WHEAT CORNERS DOOMED. The collapse of the great Chicago lard " corner" of this year, and the heavy losses sustained by the parties who got it up and sustained it, are furnishing material for much wise reflection on the evils of speculation. Among these evils the American press gives chief place just now to the loss of foreign markets for produce through the raising of prices on this side the Atlantic above the export level, so that produce re- had it moved within their limits. The mains in the United States unsold, which otherwise would find a ready market in moved back. Europe, with quick returns in solid cash.

Some of our contemporaries over the border speak in a tone of genuine alarm on this subjact, and point to the increasing exports association. They are given in one of the of wheat from India as showing that Eogland is not long going to be as much dependent upon the states for wheat as she used to be, and that Chicago corners are helping to lose for America the English of, the association. But the dry and formal market. To which we will add something which does not seem as yet to have struck foremost philosophers and thinkers of the our American friends, but which will at the world. A list of members and officers in first glance command itself to the consideraalso given, with some extracts from speeche tion of people who think. The New York delivered at the inaugural meeting of the Tribune said a few days ago that McGeoch's association in the city hall. failure to keep up the price of lard shows simply that there are too many hogs in the country for one man to boss them all. And what actually happened proves this to be true. The "Milwaukee milkman" and his associates thought it was in their power to school board. get hold of all the lard in the country, and to keep hold of it until those who had made contracts to deliver would be compelled to settle at high figures. But to the astonishment of the ring hogs and lard, beyond all that they had ever calculated upon, began to pour into the Chicago market from all quarters. Before their astonished eyes a hog harvest of enormous proportions came gathering in: it was so big that they were utterly unable to take care of it, and the corner collapsed. Now let us apply the lesson of the burstup lard corner to the article of wheat, with something more to add to the weight of it. Indua's export of wheat is certainly creep. ing up pretty rapidly, and Russia always has a considerable surplus, more or less, except in time of a great war. If there are now more hogs in the United States than one man can boss, what clique of operators will ever be big enough to boss the wheat market, with the surplus of our Northwest added to that of the western states ? We could attack in so flippant and heartless a should say that the thing will be impossible; unless by electricity or some other wonder of modern days the corner operators can motive? She was one of an in-numerable number of aspirants for public favor, and had no instrumentality, aside from her own talents, to cause recognition In spite of this fact however, she quickly achieved a warm place in the heart of the public, which she has continued to hold ever since." When it was announced there fore that Miss Maude Granger would star the coming season in the play Her Second

Love, written by Mr. John A. Stevens, i was only natural that unusual interest should be manifested, not only in theatrical circles, but in other branches of the community. This was specially the case, as it was known that Miss Granger had, for the past year, been in exceedingly delicate health, and the determination to star in a strong emotional play was the more surprising One of the staff of this paper was accordingly deputized to see the popu-lar lady and verify the rumor or announce its incorrectness. Miss Granger's countenance is familiar to nearly every one in the United States. It is a face once seen never to be forgotten. Features remarkable in their outline and Features remarkabe in their ontline and contour are surmonned by a pair of large and deep eyes indicative of the greatest soul power. It is easy to see where Miss Granger obtains the ability to portray char-acters of the most emotional nature. She possesses within herself the elements of feeling without which no emotion can be conveyed to an andience. The man of news found the lady at her home in this city and was accorded a quiet welcome. It was evi-dent at once that she was in greatly improv-ed health, which the expression and color of her countenance both indicated. CENTRAL BANK OF CANADA.

The promoters of the Central Bank of Canada, in presenting this enterprise he public, do so in the belief that the great increase of general business throughout Dominion renders the present period extremely favorable for the formation of a new Bank. The stocks of all the Banks doing business in Toronto stand at a high premium, on account of the large rests they have accumulated, the satisfactory dividends they pay, and the great demand existing among our monied classes for such investments. At no time in the history of the Dominion has the country made such rapid progress as it is now making and is likely to make for some years to come. The construction of the Canadian Pacific Railway and other railways and public works—the rapid opening up and settlement of Manitoba and the great Northwest—the establishment of new indus-tries of many kinds in all parts of Canada, and the large influx of immigrants, many of them possessed of means, and who are settling to a considerable extent in Ontario— render necessary enlarged facilities for business by the provisional of additional Banking Capital.

Once that the new Northwest comes down with the enormous load which it will be able to dump upon the market before long, what chance will all Chicago have of being able chance will all Chicago have of being able to carry it? Of course the duty of twenty cents per bushel will allow only a small importation of it into the States; but then a Chicago corner would mean the entirestory page almost of the export of American wheat and flour to Europe. With regard to that, particular trade, the little cloud, which to some American observers is visible now, would have become a cyclone. This is an aspect of the wheat corner question, which must keep growing in importance every year, and Chicago operators would do well to make a note of it.
