FIVE OF CREW DIE IN SHIP EXPLOSION

Trapped in Hold of British Freighter At Brooklyn Docks.

Associated Press Despatch. New York, June 24.—Five men were believed to have been burned to death late today in a fire that followed the explosion of naphtha aboard the British freighter, Egremont Castle, at her dock in Brooklyn. Seven other men were seriously burned. The explosion, which turned the ship into a mass of flame, trapped the men in the hold, and so intense was the heat that it was impossible to give them aid. As further explosions seemed imminent, the freighter was towed by fireboats to Red Hook Point flats, opposite the Statue of Liberty, where she was beached. The explosion occurred when 50 10-gallon cases of naphtha shook loose from their fastenings as they were being lowered into the ship and crashed to the bottom of the hold. The five men, believed to have lost their lives, were missing when a check up of the crew was made. Four of them were stevedores. The fifth was Charles Keller, an inspector for the Standard Oil Company, which owned most of the cargo the Egremont Castle was shipping.

POISON IN LIQUOR CAUSE OF DEATH

Judge Declares Doped Swamp Whiskey Killed Robert Edward Street.

Canadian Press Despatch. Owen Sound, June 24.—That Robert Edward Street of Wariaton, Ont., came to his death on Saturday afternoon last through drinking "swamp" whiskey, to which had been added some poison, was the verdict of the coroner's jury at Wariaton last night. Last Friday morning Street left his home as usual to go to his work at the Imperial Oil tanks at Wariaton, coming back a few minutes later and got his keys. Before then, until early Saturday morning he was not seen by his wife. It was 5:30 o'clock on Saturday morning when he came into the house, telling his wife that he was very sick. He said he had spent the night in the barn and had received some poison. He died in the early afternoon. Before his death he complained of a pain in his abdomen. Coroner Fisher, who made an examination of bottles found in the barn, which had been added to some unknown companion had spent the night, stated that they contained alcohol and some bluish substance in the barn which was sulphate of copper or blue vitriol.

BABY HIT BY TRAIN BRUISED SLIGHTLY

Donald Dauncey of Lucan Crossing Saved by Engineer's Quick Action.

Wandering onto the track in the path of the southbound Huron and Bruce train yesterday morning, Donald Dauncey, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. Dauncey of McGillivray township, miraculously escaped serious injury. The baby stumbled out from the long grass at the side of the track just as the train was rounding a sharp curve a short distance north of Lucan Crossing, Engineer Harry Carson, by quick action, was able to stop the train in time, so that, though the child was pushed off the track by the engine, he suffered only slight bruising to the legs. Dr. W. T. Banting of London attended the boy, and after examination pronounced him practically unharmed. Donald's mother, who was not far away at the time, quickly appeared on the scene. Her joy at finding her baby alive was touching. She expressed her deep gratitude to Engineer Carson, through whose presence of mind the train was brought to a stop in time to save little Donald's life.

PARK PROTESTS PAVING HOLD-UP

Quebec Street Work Not Done As Was Promised by Aldermen.

KNOLLWOOD PICNIC

Knollwood Park Improvement Association has been asked to draw up a petition for the collection of garbage in the district. They will do this if they are assured that they will receive the personal guarantee of the city engineer that regular service will be given along this line. The members are considering the starting of a clean-up week to remove some of the rubbish that has accumulated on the streets or has been thrown there by people in cars. Residents of the district have been instructed to find out the name of anyone throwing rubbish on the streets, and they will be prosecuted by the proper authorities.

This association has been trying for some time to secure the paving of Quebec street, and in the last elections were promised by some of the aldermen that they would receive this improvement in the next year. So far they have been turned down in all their efforts to get results. The last reason given was that there was no storm sewer on the street, and it could not be paved until a sewer was laid. There was no money provided for the sewer construction, and the $10,000 which is set aside for sewers was already asked. After this had failed an attempt was made to secure money that had been provided for other construction work, but the city solicitor informed the council that anything of this sort would be illegal. Several aldermen and the mayor have assured the organization that the work will be done this year. SCHOOL ACCOMMODATION.

Another important topic that came up at the meeting was the school accommodation of this district. At the present time there are 108 children of Knollwood Park attending the Boyle Memorial School. The school they have now has not the accommodation for pupils of more than three grades, but it is necessary to provide for the older children to go to the Boyle Memorial School. To do this they have to cross the C.P.R. tracks, and this is very dangerous. Another reason advanced was that the children, who attend the Boyle Memorial, are not able to come to school because of the board. While some parts of the city have more schools than they need, this section, which pays as much as the rest, is short of facilities to which they contribute. When the present class leaves the school there will be more pupils attending the Boyle Memorial than the school in this district than attend the Knollwood Park School.

TO-DAY I SAW

What picturesque histories lie behind our every-day articles of apparel! Ordinarily we just take gloves for granted as a necessary part of the complete costume—for few costumes, even summer ones, are really complete without the touch of formality which the right gloves add. The part they have played in history is one of all proportion to their size and apparent importance, for they have invaded the realm of war, love, religion and law. The challenging phrase, "to throw down the gauntlet," still persists to remind us of their part in war. In the courts of love, they were the gaze of the lady's favor; in law, a folded glove pledged the fulfillment of a contract; and in religion the glove played an important part in the ceremonies of the early church. History records that when Queen Elizabeth visited Cambridge in 1578, the vice-chancellor offered her a "pair of gloves, perfumed and garnished with embroidery and goldsmith's worke, price 60s" (I hope he had removed the price ticket!) It is a far cry from the crude hand coverings of early days to the trim and dainty silken affairs which I saw today at our Glove Counter. The grays and sands and whites, which appear most frequently on fashionable hands, harmonize with summer's pretty frocks, and match summer's silken hose.
