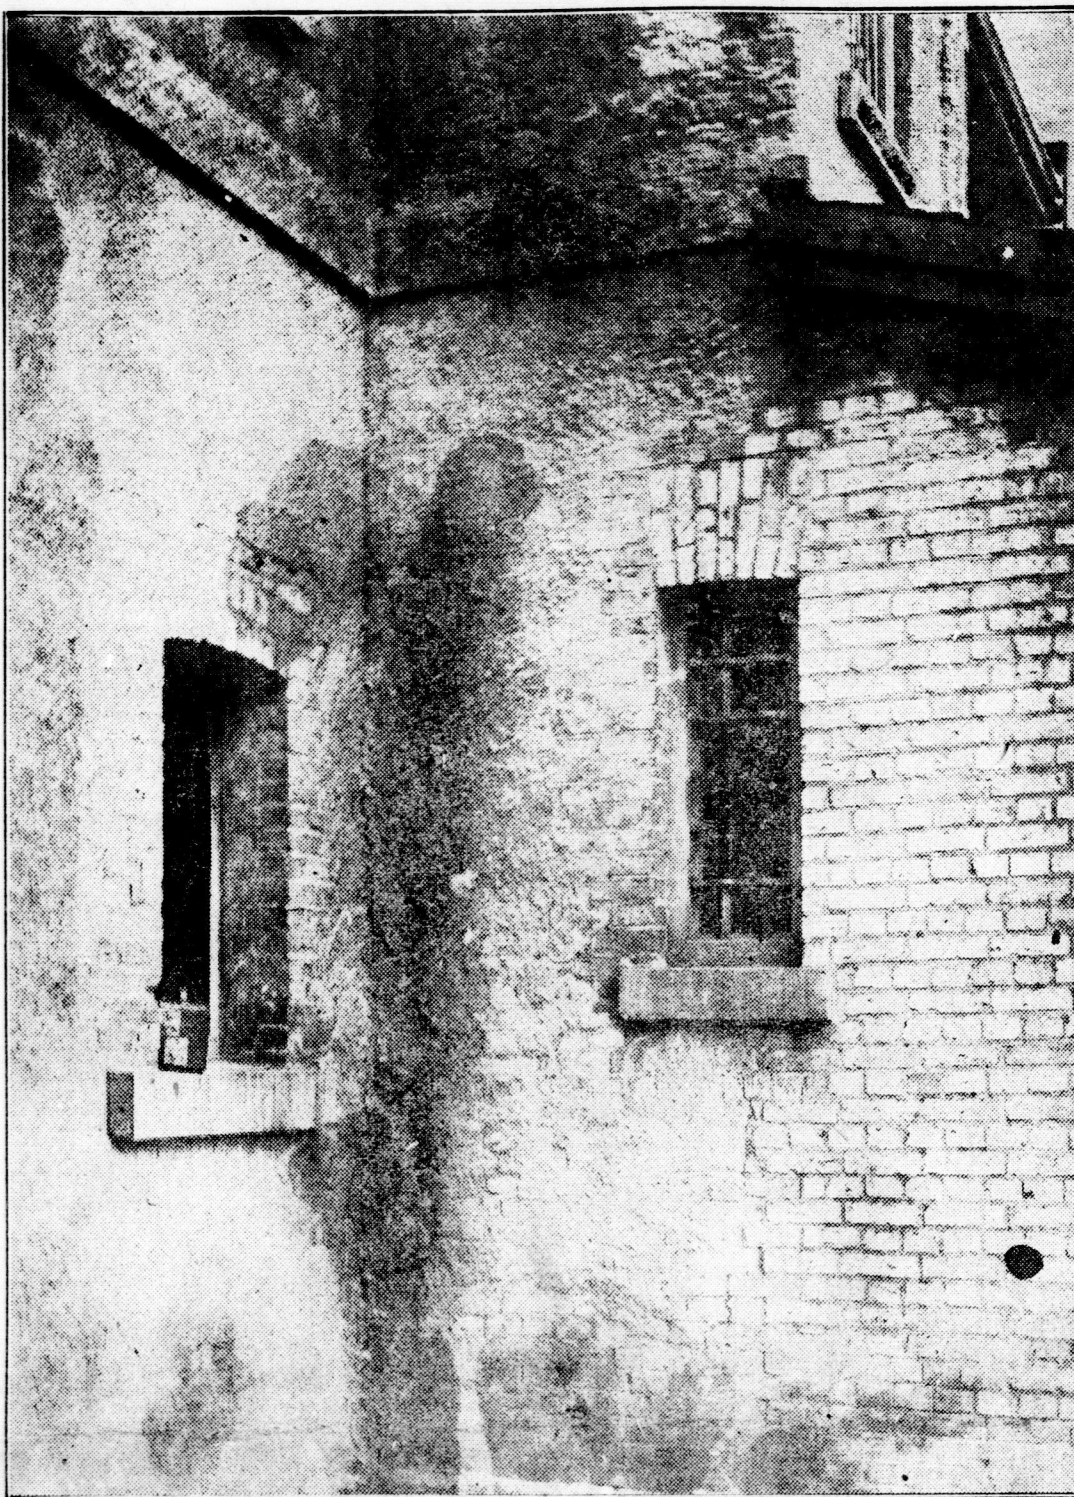

I have heard elderly little ladies jump up in English public meetings and cry out in a shrill voice, "When will India be liberated from British tyranny?"

I have been asked that way myself and have needed to find that India was chained with Ireland as a country demanding republican rights.

Little groups writing communistic and revolutionary tracts, secretly printed and distributed among British workingmen, prophesy that the time is near at hand when India will "throw off the British yoke" and join Russia in establishing liberty and equality.

Many of these tracts are written and

STORY OF HARDSHIP FINDS SYMPATHETIC RESPONSE IN CITY

Manor Park Veteran Finds Work—Comrades Plan Bee To Enlarge Home.

A former welfare worker of the soldiers' aid commission has investigated the case of the Everett family in Manor Park, following an article published in The Advertiser Thursday. Through the efforts of the welfare worker, himself a returned soldier who served overseas with the first division, Mr. Everett has secured employment with a local firm for whom he had worked a few days prior to the accident which necessitated taking his baby girl to Victoria Hospital. Through a misunderstanding when the father was absent from work on account of his little child going to the hospital after drinking lye, his position was found filled by another man on his return.

The firm more fully made aware of the circumstances connected with the case, readily provided another position for Mr. Everett.

"It is the most deserving case I have ever investigated," said the welfare worker. "I have secured a pledge of some assistance from the Soldiers' Aid Commission, and am negotiating to get another small frame building on an adjoining lot for the family. They are now possibly living in their present home this winter. Other returned soldiers will give a day's assistance in moving the two buildings together and making the little home comfortable and warm for the winter."

As soon as the facts of the case became known, neighbors in Manor Park who previously had not known of the hardships faced by the family, came to their assistance. Members of the Anglican Church in Manor Park are also arranging to assist the family in improving their home and circumstances.

The only real blame resting upon anybody apparently lies with the emigration agent, who promised Mr. Everett plenty of work in Canada.

WHERE DO YOU TURN WHEN IN NEED?

Did you ever know just where to go for the handy man, the plumber, the carpenter or the welder when you needed them? In the business cards on the classified page of The London Advertiser are listed many business men. These men are not content to sit by, they are advertising, so that they may make known to you and me that they are glad to have our business. They are men who are trying to build London.

They are men who realize that often a city is judged by the number of business men and the number of services which are available. These are the men who guarantee their work. Give them a try.

AGREEMENT REACHED BY THEATRE EMPLOYEES AND MANAGERS

Spirit of Co-Operation Shown by Both Sides During Negotiations.

Another outstanding example of that spirit of co-operation and compromise between owner and employee that is so much in real demand at all times, but more particularly during a period of acute depression is now disclosed by the intimation today that a satisfactory agreement has been reached between the local theatre managers and their staffs.

While Montreal, Ottawa and other centers of the east have experienced considerable difficulty more or less in getting their differences straightened out, the London situation has been the reverse.

The commendable spirit of "give and take" has predominated throughout the local negotiations and the managers are fervent in their praise of the friendly co-operative feeling displayed by all their employees.

COMMANDER OF IRISH REPUBLICAN ARMY TO SPEAK AT ARMAGH

Special Trains Will Be Run to Ulster City For the Occasion.

Belfast, Sept. 3.—Special trains will run from all parts of South Ulster to the city of Armagh tomorrow bearing crowds to welcome Michael Collins, called by the Sinn Féin "minister of commerce and commander-in-chief of the Irish republican army," on his first visit to North Ireland. Mr. Collins, who is expected to deliver an address at a meeting to be held here tomorrow afternoon. The Armagh council has decided to present an address to Mr. Collins.

BIG IMPROVEMENT IN TRADE BETWEEN ALL PARTS OF THE EMPIRE

Ottawa, Sept. 3.—Canadian Press.—An improvement in trade between the United Kingdom and the rest of the empire is reported by Harrison Watson, Canadian trade commissioner in London. The proportion for the first six months of 1921, he advises, was 34.2 per cent. as against 30.5, and 28.4 for the corresponding periods of 1920 and 1919, respectively. The volume of inquiries is reported in some quarters to be increasing. Acceptance of reduced wages is paving the way for gradual restoration in different industries.

RETAIL DEALERS ARE OPTIMISTIC ABOUT BUSINESS

Look For Decided Improvement of Trade in the New Year.

ONTARIO LEADS

Several Important Resolutions Adopted at Winnipeg Convention.

No one is in a better position to gauge the business pulse of any country than the retail merchant. It, therefore, means much when the representatives of 10,000 such dealers gathered in convention, can feel decidedly optimistic regarding the future prospects of business throughout the Dominion. Yet, according to Wilfred Hodgins of the firm of Hodgins & Ferguson, this city, and second vice-president of the Retail Dealers' Association of Ontario, this feeling of optimism permeated the annual convention of the Retail Dealers' Association of Canada held in Winnipeg last week.

The Dominion organization includes the retail dealers of every description from coast to coast. The association is nearly 10,000 strong at the present time, showing an increase of 4,000 during 1921. The nine provinces of the Dominion were represented at the convention by the members of their respective executives.

No Pessimism.

When interviewed today by The Advertiser, Mr. Hodgins, who returned home recently, said that not one of the 50 delegates to the convention felt in the least pessimistic about the business conditions. While admitting that sales were rather slow at the present time, due possibly to the holiday season, they believed to a man that the business depression had reached its lowest ebb and that from now on there would be a gradual improvement.

No great rush of business is expected for some time, however. The consensus of opinion being that there would be a gradual improvement in business until the first of the year when much better conditions are expected.

Better Crops Aid.

In the Canadian West, business brightened considerably during the last half of August, according to Mr. Hodgins. With prospects of better crops than was expected early in the summer, the banks were showing greater readiness to extend credit. This, he believed, was true of not only Winnipeg, but as far as he could learn of nearly the whole of the western provinces.

The convention, which lasted from the morning of August 22 until the evening of August 25, was very important to the retail dealers of the country whether they were grocers, hardware merchants, automobile dealers, drygoods or boot and shoe merchants. The three days a total of 60 resolutions were placed upon the table. The business of the convention was extremely heavy because of the many pieces of legislation important to the welfare of the retail merchant, enacted during the last session of the Dominion House.

Made in Canada.

One resolution of importance to the whole of Canada called upon merchants everywhere to adopt the slogan, "Made in Canada." It is the purpose of the association to educate the public in the importance of buying goods made in this country. The retail merchants will be asked to press the sale of Canadian-made goods as much as possible.

The automobile dealers passed a resolution to indicate their determination to keep after the Government for some recompense for the losses incurred by them when the luxury tax was lifted suddenly in December last. The three auto associations decided to make an attempt to stabilize the price of tires throughout the country.

Ontario Banner Province.

Ontario was proclaimed the banner province by the convention. The province was represented by the following members of the provincial executive: President B. W. Ziemann, Preston; First Vice-President W. J. Cully, Stratford; Second Vice-President Wilfred Hodgins, London; Treasurer D. W. Clark, Toronto, and Secretary W. C. Miller, Toronto.

J. A. Banfield of Winnipeg and E. M. Troverson, Ottawa, were unanimously re-elected president and secretary respectively of the Dominion association. The delegates were treated royally by the Manitoba association. Secretary M. Carl of that association spared no pains to give the visitors a glorious time.

While in Winnipeg, Mr. Hodgins addressed a convention of Auto Accessories and Tire Dealers. It was through his efforts that the Winnipeg organization joined the Retailers' Association.

Mr. Hodgins informed The Advertiser that he would be willing to give any information regarding the convention to any retail dealer in this city desiring it.

Man Arrested At 11 o'Clock Today May Be Sidney Murrell

County Constables Making No Effort To Capture the Escaped Bandits—Governor Carter Refuses To Spread Alarm by Telegram—City and Provincial Police Are Following Up All Possible Clues.

John Henry, town constable of Glencoe, arrested a man whom he suspects to be Sidney Murrell. Murrell is understood to have an eagle tattooed on his chest. The Glencoe prisoner has a tattoo mark on his chest.

The Glencoe constable has never seen the Murrell boys and does not know their description very accurately, but it is understood that the man arrested is being brought into London. Word of the arrest was received about 11 o'clock.

ARE NOT WORRYING.

The local county police are not making any concentrated search for the escaped prisoners. They profess to fail to see the use of it, and are simply busying themselves answering and investigating various rumors received from different outlying sections.

Crown Attorney McKillop says: "We have notified the attorney-general's department, and it will be up to the inspector of prisoners to deal with the question of an inquiry."

MRS. MURRELL BROUGHT BASKET.

Shortly after the discovery of the escape of the two desperadoes last night, Detective Harry Down, who was in the cell from which they escaped, pointed to a basket which contained toast and other food and articles, and asked: "Who brought this in here?"

"Mrs. Murrell, the mother of the boys," replied one of the officials of the jail.

NO TELEGRAMS SENT.

As the city detectives left the institution one of them mentioned the sending of telegraphic messages regarding the affair.

"Well," remarked Governor James Carter, "I spent about $100 on telegrams when Vincent Strong escaped and I haven't had it returned to me yet."

DESCRIBES HUSBAND AS "LIVING JUDAS"; WANTS DIVORCE

Mrs. Ethel Eddy Is Seeking an Absolute Decree From Hull Millionaire.

New York, Sept. 3.—Canadian Press. Argument will be heard on Thursday next in the supreme court here on the application of Mrs. Ethel Eddy for an absolute divorce from her husband, Ezra Butler Eddy, grandson of Ezra Butler Eddy, the Hull, Quebec, millionaire.

While Eddy was dining with his wife at the Hotel Astor here last Saturday he was served with copies of the summons and complaint.

Details of the complaint led by Mrs. Eddy were made public this morning. In her affidavit Mrs. Eddy terms her husband "a living Judas" and a "child of the idle rich." She asks for $200 a week alimony and a counsel fee of $1,000.

Mrs. Eddy, in her complaint, says that she and her husband and their 10-year-old son lived happily until six years ago, when, she alleges, information came to her that her husband "was paying great attention to Ruth Elaine, an actress."

She alleges that her husband was unfaithful, but on account of the son, she declares, she condoned matters after the husband had promised to give up the "other woman."

MONTREAL EXTENDS CIVIL WELCOME TO GOVERNOR-GENERAL

Their Excellencies Making First Official Visit to Canada's Metropolis.

Montreal, Sept. 3.—Lord Byng, governor-general of Canada, and his staff arrived in Montreal this morning at the Windsor station for his excellency's first official visit to the city.

The governor-general and his party were met at the station by Brig.-Gen. C. J. Armstrong and the staff of officers of militia headquarters. Together with all the officers who served overseas in the Canadian Corps and who had been invited to attend the military reception tendered Lord Byng and his staff, will attend the races at Bluebonnets, and will be received by the officials of the Montreal Jockey Club. In the evening, his excellency will be the guest of the Jockey Club at dinner at the Mount Royal Club. On Monday, the governor-general will inspect the Canadian naval squadron, which is now in port.

The party left on the Tunisian July 2, under the auspices of the Overseas Education League, which is arranging for teachers of the various dominions to tour within the empire during the holiday seasons. The Canadian party saw most of the interesting points in Europe and made an extended trip over the battle fields of the western front.
